Section 702 Appeal Hearings On the first business day following the first of [October] September the board shall meet for the hearing of appeals and shall continue to meet for such purpose from time to time until all persons who have stated their intention to appeal have been heard and the appeals acted upon but not later than the first day of [December] October The board shall notify each person who has filed a statement of intention to appeal of the time and place where he shall appear for the purpose of being heard by depositing such notice in the mail addressed to such person at the address designated in the statement of intention to appeal not later than the fifth day preceding the day designated in the notice for such appearance All hearings on appeals before the board shall be open to the public and shall be conducted in accordance with regulations prescribed by the board Any person may appear and be heard either in person or by counsel At such hearing the board shall inquire as to the equity of the assessment appealed from in relation to other similar assessments as well as to the proper value of the subject or object assessed and after such hearing shall make such order as to it seems just and equitable affirming raising or lowering the assessment appealed from The order of the board shall be entered in the minutes of the board and a copy of such order shall be delivered to the person who appealed either in person or by mail to the address shown in the statement of intention to appeal within five days after the hearing on such appeal The chief assessor and such assistant assessors as he or the board may designate shall attend each hearing and shall furnish the board with such information relating to the assessment appealed from as the board may desire Either the board or the person appealing may call such witnesses as they desire and as may be permitted under the rules of the board and the board may examine such witnesses under oath For the purpose of examining witnesses any member of the board shall be competent to administer oaths

Section 703 Correction of Assessment Roll Preparation of Duplicates When the board has completed the hearing of appeals and has in each case entered its order the chief assessor shall make such changes in the assessment roll as will make it conform to the orders of the board When such corrections have been made the chief assessor shall prepare three copies of the assessment roll and deliver them on or before the first day of [February] December with his certificate that they are a true copy of the original assessment roll to the following

(1) One copy to the chief clerk of the county commissioners

(2) One copy of such portion of the roll as contain the assessment of persons or property within each school district to the secretary of the board of school directors of the respective school district and

(3) One copy of such portion of the roll as contains the assessment of persons or property within each city accepting the provisions of this act borough town or township to the respective city clerk borough secretary town clerk or secretary or township secretary All copies of such roll so furnished shall for all purposes be considered as originals The said copies in addition to the information required to be shown on the original assessment roll shall provide space to the right of each assessment for the entry of all taxes which may be levied thereon by the respective political subdivisions The original assessment roll as corrected after appeals shall be preserved in the office of the chief assessor or of the board and shall be open to public inspection subject to such regulations as the board may prescribe for the preservation and safekeeping of such roll

On or before the fifteenth day of [December] October the chief assessor shall certify to the clerk or secretary of each political subdivision coming within the scope of this act within the county the value of real property the value of occupations and the number of persons subject to personal taxes appearing in the assessment roll and taxable by the respective political subdivisions.

Section 704 Appeal to court from order of board collection pending appeal payment into court any person who shall have appealed to the board for relief from any assessment who may feel aggrieved by the order of the board in relation to such assessment may appeal from the order of the board to the court of common pleas of the county within which such property is situated and for that purpose may present to said court or file in the prothonotary's office within sixty days after the board entered its order on the said assessment a petition signed by him his agent or attorney setting forth the facts of the case and thereupon the court shall proceed at the earliest convenient time to be by them appointed of which notice shall be given to the board to hear the said appeal and the proofs in the case and to make such orders and decrees touching the matter complained of as to the judges of said court may seem just and equitable having due regard to the valuation and assessment made of other persons or real estate in such county as well as to the proper value of the subject or object determining from the evidence submitted at the hearing what ratio was used generally in the taxing district and the court shall direct the application of the ratio so found to the value of the property which is the subject matter of the appeal and such shall be the assessment the costs of the appeal and hearing to be apportioned or paid as the court may direct provided however that the appeal shall not prevent the collection of taxes based on the assessment complained of but in case the same shall be reduced then the excess shall be returned to the person or persons who shall have paid the same and provided further than the appellant may pay the amount of the tax alleged to be due by reason of the assessment appealed from to the tax collector under protest in writing in which case when the tax is paid over to the taxing district it shall be the duty of the tax collector to notify the taxing district of such payment under protest by delivering to it the protest in writing whereupon the taxing district shall be required to segregate twenty-five per centum of the amount of the tax paid over and shall deposit the same in a separate account in the depository in which the funds of the taxing district are deposited and shall not be permitted to expend any portion of such segregated amount unless it shall first petition the court alleging that such segregated amount is unjustly withheld thereupon the court shall have power to order the use by the taxing district of such portion of such segregated amount as shall appear to said court to be reasonably free from dispute and the remainder of the segregated amount shall be held segregated by the taxing district pending the final disposition of the appeal provided further that upon final disposition of the appeal the amount found to be due the appellant as a refund shall also be a legal set-off or credit against any future taxes assessed against the appellant by the same taxing district and where a taxing district alleges that it is unable to thus credit all of such refund in one year the court upon application of either party shall determine over what period of time such refund shall be made and shall fix the amount thereof which shall be credited in any year or years this proviso shall be construed to apply to all refunds that are now due or may hereafter become due as the result of appeals from assessments that have not been finally determined or adjusted at the time this act takes effect regardless whether there has been a payment of any moneys into court or to the tax collector under written protest

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REAGAN. Mr. Speaker, this is the principal bill in this series of assessment legislation. This bill makes the structural changes which intimately concern our county government.

In this bill the chief assessor becomes the actual as-essor for the County. While the local assessors, both township and borough, still remain, they have no power. They will draw their pay. They might as well be dispensed with because the chief assessor and his assistants and the inquisitors and clerks and so forth will do the work.

The local assessors can be removed by action on the part of the chief assessor or by the board of taxation and revision.

This takes away a large part of our local government. It is something that many of us have insisted is highly important, the foundation of our government, township and borough. This will take out of the hands of the local assessors all power to make assessments, and place it in the court house where a bureau, the chief assessor and his assistants, will have to be accommodated in some way or another. In most of the court houses of our counties they will have to build annexes or additions in order to take care of this.

This legislation is not the product of the thinking of this House. It comes from the experts, who are so numerous and who conceive that they can manufacture a better kind of government than we have ever had before. I grant you they have spent a lot of time on it. But if we take the experts' legislation continually we will find ourselves in a great deal of trouble. We are responsible for our actions, and what we do here is our responsibility. These bills gotten up by experts and legislative engineers, while they look to be excellent in theory, I do not believe will finally meet the approbation of the people of the state, and besides, they can lead us astray in their ambition for perfection.

By this bill we do away with local government in our townships and boroughs to the extent that we will have no more local assessments. These local assessors have been in vogue since the country started one hundred and seventy-years ago. They have done a good job. They are the one instrumentality of government which has kept assessments and taxes down. They refuse to raise them, no matter what pressure is being brought to bear upon them. Our National government and now we here in the state are raising the cost of government, increasing the taxes. But these local assessors being accessible to the people with whom they associate and whose taxes they lay, realize the conditions under which the people live. They have kept the assessments down, and they ought to be proud of it.

We speak about the fact that the assessments are unequal and in this township they are much higher than in another, and in a borough. But after all does it not show that the borough or the township which is economical in running its business, is naturally getting along with less money and does not need as high assessment nor as high a taxation. Such an equalization of taxation all over the county is going to penalize those who have been economical in the management of their business.

I think in passing this bill we would bid goodbye to one of our old landmarks, the local assessor, and concentrate his duties in one man in the court house. Centralization is the thing we have always tried to avoid believing that such course was not compatible with our form of government, the way it was started.

I think I have said all that I can say in opposition to this bill. It will be entirely up to the House as to whether they want to pass it or not. But I want to say this that in passing it you are destroying the landmark which has stood for a hundred and seventy years. You are destroying it in favor of an expert way of doing things, something that after all is not the way our government is run.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am not greatly concerned personally about the fate of this particular measure. Quite likely rural wisdom as enunciated by the gentleman from Union may prevail. But I cannot neglect the obligation to point out some of the fallacies of his reasoning.

He talks about valuations as though they were a determining factor, and as though new assessments were an evidence of economy. It is the millage that counts, members of the House. These townships that have a thirty-five mill rate and a twenty-five percent valuation of property are not necessarily operated economically.

The third class cities and the boroughs that are well run have a vital interest in this kind of legislation. For a great many years the third class city in which I live, because it is a progressive city, because it wants to give the people the right kind of service, has assessed property at approximately seventy-five percent of its normal value. And we have a thirteen or a fifteen rate as to millage. Some of our townships and some of our boroughs, because the township and the borough assessment is likewise the county assessment, value their property at twenty-five, twenty-seven or even thirty percent sometimes, but generally below thirty; and what do they do? They raise the millage. Low valuation and high millage is the blessed tradition that the gentleman from Union praises for this chamber.

That idea is a hundred and seventy-seven years old; it is time we got rid of it and got a uniform contribution to the cost of county government from all of our various political subdivisions. It is not right, it is not moral, that in contributing to the county one township deliberately, year after year, has an assessor who holds the valuations down. He is not holding the expenses of the township down; all he is holding down is the contributions to the county. He penalizes the boroughs and the third class cities and the townships that are mindful of their honest obligation.

There is only one way of requiring the various political subdivisions to make an equitable contribution to the cost of county government, and that is to require them to have the same level, the same yardstick throughout the county by which they determine real estate values.

This bill is simply an effort to require townships and boroughs that want to cheat on county taxes to play fair with county government.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the famous attorney from Delaware, Mr. Robertson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, shall I take a bow?

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, not being an attorney, there are a couple questions I would like to ask. You are very familiar with this package facing the taxpayers back home. How much in a fifth class county such as mine will your two Members of the House, two Members of the Senate, five County Commissioners of the state names, the bureau and everything—what will that expense be to our state and our county? Will that be apportioned back to our county to pay these men, two Members of the House, two Members of the Senate, five County Commissioners who set up this bureau?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that gentlemen speak into the microphone. I am not exactly clear what he is saying and I am sure the other Members of the House are not.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, what I would like to know is, what will be the expense incurred in the county for these two Members of the House, two Members of the Senate and five County Commissioners to set up a board to manipulate this assessment?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in Senate Bill 655 that has anything to do with that. I am at a loss to know what the gentleman from Blair is referring to. Senate Bill 655 has absolutely nothing to do with that. If it is Senate Bill 653, I will be glad to explain at the proper time, but I believe the business before the House at the present time is Senate Bill 655.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, well you who said that there are five members of the county commissioners, two House Members, two Members of the Senate that constitute this board. Is that right?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the question by saying that is Senate Bill 653. That is a committee of ten which is set up under the Bill 653 which recommends uniform procedure throughout the county. They will not have to move; they will meet anywhere at the call of the chairman. There is nothing in the bill which gives them any mileage, any expenses or anything else. There is no cost in the bill.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, that is all I wanted to know. Thank you.

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, there are two things in this bill that I am afraid some of the Members may have missed, and I wish to call attention to them.

On page 8, lines 5 to 8 it says

When assessing real property the chief assessor shall also take into consideration the value of such property as indicated by the use of cost charts and land values applied on the basis of zones and districts as well as the general adherence to the established predetermined ratio.

I wish to state here as I stated yesterday that the measure of value in Pennsylvania law for assessing property has always been what a property would bring at an actual bona fide public sale. This bill does not adhere to that Pennsylvania plan that we have always had. What a property would bring at an actual bona fide sale has always been the measure of the value for assessment.

I would like to call attention to Section 602 beginning line 12.

The chief assessor may with the consent of the board change the assessed valuation of real property when (i) a parcel of land is divided and conveyed away in smaller parcels or (ii) when the economy of the county or any portion thereof has depreciated or appreciated to such extent that real estate values generally in that area are affected and (iii) when improvements are made to real property or existing improvements removed from real property."

And listen to this,

pairs to a building aggregating one thousand dollars ($1,000) or less in value annually shall not be deemed cause for a change in valuation.

Section 60.2 Abstracts of Building Permits and information on Improvements to be Furnished Chief Assessor (a) The office issuing building permit in every political subdivision of each county shall keep a daily record separate and apart from all other records of every building permit issued which shall set forth the following information the date of issuance, the names and addresses of the persons owning and a description sufficient to identify the property for which the permit was issued, the nature of the improvements and the amount in dollars in which issued. On or before the first Monday of each month such office shall file the daily record in the office of the chief assessor of the county in which it is located together with a certificate of the head of such office that its contents are correct. Such office shall charge and collect from each person to whom a building permit is issued the sum of fifteen cents, which sum shall be paid in full compensation for the services

(b) Whenever any person makes improvements other than painting of or normal regular repairs to a building aggregating one thousand dollars or less in value to any real property in any political subdivision in the county and he is not required to obtain a building permit therefor by any political subdivision within thirty days of commencing the improvements he shall furnish the following information to the chief assessor the name and address of the person owning and a description sufficient to identify the property involved the nature of the improvements - - -

Any person who wilfully fails to comply with the provisions of this subsection or who in furnishing such information wilfully falsifies the same shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than fifty dollars.

If that is the kind of legislation this House wishes to pass, why, that is your pleasure, but I want to reassert what I said yesterday, this is a distinct departure from local self government, and it is one of the things that should be frowned upon by the Legislature of this state.

May I say again too that I pointed out yesterday that real estate has already, and has always borne a greater load of taxes than it should bear. And it seems quite probable that the one percent sales tax, or the one percent transfer tax will be another added tax in addition to what is now raised through Act 408 of 1927.

I again say this bill should be defeated.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take a few moments here to answer the statements made by the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Light.

He read the latter end of section 602 but he failed to read the forward end of it which reads as follows:

It shall be the duty of the chief assessor to assess, rate and value all subjects and objects of local taxation - - - according to the actual value thereof.

That is right in the bill. That is exactly what he said the bill does not do. The bill does say that the actual values shall be determined. The part which he read is a suggestion to the chief assessor to use tax charts and items of that type to arrive at the actual value.

In many cases, not necessarily in metropolitan districts, but in rural areas, sales of real estate are few and far between. The actual value as he would state it is the price which a property would bring if sold. But if property in the close proximity of similar nature, which is the test, is not sold, how can the chief assessor or anyone else value the property unless he has certain tests which he can apply?

With regard to Section 602.1 and 602.2, there have been instances in the taxation of real estate in this Commonwealth of ours where large improvements have been made to real estate and those improvements have definitely added thousands of dollars to the value of the real estate, but the real estate valuations on the tax returns have never been changed. That is definitely prevented in the same way it was in the transfer tax which passed this House, it requires the owner, if he does not have to go to some local subdivision to obtain a building permit, to report the sale to the county, which was required under the tax transfer act.

Mr. Speaker, just as the gentleman from Cambria says, this is a method whereby an accurate valuation of real estate shall be set up, and the valuation of each individual property owner is assessed in accordance with the actual value of his investment, and he pays taxes on that investment.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know if a motion to place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar will be in order at this time.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, a motion to postpone takes precedence over the question of whether the bill shall pass finally.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this bill is somewhat closely allied to the bill that was defeated yesterday, and from what I gathered yesterday an effort will be made to recall or again bring back before the House for another vote that particular bill, since they are part of the package and since they both refer to chief assessors and in some way or another are connected, I believe the proper procedure would be to allow this bill to go on the final passage postponed calendar until such time as we determine what the final action will be on the other bill.

I believe there are a great many benefits in this bill, and there are many reasons why I would like to vote for it, but at the same time I do not want to be put in the position of hearing an argument a day or two from now to the effect that we passed all the other bills, so now we have to pass one which was defeated yesterday. That is the argument that will probably be brought up here in this House;—"it is part of the package—we have got the rest of the package—so now let us pass this also."

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Cambria, there will be a motion made to reconsider the vote by which Bill 653 was defeated. That motion will be made this afternoon. If he is worried about that situation, I would ask him to withdraw his motion to place it on the final passage postponed calendar.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have action on this particular bill delayed until after the motion to reconsider the vote on the other bill has come up. Then we can act on this bill as part of the package instead of as an individual bill.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, so as to straighten out Mr. Lopresti's thinking, I will ask that this bill instead of being placed on the postponed calendar, with leave to call it up later in today's session, be merely passed at the present time.

MOTION TO POSTPONE WITHDRAWN

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will agree to that, I will withdraw my motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. Without objection this bill will be passed over temporarily.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 653, Printer's No. 550 entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 571) entitled "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county borough town township school except in cities and county institution district purposes and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes defining the powers and duties of such boards providing for the acceptance of this act by cities regulating the office of ward borough town and township assessors abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class providing for the appointment of a chief assessor assistant assessors and other employees providing for their compensation payable by such counties prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds and eliminating the triennial assessment" by providing for a uniform permanent record system in the boards for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for a committee to prepare such system and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the boards for the assessment and revision of taxes the chairman of the Local Government Commission and chief assessors was defeated on final passage on Monday, September 24, be reconsidered.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Robertson vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from McKean Mr. Johnson vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I will frankly admit that I have not studied this bill. I do not know the provisions and do not understand what is meant to be accomplished. I would therefore like to ask the gentleman from Delaware to explain to me just what the county would be required to do if this bill were to be passed.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's inquiry, Senate Bill 653 amends the Act of 1943 which is your tax assessment act from fourth to eighth class counties.

Under this bill the county commissioners through the board of assessment and revision of taxes will be required to make up uniform tax maps, a card index system of the properties owned with a description and a geographical card index as to the property location and its owner.

In addition to that the bill provides that the type of planning and the type of maps shall be set up by a committee of ten. That is a committee of which five members are appointed by the Pennsylvania Association of County Commissioners, two by the Speaker of the House, two by the President pro tempore of the Senate and the actual Chairman of the Local Government Commission. They are the committee of ten which sets up the uniform tax map and tax indices which will be placed in each county.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he has some idea as to how much would be involved in the way of dollars and cents to the various counties in complying with the terms of the bill.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, as far as that is concerned it all depends on the counties as to the number of cities and densely populated areas as compared to a county which is very sparsely populated. If it is more densely populated, obviously the planning of these various and sundry forms on your tax maps or aerial photos will be more expensive than your smaller populated counties where there will not be quite as much work.

I would suggest as far as that is concerned that probably the employees of the county could do it or it gives the authority in this act for the county commissioners to contract for that job to be done.

To answer the gentleman's question point blank, I do not know, because there are too many different counties involved.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, pleading complete ignorance on the matter, I would like to ask whether it is a matter of five, ten, or fifteen thousand, or a matter of hundreds of thousands?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the gentleman that it is no where near hundreds of thousands. I would imagine that in a smaller county the expense would not be over $5,000. That however is merely an educated guess.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know if there has been any effort made to determine what these surveys and maps would cost the county?

I realize the cards would not be too expensive, but the surveys and the maps, have there been any attempts made to uncover the amount of expense that would be involved?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, as far as that is concerned, the survey description can be taken from the deeds of the record in the County presently. As far as the maps are concerned there are some areas of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which I personally know have been mapped by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Service. How far that mapping has taken place in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania I am not sure, but I know there are several areas which have been mapped and several areas in which there are presently existing photo maps.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

The ideals of this bill are certainly to be commended. In my experience in this particular type of work I find that there is a great need for the sort of thing that this bill proposes.

However, I find myself in a quandary for the simple reason that I do not know what financial burden I am going to place upon my county.

In past years the Legislature passed a law at one time requiring counties to put in voting machines. The idea was good; every county liked the idea of having voting machines, but when we came down to a practical application of the law we found that a number of counties were not financially able to buy the voting machines which the Legislature said they must buy.

I am wondering when we are acting on a bill similar to this one whether we should not first ascertain the cost of what we are about to do, and find out what the burden is that we are passing on the county before we order that county to conform to our legislative desires.

For the reason that I do not know what burden I am placing upon my county, and not because I disagree with the bill, because I have previously said the ideals behind the bill are splendid, but simply because I do not know what financial burden I am placing upon my county I will be required to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Robertson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the indulgence of the Chair and also of the gentlemen in allowing me some leeway in this questioning because the fate of these two bills, this one and the one previously discussed seems to be tied together, and in order to make my mind up on this one I would like to pursue some question, perhaps into the realm of the bill that was previously under discussion, if that is permitted.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair will permit such latitude.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman some questions about the bill which I honestly cannot quite understand.

I understand that this bill applies to fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties, as I understand the bill, and I would ask the gentleman whether my understanding is correct, if the package is passed, and particularly if the bill we discussed previously was passed, the elected assessors would no longer make the assessment upon properties, but instead that duty would be performed by the chief assessor. Is that correct?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, the basic assessment on all real estate properties in any county presently is in the board. No matter what the assessor does, the board is the final appeal.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, under this bill then the role of the elected assessors would be merely to furnish information to the chief assessor by which he would make the assessments?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, the role of the local assessor would be to furnish information to the chief assessor, who would make then his recommendation to the board of tax revision, who would make the assessment.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, then is it true that in third class counties at the present time we have a system in which the chief assessor makes the assessment upon the properties and not the elected assessor?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, the same procedure applies in third class counties as in this bill. The assessment is made by the board.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, well then here I come to my question. If it is true that in third class counties the same procedure applies as this bill will apply to fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties but in third class counties they have dispensed with the elected assessors, I would ask the gentleman why it is that in this particular bill those assessors, the elected assessors, are retained?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from York may be slightly mistaken that all third class counties have done away with the local assessors. They have not in Delaware, and we are third class.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, is it true that in a number of third class counties that is done?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer the gentleman in other than Delaware.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me whether in his opinion it would be possible to dispense with the services of the elected assessors under the present law as it effects third class counties?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I could not answer that question. I can state fully that it would be impossible in Delaware County.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, is it the gentleman's opinion that if this bill is successful in passing the role, or the part played by the elected assessors in fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties will be reduced?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say that there is a possibility that that is true, but I feel that in the practical end of it they would not be.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman venture an opinion as to whether or not a rumor which is circulating in some areas of the Commonwealth is true, namely, that this is a thinly disguised entering wedge in an attempt to dispense with the elected assessors?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, as far as I am concerned myself, I can unequivocally say "no."

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will turn to page 27 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, Senate Bill No. 656.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 656, as follows:

An Act to amend section 401 of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 571) entitled "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county borough town township school except in cities and county institution district purposes and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes defining the powers and duties of such boards providing for the acceptance of this act by cities regulating the office of ward borough town and township assessors abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessors in townships of the first class providing for the appointment of a chief assessor assistant assessors and other employes providing for their compensation payable by such counties prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds and eliminating the triennial assessment" by changing the provisions relating to the appointment of chief assessors requiring that the chief assessor devote a major portion of his time to his office providing for examinations for chief assessors and creating a committee to prepare and supervise such examinations

Section 1 Section 401 of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 571 entitled "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county borough town township school except in cities and county institution district purposes and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes defining the powers and duties of such boards providing for the acceptance of this act by cities regulating the office of ward borough town and township assessors abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class providing for the appointment of a chief assessor assistant assessors and other employes providing for their compensation payable by such counties prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds and eliminating the triennial assessment" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 401 Chief Assessor Appointment Compensation

(a) In each county there shall be a chief assessor appointed by the board of assessment and revision of taxes to serve at the pleasure of said board until his successor is appointed and qualified The chief assessor shall devote the major portion of his time to the duties of his office as chief assessor until a uniform permanent records system has been established and thereafter so much of his time as the board shall determine and shall receive compensation either monthly or semi-monthly as other county employes are paid [at such rate as shall be determined by the board]

(b) Chief assessors appointed subsequent to the effective date of this mandatory act and incumbent chief assessors within two years thereafter must qualify for such position by successfully passing an examination given at Harrisburg by the committee hereinafter named which committee shall conduct at least one such examination each year Such examination shall test the applicants knowledge of the laws relating to the assessment of local taxes and the subjects which may be taxed by political subdivisions and his knowledge of the value of property which is the subject of local taxation

(c) Whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of chief assessor and there are no eligible applicants available the board may appoint a chief assessor to serve until the results of the next ensuing examination are known

(d) The examination shall be prepared by and held under the supervision of a committee consisting of ten members five of whom shall be members of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners four of whom shall be members of the General Assembly and the chairman of the local government commission

The members of the committee representing the Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners shall be appointed by the president thereof from each class of county subject to the provisions of this act and of the four members of the General Assembly two shall be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and two shall be appointed by the speaker of the House of Representatives and all shall serve without compensation but the members of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners and the members of the General Assembly including the chairman of the local government commission shall be reimbursed respectively by the Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners or the Local Government Commission for all necessary expenses incurred in attending meetings of the committee The committee shall meet at the call of the chairman of the Local Government Commission or his agent who shall serve as chairman The chairman may call a meeting at any time but shall call a meeting within thirty days after receiving a request to do so signed by all of the members of the committee other than the chairman

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House This is the bill which sets up the chief assessor and although some cryicism has been made as to picking experts, this attempts to make the chief assessor an expert in his field. It requires the chief assessor before he takes office to undergo an examination, or if he is presently in office, to undergo an examination within the next two years. It also requires the chief assessor to devote the major portion of his time and effort to the job. An examination is set up under the same committee that set up in 653. There is nothing in this bill that has to do with the local assessor changing valuations or anything else. I would suggest, with consent, that we use the previous roll call.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1097, Printer's No. 1016
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1206, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1625) entitled "An act providing for the creation maintenance and operation of a county employes retirement system in counties of the third class and imposing certain charges on counties" by further defining "final salary" authorizing the transfer from the one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) to the one one-hundredth (1-100) class of members contributions at option of the board and adjusting the county annuity on superannuation retirement upon such transfers and providing for minimum retirement allowance in certain cases

Section 1 Section 1 of the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1625) entitled "An act providing for the creation maintenance and operation of a county employes retirement system in counties of the third class and imposing certain charges on counties" as last amended by the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 524) and the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 688) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the following words and phrases as used in this act shall be construed to have the following meanings

"Board" the county retirement board created by this act

"County Employee" any person whether elected or appointed who is employed by the county by the county institution district or its predecessor the county poor board or any independent poor district thereof and employed by the county by the county prison authorities by the county house of detention authorities or by the county retirement system whose salary or compensation is paid in regular periodic installments but shall not except as hereinafter provided include any person who is employed on a per diem basis

"Fund" the county employes' retirement fund created by this act

"Accumulated Deductions" the total of the amounts deducted from the salary of a contributor and paid into the fund created by this act and standing to the credit of the members' annuity reserve account together with the regular interest thereon

"Contributor" any person who has accumulated deductions in the fund created by this act standing to the credit of the members' annuity reserve account

"Beneficiary" any person in receipt of a retirement allowance under this act

"Prior Service" all service as a county employe served not later than December thirty-first preceding the year the retirement system shall be established in any county.

"Original Member" a member who was a county employe on the date of establishment of the retirement system in said county

"New Member" a member who shall have become a member of the retirement system after the establishment of the retirement system in said county

"Superannuation Retirement Age" as applied to a contributor means sixty years of age or upwards

"Final Salary" the highest average annual salary received by contributor for [the] any five consecutive years of service [immediately] preceding retirement or in the event a member has not served five years the total salary received divided by the number of years served

"Regular Interest" interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum compounded annually

"County Annuity" payments for life or during disability derived from contributions made by the county

"Member's Annuity" payments for life or during disability derived from contributions made by the contributor

"Retirement Allowance" the county annuity plus the member's annuity

Section 2 Section 5 of said act as amended by the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 840) is hereby further amended by adding at the end thereof a new paragraph to read as follows

Section 5 County Employes' Retirement Fund * * * * *

The board may at any time by rule authorize members of the retirement system whether original or new members to transfer from the one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) class to the one one-hundredth (1-100) class and whenever such transfer shall be authorized salary deductions applicable to such transferred members shall be based upon the same age of the contributor as was used in determining the per centum of salary deduction applicable while in the one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) class

Section 3 Section 11 of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 11 Superannuation Retirement Allowance Any contributor who has reached superannuation retirement age may retire for superannuation by filing with the board a written statement duly signed by the contributor setting forth at what time he desires to be retired Said application shall retire said contributor at the time so specified

On retirement for superannuation a beneficiary shall receive a retirement allowance which shall consist of (a) a member's annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent members' annuity reserve account and (b) a county annuity of his accumulated deductions standing to his credit in the annuity equal to one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) of his final salary multiplied by each year of total service and in addition thereto in the case of an original member one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) of his final salary multiplied by each year of prior service At any time the board by rule may by increasing the county annuity authorize the payment of a minimum retirement allowance of one hundred dollars ($100) per month to every beneficiary who has retired for superannuation after twenty (20) years service but the total county annuity shall never exceed fifty per centum of the final salary

Whenever the board shall by rule authorize members of the retirement system to transfer from the one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) class to the one one-hundredth (1-100) class the county annuity shall be calculated as follows

(a) For service prior to the time of transfer at the one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) rate

(b) For service subsequent to the time of transfer to the time of retirement at the one one-hundredth (1-100) rate

(c) For all service prior to the time of commencing contribution as the time he contributed at the one one-hundred-twentieth (1-120) rate bears to the total time of contribution and as the time he contributed at the one one-hundredth (1-100) rate bears to the total time of contribution

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

(b) All other acts or parts of acts general local or special are hereby repealed in so far as inconsistent with the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purpose of inquiring the rate of increase in the fees that this bill carries.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, any attempt to make a comparison with the law presently in affect and this bill would be far beyond my ability. I attempted to do just that, but the old law is written so that it is almost un-understandable when you try to make that comparison.

If the gentleman from Cambria and the Members of this House will take my word for it, I would say that the average increase over all is approximately 50 percent.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I suggest to the Members of this House since the fees charged by aldermen are by and large a tax upon the miseries of the poor, that it is inexpedient that we pass a bill increasing those fees in an amount that it is impossible to determine properly.

A reasonable increase in the fees charged by aldermen would be all very well, but a 50 percent or a 60 percent increase across the board, I submit to the Members of this House is inexpedient, and until such a time as it can be determined just what we are legislating I suggest that either this bill be passed over until we can get additional information, or that we oppose the measure.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe anything would be gained by the length of time we would take, because of the voluminous amount of material we would have to get together to present to this House to make an adequate comparison with the fee bill that is presently on the statute books.

Let me cite an example as a layman: you may have a fee for a felony; then you have a fee for this and a fee for that until you have five or six fees, so that the magistrate who is to collect those fees can charge almost any price from a minimum fee under the present bill to a graduated fee that will be considerably more.

May I point this out, that in many instances unequal-our fee law that was chaotic heretofore is corrected by a good bill that sets forth clearly and understandingly the fees that can be read by the membership of this House very readily. I want you to bear this in mind.

Remember too that despite the fact that this does give an average over all increase, that you are speaking in small money terms. You are not speaking of thousands of dollars but a few dollars and then, of course, our economy has progressed since the original fee bill was put on the statute books of the Commonwealth. This merely brings it up to date—not excessive by any stretch of the imagination,—costs of the magistrates, and in many cases it will reduce actually the costs made by some magistrates who charge what I consider an excessive payment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, however chaotic the present fee bill may be, it is only excelled in its chaos by the explanation of it offered by the gentleman from Lehigh.

He says it is small matters that are concerned. It makes a great deal of difference whether the cost of bringing a suit in an alderman's court for $25.00 is $4.00 or $6.00. The same principle applies clear across the board. He admits that it is 50 percent, at least, but he does not know. So, I submit to the Members of this House that if you want to pass on to the poor litigant, the ones who are concerned with small sums which are of great moment to them, that it is better to give more consideration to this bill than is being accorded it. If you want to hand a present to the alderman, why, that is a different proposition.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I have to take issue with the learned gentleman from Cambria; but I submit this, that I am a layman, I did not know what the fees were on the present statute books. I submitted it to the Legislative Reference Bureau and they threw up their hands in holy horror, because they could not find the answer to make a proper comparison.

I still submit that nothing will be gained by procrastinating on this bill. In readily readable figures, here are the fees. This is a good bill because it sets down an honest fee for an honest job done.

I agree that it does make a difference to the litigants in some cases, certainly, and I for one would be the last one to overcharge anybody who is so unfortunate as to run afoul of the law. But I do submit to you that this is a good bill,—the fees are fair and in keeping with the time, and I ask your support on the bill.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, if it was intended to codify the law relating to charges by magistrates, justices of the peace and aldermen, that could easily have been done. By codifying the law people who would search for the amount of fees would easily be able to understand and find out what those fees are. But if the fees are increased by fifty percent you can readily see that the Minority Leader has a point, that small litigants litigating small amounts would be discouraged from paying $6.00 or $7.50 to bring a suit for $20.00—a small wage claim. Small wage earners could not appear before magistrates and justices of the peace because of the high amount that they would have to deposit. I think this bill is an injustice to the poor man or to the person bringing a small claim before a justice, and should be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ing or which expresses a gross tare or net weight not ascertained by him This provision is inapplicable where manure is transported between two farms or parcels of land owned by the same person or persons

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill that if you folks on the other side want to swallow it, it is all right with me. They said to me that it was an imposition particularly to the people in the mushroom business, and that they could not swallow it. So, I am not in the mushroom business; I cannot swallow it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I merely want to call the attention of the Members of the House, their families, and our friends in this Legislature, to the closing day ceremonies which will be held tonight.

I would like to ask you to be in your seats promptly at 7:30 p. m. daylight time. Because of the nature of our musical program, it is necessary that the participants go on the program promptly, and leave here for another engagement. I would like to ask that you be here promptly at 7:30 p. m.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by her.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. VARALLO, Mrs. COYLE, Mrs. MONROE, Mrs. MUNLEY, Messrs. AMARANDO, GUARNIERI, LIMPER, GRANVILLE E. JONES, HOGGARD, DOUGHETY, COSTA, MULDOWNEY, LEDERER, DUFFY, HAGGERTY, PFAFF, TOLL, CONWAY, McCORMACK, BYRNE, BOIES, PENGLASE, LEVEN, TAYLOR, PETA, HERSCH, McGEE, KOLANKIEWICZ, LOFTUS and REIDENBACH offered a resolution which was read and considered as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 17, 1951.

Whereas, There is a member of this House who in spite of his many years as a member of the House of Representatives, has never received the felicitations of his colleagues upon his birthday because he happened to have been born on September 8—a date months after the General Assembly usually adjourns; and

Whereas, This particular member has so many fine characteristics, the Members of the House of Representatives are delighted to take this opportunity of wishing him—Joseph A. Scanlon—a very, very happy birthday—particularly do the Democratic members wish him a happy birthday since he holds the whip over them to make sure they are all in their proper seats with bright shining faces; and

Whereas, All of the members are mindful of the fact that Joe Scanlon still has a piece of the broom which his Great-Aunt Bridget O'Houlihan Murphy gave St. Patrick to sweep the snakes out of Ireland; and

Whereas, Joe would shun all words of praise from us as to the fine job he is doing in the General Assembly and say that his sister, Margaret, who is devoting her life to Joe's five children since Joe's wife died in 1941, deserves any and all praise that is directed his way; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends happiest birthday greetings to Joseph A. Scanlon and highest commendation and praise to Margaret Scanlon, his sister, for her devoted life.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege for me to be able to say a word in favor of the adoption of this resolution on my and your very good friend Joe Scanlon's behalf.

I have known him for many, many years. I know of no man who has more personal popularity in the House, at least since I have been here. I never knew of a more unselfish or a more honorable man than Joe Scanlon. I believe that regardless of politics, those on both sides of the House, every one of us will wish him now at long last when he is being recognized for his efforts in his candidacy for office in Philadelphia, success and good health from all of us.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I deeply appreciate the honor conferred on me by the Members of this House. As Mr. Andrews has said he was born in September and I was born in September, but we never were up here on our birthdays to be congratulated.

With reference to the resolution, at the beginning of this session my colleagues on the Democratic side elected me Minority Whip. A few of my friends in the rear, Mr. Duffy and Mr. Hersch, were thinking very seriously about going out and buying me a whip.

Up to date I have not received that whip. I asked them one day, "Why didn't you get me the whip?"

They said to me, "Well, we feel that it is bad enough your running up and down the aisle here getting us to vote aye or nay, whatever way you want, and if you had a whip you would not have to leave your seat, so we would rather have you run back and tell us what you want us to do."

Ladies and gentleman, particularly Mary Varallo, the sponsors of the resolution, and Dr. Boies for his kind words to the Members of the House, thank you.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. GUARNIERI offered a resolution and asked and obtained immediate consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

Whereas, The Reverend John M. Positano, O. S. A. of St. Nicholas Tolentine Roman Catholic Church of Philadelphia, a distinguished spiritual and moral leader has devoted himself unstintingly to maintaining and promoting the morale and welfare of the men and women serving in the Armed Forces of the United States and in pursuance of his great purpose and devotion and with the assistance of his troupe of forty-five musicians and entertainers, he has brought happiness and warmth to the servicemen at Army camps, on board ship, at U. S. O. centers and at Army hospitals and rehabilitation centers in the Philadelphia area; and

Whereas, The devoted sacrifices, outstanding contributions and services given by Father John to our country were gratefully recognized by the President's Committee on Religion and Welfare, which called upon him and his troupe to appear on the "We, The People" radio and television program a short time ago; and

Whereas, The office of the Adjutant General of the Army of the United States has expressed its gratitude to Father John for his deep interest in the welfare of the men in the armed services, and he is now being called upon to make a tour of the Far East Command; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extend its deep felt gratitude to Reverend John M. Positano and the members of his troupe in recognition of outstanding devotion and service to promoting the morale and welfare of the men and women of the Armed Forces; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Reverend John M. Positano, O. S. A.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess for one hour and a half. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. This being the day and the hour set for the final adjournment ceremonies of the House of Representatives for the 1951 session, the Chair requests the gentlemen from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, Chairman of the Committee on Final Adjournment Ceremonies to preside.

HONORABLE W. STUART HELM presided as Chairman during the presentation of the Resolution congratulating and thanking the Speaker, and the remarks thereon.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Speaker, honored guests, Members and friends, once again it is my privilege, and I assure you it is a genuine pleasure, to come before you as Chairman of the Committee that has arranged for the ceremonies in keeping with the closing days of the Legislature.

I could almost, without fear of dispute, call it a very extraordinary "special session" because by this time all previous records have been shattered, and we finish up here in Harrisburg in 1951 secure in the knowledge that we categorically deserve the designation of the longest session on record in Pennsylvania,

As we appraise the session in retrospect, we find achievement and accomplishment strangely mixed with endeavor and attempt. We are concluding what to my mind appears a peoples' session, because only when men meet and discuss, argue and delve for facts to obtain solutions for the problems of their people and their state have they earned the right to represent their people. And we have done all these things.

I should like to pay particular homage to our distinguished Speaker, who has met the innumerable demands made upon him with a tolerance, understanding and kindness which distinguish him as a gentleman and a statesman.

My sincerest congratulations to our well-loved Majority Leader for a job well done, because he gave so much of his genial amiability to promote harmony and produce results on our side of the House.

To the Minority Leader also go my sincere congratulations for a job well done, and to him go our very best wishes for his continued good health.

To the other officers and employes of this House we extend our thanks for having performed their tasks so well.

The individual Members of this House have earned their right to congratulations. The friendships which have been formed and the acquaintances which have been made by all Members during this session will last for many years to come.

Personally I greatly appreciate the opportunity afforded me to associate with this splendid group of men, not as Democrats, not as Republicans, but as Pennsylvania and Americans. Thank you very much.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, our guests and friends, we have a distinct honor tonight in having with us the Pennsylvania Industrial School Glee Club composed of thirty-six voices, and we will ask them to come in at this time.

We will open the program by singing one verse of America, and we ask you all to join.

Singing of America by the Glee Club, members and visitors.

The CHAIRMAN. I present to you Mrs. Helen Hartman Dale, Directress of the Pennsylvania Industrial School Glee Club, who will announce the program of the Glee Club.

Singing by the Glee Club.

The CHAIRMAN. Thank you, Mrs. Dale. The Chair also extends our thanks to the boys of the Industrial School.

Before the boys leave the Chair takes this opportunity of presenting to you the man through whose courtesy and cooperation this program was arranged tonight.

I present to you Mr. Arthur T. Prassie, Superintendent at White Hill.

Mr. PRASSIE. Mr. Chairman and Mr. Speaker, I hope we have brought a little joy to your closing session.

We are all, Mrs. Dale, Miss Thrush, myself and everybody connected with the Pennsylvania Industrial School proud of these young men. We are really happy and grateful for this privilege of being here with you tonight.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader of the House, Mr. Smith.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chairman, at the beginning of the Session I had the honor and privilege of nominating the gentleman from Elk the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg, as Speaker of our House. I said at that time that I knew of no one with better qualifications, ability, honesty, loyalty and the courage and desire to be fair to both the minority and the majority.

I believe I said at that time all that was necessary to honor and praise him.

Mr. Chairman, at this time I do not have an adequate vocabulary to truly describe my honest and sincere feelings. This session has made all of us more cognizant of his ability. Those of us who have worked with him have grown to love him, with the love and affection of a sincere friendship.

Many of us think that the duties of a Speaker are only to preside and to keep order in the House of Representatives. We do not know or realize the hours and hours that are necessary to set policy; the hours and hours that are necessary for meetings with committees and with the many groups he has to see during the day. We do not realize the sacrifices he makes; the sacrifices of his family—his wife and his children. They only have their father a few hours during the week. Our Speaker has done all of these things. He has done them for us and he has done them without complaint.

I have never worked so closely with anyone, nor have I at any time had such complete trust, faith and confidence as I have had in our Speaker. To associate with him has been an honor and a privilege that I can never, never forget.

He has conveyed to all of us his ability of leadership, his honesty of cooperation and the true spirit of brotherly love.

Mr. Chairman, it gives me the greatest pleasure to offer this resolution to a great Speaker and an honest and true friend.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING SPEAKER

Mr. SMITH offered a resolution and ask and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

To preside over the House of Representatives during its current session has been a challenge to leadership that would have daunted most men.

The vicissitudes of a prolonged session are always irritating; barriers to legislative progress arise often and unexpectedly; and the attendant frustrations of a stale-mate proceeding can be very discouraging. If ever an occasion called for the utmost in poise, equanimity, and a resiliency of disposition with which to combat ever recurring trouble, certainly the recently concluded session demanded and has received the indicated able guidance which only the leadership of the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg could yield. In him there is that happy and consummate blending of those qualities that mark a leadership as inspirational—and whereby a group confidently solicits and responds to whatever counsel the leader imparts.

The deliberations of this House, as channeled and directed by the Speaker during its recent session, have always been on a plane of dignity and a level of effectiveness. The tradition of preeminence which the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth has attained among legislative forms everywhere through its long succession of distinguished and capable Speakers has not only been sustained, but has been brightened and enhanced by the skill, the forbearance, the absolute fairness, and the endless patience displayed by Herbert P. Sorg on every occasion during the past nine months.

Yet the efficiency of our legislative process—like the skill or an artist or the cunning of a machine—appears disarmingly simple to the casual visitor. The poetry of motion, inherent in a superb performance by a man or a mechanism, represents a dramatic summary of insight, ability, sacrifice, and many hours of study, preparation and practice. Behind the facade of legislative propriety and dispatch lie these significant factors—the personality, the capability, and the determination of the presiding officer.

Speaker Sorg is a prototype among his fellow Pennsylvanians. Young, virile and intense, he frequently expresses a rare sagacity and a mature judgment on matters, ordinarily beyond the ken of much older men. For a most devoted husband and father, the enforced absence from his home during the protracted legislative session has entailed personal sacrifice and privation, difficult to bear. To Speaker Sorg the true greatness of a state is in its homes—and in the unity of a father, a mother and the children in their home. The home is the foundation of government; from it issues the real strength of the state. When circumstances temporarily suspend the cohesive forces of a home—like an unduly extended legislative session—the inconvenience and the loss to Speaker Sorg have been considerable, but quite incommensurate with the increased responsibilities and the added burdens that have been trust upon Mrs. Sorg. She has truly kept the home fire burning for herself and their five children in the remote stretches of Elk County while her absentee husband has helped to forge the laws with which to guide the destinies of the Commonwealth; therefore be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend to the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg its heartiest congratulations and its sincere gratitude for the outstanding success with which his administration as Speaker for the outstanding success with which his administration as Speaker has been achieved, for his imperturbable and gracious charm even under provocative circumstances.

for his expeditious leadership of a differentiated group, and for his personal compatibility with every member, regardless of his political persuasion; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives is duly appreciative of the tolerance and the consideration expressed by him toward every problem—momentous or trivial—that confronted him; of his flexible adaptation to widely varying circumstances; and of his masterly and strategic resolution of the inevitable impasses that plague presiding officers; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives wish him a most pleasant surcease from his arduous legislative duties and the boundless happiness and satisfaction that must follow a task well done; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be authorized to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg as a further manifestation of the affection and the respect accorded him by the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria County, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREDWS. Mr. Chairman, I face a scene of unusual beauty scarcely marred by a masculine face—the wives, mothers, perhaps sweethearts of the leaders of the House, the gallant women who have kept the hame fires burning while we have been here during the many months to which the Chairman has made allusion. I think it would be very helpful if we were permitted more frequently to gaze upon such an engaging picture.

I am deeply touched, Mr. Chairman, with your evident pride in the duration of the session. I hope that in the days to come it will indeed redound to our glory. I am wondering as I stand here whether or not the verdict of history will be that we marched around and around for nine months and then went out at exactly the place we came.

This is the second time I have had the opportunity of seconding a resolution congratulating the Speaker. This time a resolution presented by the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia, the Majority Leader.

There is more to these ceremonies, Mr. Chairman, than simply the utterances of honeyed words for the purpose perhaps of titillating expentant ears. As the resolution itself says, our precedings here are not always understood by those who watch from the outside. We have our battles; we have our disagreements. We may now and then engender our own passionate hatreds, but we know that always the word of honor runs. There has always been, during the speakership of the gentleman from Elk, and that of his predecessors, a recognition of the fact that the word of a Member, the word of a leader, the word of a Committee Chairman, and the word of the Speaker are inviolate.

We can say concerning the accomplishments of this session, insofar as they represent party solidarity upon the part of the majority, they have achieved that solidarity more by reason of the leadership of the Speaker and the amiable qualities of the Majority Leader than by the various measures which have received the favorable consideration of the Members of this House.

It is indeed a tribute to leadership when Members say one to the other, "Well, the Speaker wants it. The Majority Leader wants it. Darn it, we will swallow it because they are such fine fellows."

It is rather a unique accomplishment for any Speaker of this House to have served two terms without never one in that entire period having had to face an appeal from a decision made by the Chair. If you will consult your memory you will know that that is a fact. And if you will review the history of the past you will know that it is a unique accomplishment.

Neither the great nor the least among us can cite a single example during the last two sessions of this General Assembly when by wielding the power that the Speaker of this august body has, the rights of any one of us has been impinged upon.

I want to say further, Mr. Chairman, that those who have been long in these Halls will remember that in times past, when we had only comparatively short sessions, as we have reached the closing days there have been hours of bitterness, there have been times when frayed nerves snapped. Yet we have come this far, and we are the calmest, easiest going, most genial House within my memory. And I would say that is the result of leadership; the result of cooperation.

Speaking for the minority I can say, we have been in the last two sessions accorded an increased measure of consideration.

The Majority Leader and the Speaker have frequently, to my mind leaned over backwards in their desire to be fair, to be considerate. And I can confess that on many occasions they have been more than considerate to demands made by the minority which was perhaps, under correct parliamentary procedure, justified.

Mr. Chairman, I close by paying first, my tribute to what I consider a great Speaker.

Second, my tribute to a leader who under the most trying circumstances within my memory, and it goes back many years, has managed to maintain a united party front.

Third, my tribute to Herb Sorg, the man. If there is anything that is better than being a statesman, if there is anything that is better than being a foremost figure in the forensic arena, it is to be a man that other men trust.

I say to you Mr. Speaker, that we do trust Herb Sorg, and it is with pleasure that I second the resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the House, and our guests who are distinguished and welcome. The committee in charge of this evening's ceremonies have selected me to make the presentation to the Speaker of the gift which has been purchased for him.

In starting out I might say that the gift is an oriental rug. I say this because I want to elaborate a little on what a rug really means and to assure you that it is not a piece of woven fabric to be thrown on the floor simply to be trampled upon.

Long before Christ appeared on earth it was a custom of the East in Persia and Egypt in particular, to strew precious jewels and gems in the paths of those they loved and honored. They distributed diamonds, sapphires, pearls, rubies, and other precious stones. The poorer classes in those days distributed pieces of silver and copper per, and flowers. As flowers were seasonable and obtainable only for a few months of the year the Persians, in their ingenuity, conceived the idea of weaving into the rugs the various flowers of that day in color. You can imagine in the early history of the world the limited chemical apparatus they must have had and the very little knowledge of chemistry. However, they discovered many beautiful colors which were fast and lasted the lifetime of the carpet or rug. It was a custom in those days that when a family discovered some new color it was kept a secret, and inasmuch as there was no way of copyrighting such things, the secret was handed down to the male members of the family only. And when the last male member of the family passed away the secret died with him. When they began weaving those beautiful flowers into the rugs and carpets they abandoned the custom of strewing jewels and gems in the paths of those they wished to honor, and instead laid down these beautiful carpets and rugs as a symbol of their love and respect. That custom has long ago been transported to other parts of the world.

You remember when Sir Walter Raleigh was unable to find a rug he took off his coat and laid it down so his queen could pass over a depression in the road and keep her sandals from becoming soiled in the quagmire.

In our country, when the bride enters the chapel and is about to march down the aisle to take the vows of holy matrimony, a carpet is spread out in front of her which is a symbol of her friends' desire that her path in life may be smooth, comfortable, and beautiful.

Just for a moment visualize this room in which we are now assembled. It is supposed to be one of the most gorgeous in the United States in one of the most beautiful capitols in this nation. Imagine these beautiful chandeliers, the tapestries, the beautiful paintings, and the pink marble wainscoting, but what would this room be like tonight if it were not for this beautiful carpet which we now see beneath our feet, bringing to us warmth and comfort and beauty that adds to this room to complete the picture.

And so, in purchasing this rug for our Speaker, it is the symbol of our desires and hopes and prayers that his pathway in life and the pathway of his wife and children may be pleasant and comfortable and safe. This rug is to cover up all the pitfalls to which the human race is prone and is a symbol of our desire for his comfort and peace of mind.

In connection with the occasion, I have a little poem that may fit in, and I hope it will meet with the approval of those present.

Thanks to Herb

Through many months in cold and heat
We've tried to legislate
Perhaps some bills that should have passed
Have met a sorry fate.

But none can say we haven't tried
To do our best, as men
Although we failed to have our way
From time and time again.

It's been real hard for most of us
To carry on our work

But one who had the hardest job
Was never known to shirk.

He bore his load with pleasantness
And always wore a smile
He was always willing for his friends
To go the second mile.

He gave his best for this great state
And those who labor here
He did it as a faithful trust
And now deserves a cheer.

So since he is so modest
And couldn't bear a hug
We show our great affection
With this oriental rug.

And Herb when you are sitting
In your easy chair at home
Wishing you could stay right there
And never have to roam

We hope that as you see this gift
Reposing on your floor
You will resolve to keep your job
And work with us once more.

The CHAIRMAN. For the information of those present these gifts will be on display during the reception in the Caucus room.

When I recognize the Speaker I am going to request him to open this rug so that you may see at least a part of it here.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk of the House, Mr. Habbyslaw.

The CHIEF CLERK. Mr. Chairman and Members of the House, for eighteen years I have had the pleasure and opportunity of observing this House of Representatives. I came here first as a Member of the House, and in later years I have served as one of its officers. These many years have seen many outstanding and able Members occupy and continue to occupy the seats of this House.

We have seen many serious problems solved in these great halls. There have been times of great moment and there have been other times of pleasure, fun and warm fellowship.

Great men have started their careers of service to the people here in the House of Representatives. Famous Americans have been our brothers, but House of Representatives can rise above the stature of its leadership. We have had outstanding leadership in the past and we have it now.

Mr. Speaker, you have been an inspiring leader, you have been fair and honest, and are respected, admired and beloved by all, regardless of party affiliation.

On behalf of the Members and employees of this House I have the great privilege and honor of presenting to you this gavel as a token of the esteem in which you are held by us.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, Speaker of the House.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Chairman, fellow Members, friends, it would be wonderful, indeed, if one could be completely deserving of this great generosity and your kind expressions. It would be the acme of ingratitude not to acknowledge the services that have contributed so greatly to the successful conduct of as trying a session as this has been.

As is so often the case, once again it must be said that the most effective work of a parliamentary body such as this is performed by those who usually go unsung. There is no one in whose hands our procedural matters could be better entrusted than in the hands of our nationally acclaimed parliamentarian, Eddie Moore.

In executive matters it is uncanny how Bill Habbyshaw, our Chief Clerk, Bill Roan, our Secretary and Ed Honestadt, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, as well as all their staffs, are able to anticipate the desires of the Chair and the needs of the Members.

In matters of a policy-making nature, it would be impossible to overrate the work of a Rules Committee, composed of such as men Charles Smith, Al Johnson, Stu Helm, Adam Bower, and Wiles Yeakel, assisted on occasion by Wrayburn Hall and Norman Wood.

As to our very capable floor leadership, Charles Smith on the side of the Majority, let it suffice to say has, through many situations when loyalty and friendship were severely tried remained the very truest of friends.

On the side of the Minority, was the ever watchful, ever astute, yet ever kindly and understanding Hi Andrews, he, too, shall always have my greatest respect and my warmest friendship.

Add to these the almost unbelievable kindness, courtesy and cooperation of each and every Member toward the Chair, which have transformed into genuine pleasures what might have been burdensome duties of the officer, and you have the true reason for whatever measure of success this House has enjoyed.

I am proud of this House, of my membership in it, of the great honor of being permitted by you to preside. Through, perhaps not as worthy as I should like to be, until my dying day I shall be grateful beyond words.

I want to thank the Committee for making this family day; for inviting those it is such a delight to have with me tonight. May I present to you my wife June, my daughter Suzie, my daughter Karen, my daughter June, and Pete—many of you will remember that he is the 209th Member of the 1949 session without vote—my mother and father, my sister Mary Anne, and I have my brothers and their wives with me tonight; and surprise of surprises, my business associates came, and their wives, too.

This night will be indelible in my memory, and you may be sure that it will season many happy recollections of the days and the hours it has been my good fortune to spend among, as I have said before, the finest associations and friendships I have ever known. If I might paraphrase just a little bit the song the boys sang to-night, my wise is, God's choicest blessings on this House.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair now recognizes the gentlemen from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we are now in the last days of a long historic session. We can well pause and think of the job we have done. We can think of the personalities who have made this job possible.

In the past we have had some great Majority Leaders in this House. The record is replete with the very fine performances of these gentlemen. In this session we have had a Majority Leader, Charley Smith who not only has done a great job, but he possesses many fine traits of character, a few of which I want to enumerate to you at this time.

You have seen Charley at the microphone. You can observe that he is a very amiable creature,—possesses a very good nature. All of which helps to make his job a lot easier.

He possesses a sterling character. His honesty and integrity are without question. He is a man of his word. You might say his word is as good as his bond.

Charley also possesses a characteristic or trait that only those who have been present in a closed session realize. It is best brought out by these words of Milton which I will attempt to quote for you. It goes like this.

"Or bid the soul of Orpheus sing
Such tones as warbled to the string
Drew iron tears down Pluto's cheeks
And made Hell grant what love did seek."

If it were not for the pleading of Mr. Smith in this session I am sure many a cause would have been lost. He is a revivalist; he is a super-salesman. He has brought literally iron tears down the cheeks of many of the Members who with steel-like emotion walked down the carpet trail and voted for the program, because he brought about such great emotion in their hearts.

That is the great pleader that our Majority Leader is. Pennsylvania is indeed fortunate in having a man like Charley to be our Majority Leader.

We have passed a great program this session, and as this session is brought to a close, it will be unfolded to the people of Pennsylvania that we have passed a program of which all of us can be proud, and Charley has been one of those who has helped put this program across.

I have had prepared a Resolution which speaks better of the qualities and the character of Charley than I am able to do, and it gives me a great deal of pleasure to present this Resolution.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. JOHNSON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

To formulate a legislative program is always a matter of importance. To implement that program, to translate its nebulous ideas concerning the welfare of the people into explicit law is still another matter of even greater importance.

The majority party during the session just concluded has been singularly fortunate in its choice of floor leadership; for its Republican Standard Bearer, the Honorable Charles C. Smith, has a repertory of legislative skills and techniques which contrastively reduces Pandora's Box to a mere childish bauble.

As the floor advocate for the party charged with the responsibility of enacting a plan of constructive legislation, he has met the obligations of his office with lofty vision, resolute courage, and incomparable success.

In response to the requirements of his strategic post, he has not only ascertained the intent and the broad purpose of every bill presented to the House, but has succinctly briefed the members of his party with the essence and the background of all of such pending legislation.

As a field commander, Charlie Smith has deployed and maneuvered his forces with the adroit skill that only comes to a veteran of many frays.

When debate became bitter and acrimonious, when conditions were tense and dead-centered, or whenever a situation matured to the unstable point of touch and go, Charlie deftly extracted from the well of his personality a mood or a maneuver to fit every occasion. His armamentarium of reassurance, confidence, cajolery, persuasion, persiflage, threat, innuendo, guile and artifice is flexibly stocked to meet all of the baffling uncertainties, incident to the enactment of good or indifferent legislation.

For a majority leader to be really effective he must combine the tactician's knowledge of present and intimate events with the strategist's over-all estimate of policies and trends. The intuitive instinct of a woman, the grace of a jungle cat, the daring of a wire walker, the split-second timing of a trapeze artist, the courage of an enraged lion—each in its way reflects an aspect or a facet of that plexus of forces, that embodiment of resourcefulness, forthrightness, and adaptability—known as a majority leader and typified by Charlie Smith.

Yet to this colorful picture, Charlie Smith brings a few other personal ingredients—his geniality, his firm convictions, and his constant industry. The warmth of his ready smile, his instant affability, his friendly courtesy have won for him a rapidly expanding circle of friends and admirers State-wide. Even though these qualities per se are excellent, yet the lofty principles and the stable convictions that comprise the pattern of a man's thinking become the more reliable and ultimate determinant of his character and the real arbiter of his destiny. Charlie's ethical and straightforward analysis and resolution of every type of legislative problem, his impeccable conduct on all occasions, and his innate sense of fair play and reasonableness are self-evident and need no extolling pen to describe.

During the past session the demands upon the leader's time and energy have been inordinate; yet Charlie has responded so heroically and earnestly to the call of duty that his physical configuration has sloughed away to the slender outline of twenty years ago—with the added advantage to him that the clothes of that era can now be worn with comfort and fit; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives express its appreciation and gratitude to the Honorable Charles C. Smith for his splendid performance of his duties as Majority Leader and tender its profuse thanks for the many members, collectively and individually, and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives is cognizant of the many inroads that have been made upon his leisure and professional time, as evidenced by the exceedingly heavy traffic in and about his office, and is understandingly sympathetic of the personal sacrifice and discomfort that his ever zealous leadership has entailed; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives wish wholeheartedly and enthusiastically that Charlie Smith will have an uninterrupted opportunity to reinvigorate his tired body and to bring solace to his frayed soul on the rolling acres and in the limpid waters amidst the peaceful

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be authorized to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Charles C. Smith.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Costa.

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House and guests, I am honored in having this opportunity. I have been associated with the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles G. Smith for the last five sessions.

Just as he is a friend to you, he is more to me. I think as much of him as I do of my own brothers. I have learned to love him, respect his judgment; and I assure you I sincerely appreciate his valued friendship.

You all know how he has served every Member of this House, and how he has gone far out of his way to assist everyone who requested his aid.

We are all most pleased to see him progress in these Legislative Halls, and just as all of you desire me to do I wish him success in every endeavor he may undertake. We know he will be successful, because to every task he assures he gives his all.

As a token of our esteem and his many kindnesses to us, this gift is being given him. We hope he has a full and happy life and many moments of leisure time to enjoy it.

Charlie, take this to your beautiful country home on Perkiomen Creek and after the session is over,—we hope it is soon—you and your charming wife who is sitting on the sidelines, can relax in it and perhaps you will regain those 32 pounds you lost this session.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chairman, after all that I guess I just should say 'Gosh!'

Mr. Chairman, I certainly do appreciate this very, very beautiful gift. You can believe me, I hope I am going to have the time very, very soon, to enjoy it.

I want to thank you and every Member of this House for it. But to be just a little bit more serious,—and we have been very serious this evening,—I think it would be rather amiss if at this time I did not publicly say thanks first of all to the Majority side of the House. I have never had such loyalty, I have never had such cooperation from any group of men under the most trying of circumstances. Your cooperation and loyalty this year could not have been better, it could not have been greater.

And as far as the minority side, is concerned and especially the Minority Leader, that great man amongst men, the gentleman from Cambria, the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews, I sincerely want to say to you that your kindness, your fairness is something that I will never, never forget.

While I appreciate this gift, and it is beautiful, I sincerely want to say to every Member of this House that fellows, and girls too, you have given me the greatest gift of all, not today, but throughout this whole session. I can honestly say that you have given me the gift of real friendship, and with a group like you behind me I will take on the world, believe me. Thanks again.

The CHAIRMAN. Ladies and Gentleman, I wish to make a personal presentation at this time to the Majority Leader of the House.

Sometime ago he expressed a thought to me that since he lives out of Philadelphia on the Perkiomen River and while there is a lot of water there, he is always afraid of fires. He has no method of giving a signal if such a fire should occur.

Perhaps it is also a gift that would be equally appreciated by his wife. As I understand she is not too keen about staying at their summer home alone at night. So, perhaps this will be a signal that she could use in case of distress.

I would like to make this presentation right now to the Majority Leader of the House.

Will the men please take it up the center aisle of the House and down on the elevator to the Caucus Room on the first floor.

The Chair directs the men to ring the bell.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chairman, this is most unexpected. All I can say is, I believe me, I am going to kick the gong around if I get half a chance.

I certainly will not be late for mess call out in the country.

Thank you again.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, distinguished guests, I rise at this time to pay tribute to an able leader of this House.

It is with distinct pleasure and honor that I pay this tribute to the Minority Leader because he happens to come from the same County I do.

When the Majority Leader, Mr. Smith, was presented with a gift a little while ago, they said he could rest and regain the thirty-two pounds he lost. I put on thirty-two pounds and I am a little worried because when we adjourn I will have to go back to the coal mines again. Therefor Mr. Chairman, it is with distinct pleasure and honor that I present this resolution and ask for its immediate consideration.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING MINORITY LEADER

Mr. ROVANSEK offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

An resolution commending the remarkable minority leadership of the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews would fall as short of its mark as does an artist striving to spread on canvas the fleeting colors of a glorious sunset.

Frequently throughout his many years of legislative tug of war on the Hill, the music of euphuistic expression—with its dulcet overtones of admiration for his rare tactical skill, his analytical insight, and his masterly stylized diction—has fallen like a gentle rain upon his soul, but has left it unflooded with pretense and unspoiled with arrogance.

The plaudits of his colleagues—adversaries as well as allies—have echoed and re-echoed many times about him and have cast a patina of veneration and greatness over his legislative skill and accomplishment. Any attempt, therefor, to strike an original note of encomium for "Hi" Andrews must fail in its purpose and can only result in one more contribution to a long list of eulogies already recorded for him.

In any bi-partisan government the responsibility for a positive and a constructive program of legislative action devolves upon the majority party. Yet it is equally important for a militant minority group to check continuously, to discipline, to harass if necessary the activities of the dominant party to the end that laws beneficial to the representative interests of all of the people will emerge from the legislative mill. Without the application of such restraints by an alert minority, it is conceivable that a ruling party become careless and tend to be imprudent about the proprieties and the amenities that should safeguard every situation. Indeed, an abuse of authority or a complacency in control could easily develop into an insatiable lust for power that might endanger the fundamental rights and liberties of the people.

The minority party of the House of Representatives has indeed played its role well during the recent session. Under the aegis of its resourceful "Hi" Andrews, it has exercised a sobering influence on the attitudes and the maneuvers of the majority group as the latter has groped its tortuous way through a bewildering session. "Horatio" Andrews, than whom there is none more heroic, has kept well the bridge.

His equipment for legislative combat is unexcelled. His incisive wit, his devastating satire, his caustic tongue, his synical outlook, his bock-serious rhetoric, his rapier-like repartee, his mature and crowded experience, his subtleness and finesse are always good and sufficient reasons why any opponent should consider well before throwing a curve at this watch dog of minority rights.

Nevertheless, one can always anticipate from "Hi" Andrews his sympathetic and cooperative support of any worthy cause designed for the universal good, irrespective of its source of sponsorship. Although an ardent friend and champion of every valid enterprise in behalf of human progress, yet he is a relentless foe of the artifice and the chicanery that sometimes underlie the candor and the plausibility of the ingratiating politician—and woe unto the unscrupulous one who has slipped temporarily out of the noose of theical restraint; for "Hi" Andrews will seize the cord and hang him higher than Haman.

Like Cerberus screening constantly the shades of the departed—as they float across the Styx—"Hi" Andrews stands vigilant guard in the halls of the Legislature to trip up any wily and unwary Republican who seeks to cut the corners of regularity and due process; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extend its heartiest congratulations to the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews for the strikingly effective way in which he discharged his duties as the Minority Leader, for is gracious and uncondescending manner to all, for his profound understanding of legislative problems, and for his other innumerable and admirable personal traits and qualities; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives proudly acknowledge the enshrinement of its talented Minority Leader in its heart and declare unreservedly its affection and admiration for this veteran statesman; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be authorized to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Chairman, my distinguished colleagues and friends, I have been listening for the past eight sessions, the past sixteen years, to these very fine laudatory Resolutions describing the fine qualities of our leaders and I have never listened to them except that I am reminded of a story of a couple who lived here in Pennsylvania once upon a time by the name of John and Mary. They raised about six children. One day John died. The new minister in the parish was called in to preach the service and the family was lined up in the front row, Mary and the six children.

The minister who did not know much about this man—who, by the way, happened to be an old rummy and was always beating his wife the whole time they lived together—went on to speak about how wonderful John was; his fine, sterling character his being a good citizen, and we went on and on. Finally the mother nudged one of the little boys and said: "Nick, you go over there and look in the coffin; I think they are burying the wrong man."

I say that not in any sense as a reflection on any of the resolutions introduced tonight. The words they contain are true and very descriptive of the gentlemen they have sought to praise.

Seriously, we on this side as I know you do on that side, think very highly of Hi Andrews, our Minority Floor Leader. Had we not done so and had we not had a great deal of faith in him and in his ability, we would not have reelected him several times to our leader. We respect his ability, we enjoy his writ and we hope that he is with us for many years to come.

The Committee has seen fit to delegate to me tonight the pleasant task of making a presentation to Mr. Andrews, and if the attendants will bring it in, I will be glad to present it to him with the hope that in these, his later years, he will find it very enjoyable.

May I add one word in conclusion. The job of Minority as well as Majority Floor Leader is anything but an easy task. It requires long hours of hard work and many, many headaches. So I hope, Hi, that in the days to come you will be able to sit in that chair without having that headache.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chairman, I have the tobacco, thanks to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, I have the pipe and now I have the easy chair. But believe me, I face a strenuous campaign against the other members of the family to make certain that I am the individual sitting in the chair.

You know, Mr. Chairman, these resolutions make me think of the mule and the jeep that met at the crossroads. The jeep said to the mule: "What are you?"

The mule said: "I am a horse."

Then the mule said to the jeep: "What are you?"

The jeep said: "I am an automobile."

Whereupon they both laughed.

If I could get into a private conference with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, and compare what we know we are with what the Resolutions say we are, we both, I am sure, would laugh.

But I do thank the membership of the House for the spirit represented by the gift, without conceding that in any way I am entitled to the consideration which they have shown.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Chairman, in presenting the next Resolution which concerns the Majority Whip, I am greatly privileged. I have a feeling that it should be the Marjority Leader who should really present this Resolution because I think there is no one else in the House who knows the real value of the Majority Whip like the Majority Leader does.

However, having possibly a seat of vantage, I have been able to make a few observations during the last nine months and some might consider that I would possibly be an adequate substitute.

One of the observations I have made during the nine months of this session, seeing our Majority Whip in action and seeing his activity, is that I sincerely believe the position has been wrongly named. It it a mis-nomer, because I really think it should be the Majority Whipping Boy rather than the Majority Whip.

I am not so sure that the job is an enviable pob, although it is of great importance. Certainly with Charlie Smith blowing down your neck and tapping your shoulder continuously every day for nine months is no pleasure. Neither is it any fun to walk back through the Majority side of the House and wield that whip, and whip the boys into line on an important program. I do sincerely believe that Al has done a most effective job of organization. He has been most eager to do a thorough job and to do it well. I am sure he has accomplished that end, and above all I believe that Al has been fair to everyone with whom he has dealt.

Mr. Chairman, it has been said before that the written word is much better and more eloquent than the spoken word. It is a genuine pleasure and privilege and with a great deal of pride that I offer this Resolution.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. KENT offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

A great deal of the responsibility for marshalling effective, unified support of the majority party's program during any legislative session falls upon the Majority Whip, and the success or failure of his efforts determines in a large measure the success or failure of the majority's program.

During this session of the General Assembly, the majority party in the House was a well-organized unit, reflecting the soundness of its choice of Albert W. Johnson, of McKean County as its Majority Whip.

First elected to the House in 1947, his abilities immediately attracted the attention of his co-members and his selection as Majority Whip this year, after having served only two prior terms, attests to the calibre of his talents and his ability as a leader. He has ably demonstrated that his selection was thoroughly merited; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House congratulate the Honorable Albert W. Johnson on his success as an able and effective Whip, and as an outstanding legislator; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Albert W. Johnson by the Chief Clerk of the House as a token of appreciation of a job well done.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House and our very beautiful guests, were I a dramatist of the ability of Shakespeare, I might pick up one his famous phrases: "To be or not to be."

At the beginning of this session nine months ago it was a question, shall it be a short session or a long one. During the course of the session we have been faced with many problems. For instance, we have been faced with the problem of what we shall do with the boring from within while they were boring from without.

As I have circulated among the Members here today, and particularly their wives and their families, I have had them ask many questions of me. They seem to be disturbed by some of the legislative jargon with which their husbands travel home. They seem to be puzzled as to exactly how much they should make of the stories that come to them.

For instance, they wonder what this thing is when we speak about "the heat being on;" about what it is when we talk about "our tongue being in our cheek;" about that "big lump that we sometimes have to swallow;" or about the "smoke filled rooms;" or the "air that was electric;" the "feelings that were tense;" or the "air that was electric;" the "feelings that were tense;" or the "barks on the dog bill;" or the "scalps of the Indian," or the "harmony that exists between the two Chambers" of this Assembly; or about how "to roll a bill," or what constitutes a "deadlock on the tax question;" or what are "needling barbs;" who is this fellow "bi-partisan;" and what does the Majority Leader do to cause the changing hue on his scalp.

Members of the House and guests assembled, it is my pleasure to present to a man with whom I came into this House, and with whom I have traveled back and forth during three sessions of this Legislature, a gift from the membership of this House.

From what I have recited to you, perhaps he may be able to figure out the gift we have to present to him. I am hopeful that maybe he may be able to take pictures with this camera and all its accessories of the various things I have talked about in order that his wife may see what these things are, and better understand the language of her husband when he comes home over the week end.

I want to say also in presenting this gift I would like to have the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, take pictures of what we call the rural area that we pass through weekly going to and from the Legislature for the education of what we call "the metropolitan group," in order that we might get a better understanding between the two groups and our problems. Particularly, would I like to have him take pictures of the trees in the rural areas which, if we would only amend our Constitution to give them the right to vote, we certainly would have a grand time.

Albert, the camera and all its accessories.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Chairman, that camera is just what I wanted. I want to take pictures of a good many of the very fine folks and many fine friends that I have made here this session and other sessions.

I am very grateful for this present. This seems to be an occasion for thanks and appreciation. I want to thank the Speaker, the Majority Leader and the Parliamentarian for all their kindness, help and advice to me so that I could be a good Majority Whip.

I want to thank the Members particularly on our side for their loyalty. When the chips were down and we needed the votes and wanted them to vote the right way they stayed in their seats and stuck by us no matter how long the day. Some days it was very trying but our Members were splendid. Charlie Smith has said that he will always remember the devotion and the loyalty of the Members to him. I say that double.

I want to thank Mr. Kent for the very kind words and for the resolution he has offered.

I want to thank the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, for his very kind words.

We are very near the end of this long session and it will be rather hard to break up. I will always remember these very fine days we have had here.

I want to thank the Members on the other side and the Minority Leader. They have been very kind and gracious too.

I am reminded in reading all these very fine resolutions as to what fine men we are, the story of a fellow that ran for political office.

Before he ran, it was his first attempt, someone said to him "Don't run John, they will just crucify you."

"Oh, no, they won't. I'll run; I will take a chance," John said.

Well, John ran for the office and he was defeated. Afterwards a friend said to him "Well John, how was it."

Well, he said you know it was just as bad as you said it would be. Why, they called me a horse thief, and what's more, they came dam near proving it.

So at home when we run for office we get called all kinds of names, but down here we have lovely resolutions presented for us.

In closing I am reminded of an old story that I read recently. It is told of Saint Francis of Assisi. He was out hoeing his garden when one of his young proteges said to him "Father if you were to die before dusk what would you do?"

He said "I would finish hoeing the garden."

That is what we must do here in this House. We must keep on hoeing, finish the job we have before us, go home as I said before and show the people of Pennsylvania that while this possibly has been the longest session in the history of this great state, we have passed a great program, one that we will all be proud of, both on the majority and the minority sides.

Again I thank you very much.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Duffy.

Mr. DUFFY. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House and distinguished guests, I have been given the honor of presenting the resolution on behalf of our Minority Whip and it is indeed the greatest pleasure for me to do so.

It is no mere accident that anyone is returned to this House on nine successive occasions covering a span of eighteen years. The citizens of his district, having recognized his worth as one who is concerned with their problems, it was only natural that we, at the first opportunity, do likewise, and this we did.

It is to his extreme credit that he has exercised the office of Whip in a spirit of decency and justice, with credit to himself and his party. This he has accomplished notwithstanding that we have been embroiled in the most difficult session in the history of the Commonwealth. Tempers and emotions have been extremely high—but the sincerity and the character of our beloved Whip has withstood these frailties of human nature and has endeared him to all of us.

To our good friend, Joe Scanlon, I say, on behalf of this House of Representatives, thank you for a job well done and may success in future endeavors be yours.

Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING MINORITY WHIP

Mr. DUFFY offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

In electing the Honorable Joseph A. Scanlon to the office of Minority Whip this session, his fellow members of the Democratic Party have given well deserved recognition to a man who has been returned to the General Assembly by the voters of the twenty-fifth district of Philadelphia for successive terms since 1935.

By reason of his extensive experience as a legislator, he has performed the duties of his office as Minority Whip with skill, acumen, and dispatch, thus expediting the difficult work of the session, and thoroughly justifying the correctness of his selection; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extend to the Honorable Joseph A. Scanlon, the Minority Whip, its congratulations upon the success with which he has guided the organization of the Minority Party throughout this session of the legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the House extend to the Honorable Joseph A. Scanlon, the Minority Whip, its congratulations upon the success with which he has guided the organization of the Minority Party throughout this session of the legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Joseph A. Scanlon as a token of its appreciation for his able performance of the duties of his office.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hersch.

Mr. HERSCH. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, ladies and gentleman, so far I think, everybody has forgotten the legislative engineers.

It is my pleasure to have served with Mr. Scanlon for the past ten years. When they call a person a Whip, he is really a whip, because he was always on our tails all through the session, but we regard him very highly.

I consider it a pleasure and an honor to be given the opportunity to get up here and present Mr. Scanlon with a gift, because he is really deserving of it. I know when he goes into his new office in Philadelphia this year or next year it will come in very handy to him.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, I did not realize until tonight, that the delegation of which I am chairman, had such fine orators. The two kindly gentlemen, the one who introduced the resolution and the other who presented me with the gift, were supposed, as I said earlier this afternoon, to give me a whip, but they figured that would be a little too dangerous.

It has been a pleasure, sometimes a headache. I had to go down to the restaurant as Al Johnson had to do, up in the committee rooms and what not. You would get a fellow coming in and say, "Where were you?"

"Oh," he would say, "I went out to get a sandwich" or "went out to get a soda water."

We have some fellows in here that drink soda water. Frank Costa drinks soda water, I never saw him drink anything else but.

I want to thank the Members of the House, particularly my own delegation, of whom I am mighty proud for the stand they have taken as far as their on party is concerned. Despite some deviations here and there, it could not be perfect, no House has ever been perfect, but the Members on our side of the House have done a magnificent job, and I want to thank them for the cooperation they gave me.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I had intended to give quite a long talk but I am quite sure you are all as hungry as I am, and anyway this is sort of a double barreled resolution that I am about to offer covering the Chief Clerk of the House, Secretary of the House and all their assistants.

Anyway, they may have been a little like the fellow who had taken his wife to a testimonial dinner that was being given for him. After the speeches were over and the dinner, and they were on their way home he said, "Well, honey, what did you think of that dinner? And what did you think about all of the swell things they said about me?"

She said, "I thought it was fine, John, and you will be all right until you begin believing them."

But seriously, anything I could say about Bill Roan and Bill Habbyslaw would certainly be a very, very faint gesture in trying to portray just what they mean to this House of Representatives.

When I first came here in 1945 Bill Habbyslaw was one of the first gentlemen with whom I become acquainted. He certainly did a lot for me, and I will always remember it.

• I later came to know Bill Roan very well. I think he is one of the finest guys I ever met. He does a wonderful job. These two gentlemen possess one of the very great—I do not know that I can explain it, but anyway they have the knack of being able to surround themselves with very efficient help.

So when we are thanking the two Bills, we also must remember the help they have that has taken care of all of the errands that you and I have had to take care of if it were not for the very efficient manner in which they handled them.

So with that, Mr. Chairman, I offer this Resolution.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

Mr. WATERHOUSE offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

Of vital importance to the success and smooth functioning of the Legislature is the accurate and speedy performance of the thousands of technical and diverse administrative tasks its work entails.

During this session, as in past years, the Chief Clerk of the House, the Honorable William E. Habbyslaw, and the Secretary of the House, the Honorable William P. Roan, and their staffs of assistants have ably handled the countless detailed duties assigned to them in an expert and cooperative manner, and in doing so, have again contributed materially to the orderly function of the General Assembly; therefore be it, Resolved, That the members of the House extend to the Chief Clerk, the Honorable William E. Habbyslaw, and to the Secretary, the Honorable William P. Roan, and their staffs and assistants their sincere appreciation for their able and conscientious performance of their duties during this session of the General Assembly.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Ziegler.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, guests, I am very happy to have a small part in this ceremony or party, as you please, this evening.

First, because with the holding of this party we all have some hope, some faint hope that in the not too distant future we will adjourn.

Second, and by far the most important is the fact that we the Members on this occasion have some opportunity to show our appreciation, not only to the leaders, but to the employees of the House.

The man we are about to honor is a man I have known for a long time. He happens to be a fellow Dauphin Countian, a former Member of this House and I think you all agree that his personal services have been available to each and every one of us at all times, and the facilities and services of his office likewise, not only during the session but when the session is over.

At this time it gives me a great deal of pleasure to present on behalf of the Membership a gift in the nature of a United States Defense Bond to the Honorable William E. Habbyschaw, Chief Clerk of the House and affectionately known to all of us as "Bill", a token of our appreciation for a job well done.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk, Mr. Habbyschaw.

The CHIEF CLERK (William E. Habbyschaw). Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, I want to thank each and every one of you for this gift. I also want to thank Mr. Ziegler, Mr. Waterhouse, the Speaker, the Majority and Minority Leaders and all the rest of you for your cooperation during this long drawn out session. I want to say that we had a marvelous staff of employees. I think considering the long session we have had, it was the best we have had in any session in the 20 years I have been here.

I again say thanks to each and every one of you for this certificate.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentlemen from Luzerne, Mr. Flack.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, it is with great pleasure that I accept the honor given to me by my colleagues in the House to translate into a more practical way the sentiments expressed by their resolution.

Knowing, Bill Roan, of your sincere and devoted interest in the affairs of the Legion, both state and national; your interest in the state and county government and the work you have done for the Members of the House, we feel that with the closing of this session you will have earned a needed rest and that within the next sixty days you will retire to the wide open spaces to spend considerable time at your favorite pastime namely as a Nimrod.

The membership of the House want me to present this gift to you as an expression of our appreciation for the things you have done for us and the many courtesies you have extended, all of which helped to make our experience in this legislative session just a little more pleasant. We hope that as you trudge through the fields and forest it will contribute to making your recreation more enjoyable.

Therefore, on behalf of my colleagues, all of whom are your friends, I am happy to have the pleasure of presenting to you this gun, and with it go all the fine wishes that one friend can wish for another.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Secretary of the House, Mr. Roan.

The SECRETARY. Mr. Chairman and Members of the House, I am very thankful for this beautiful shot-gun.

I am just wondering whether we will get out of here in time for me to use it.

It has been a pleasure working during this session and the past sessions with the present and former Members of this House.

I want to take this opportunity of thanking the employees in Bill Habbyschaw's and my offices for the wonderful cooperation they have given us. I will assure you that during the interim we will both be at your service; anything we can do for you we will be very happy to do.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Greer.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, friends, relatives and guests, we have partaken of the soup course, the meat course, the vegetables and the salad and it now becomes my duty to almost close up the speaking end of this program tonight by presenting the resolution for dessert.

On the wall back of the Speaker's Chair there is a mural which was painted by Edwin Austin Abbey many years ago, and it is one of the most beautiful murals in the world. It is called the "Apotheosis of Pennsylvania." It is the dedication of those figures in Pennsylvania's history who have made this Commonwealth what it is.

We have the figures there of William Penn, of Benjamin Franklin, of Muhlenberg, Mad Anthony Wayne and various other notables of Pennsylvania history.

I want to call your attention however, to the figure in the lower right corner of the Apotheosis which is the figure of Stephen Girard, a French immigrant, to the United States, a man who was intensely interested in the youth of our country and who founded Girard College. You will observe that he stands there in a paternal attitude with his arm around the shoulder of a little boy.

I think that it is very apropos that directly under that picture, on the rostrum there stands a man who every time we are in session also figuratively places his hands on the shoulders, in a fatherly fashion, of every Member of this House, particularly of the newer Members.

At all times he stands ready to help any Member with his legislative problems, and he does this in addition to his duties as advisor to the Chair, and also to his duties in solving difficult legal legislative impasses. His kindly manner, his quick wit, his pleasant countenance has endeared him to every Member of this House. His ability as a Parliamentarian in Pennsylvania has made his nationally known as the best Parliamentarian in the United States.

In the event you did not know about whom I was speaking it is my pleasure, Mr. Chairman, and my honor to present the following resolution on behalf of Eddie Moore our Parliamentarian, and I ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING AND THANKING THE PARLIAMENTARIAN

Mr. GREER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

The expeditious functioning of a legislative body is dependent in large degree on the extent to which its parliamentary procedure is continuously adequate and correspondingly simple.

Fortunately for this House, we have as our Parliamentarian, the Honorable S. Edward Moore, a man whose knowledge of legislative procedure backed by experience is second to none, and whose guidance and assistance has been of inestimable value to us during this Session of the Legislature. We are delighted also to acknowledge along with his expert advice, and inseparable from it, his ready wit and unfailing good humor; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House extend to our Parliamentarian, the Honorable S. Edward Moore, our sincere appreciation of the personable and able manner in which he has rendered aid and guidance to us during this session, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable S. Edward Moore as evidence of our appreciation of his services as Parliamentarian.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Speaker of the House, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Chairman, there is one among us who began a career of distinguished service to this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1909, 42 years ago, who must be recognized.

Eddie Moore has known and worked with all the Members of this House since then and he has lived through and competently handled practically every conceivable kind of a parliamentary situation. I dare say there is not a man who ever trod these halls who would question the loyalty, ability and integrity of this man, nor in his guiding the affairs of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives would any of them for one moment question his unswerving and unselfish devotion to the well being of this House and the very highest standard of parliamentary procedure.

Through the years, as the gentleman from Butler has said, he has come to be one of the most outstanding parliamentarians in America. This is evidenced by the demand for his services in special cases by the highest parliamentary bodies in the United States. This wealth of experience, this extraordinary talent and capacity is ours for the asking and that has been good for Pennsylvania.

Yet with all his acclaim, the most striking characteristics of this man are his humblity, his gentility, his complete unselfishness, his boundless energy and tireless effort, his complete disregard for his own convenience and his total respect for the convenience of those with whom he works.

Because this man who can make or break a Speaker is so loyal to this House, because he has done so much to raise the level of its practice to an enviable position there is never a question by Republican or Democrat as to who our Parliamentarian should be, because Eddie Moore is so good for all of us; because he has been and is the guiding light of Speakers and of this House, it is appropriate that our gift to him should be a lamp, because of the things he has done for us we know he must love us, and because we love him a lamp to shine for him as he has lighted our way.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Parliamentarian, Mr. Moore.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Chairman, although this is a happy occasion for me, it also is an embarrassing one, for I do not have the words to express the appreciation I feel for the kindness you Members have shown me in presenting this beautiful gift.

The operation of this House is a vast cooperative effort. To be associated with such thoroughbreds as our Speaker, Majority and Minority Leaders, and work with a staff from top to bottom whom I love and esteem, is in itself abundant reward for my efforts.

My closest and dearest friendships over the years have been made on the floor of this House—friendships and memories I shall cherish my whole life through.

Mr. Chairman, before I sit down, may I take the liberty of presenting to the Members of this House the Speaker at our house, my sweetheart and wife, Mrs. Moore. We both join in thanking you again for this beautiful gift.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair has been informed that the Governor of the Commonwealth will appear before us, if we desire.

The Chair appoints as a Committee of Escort, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, Majority Leader, and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, Minority Leader, and ask that they proceed at once in the performance of that duty.

While we are waiting for the Governor, the Chair would like to make several announcements.

I would like to extend an invitation to everyone in this room to attend the reception that will follow immediately in the new House Caucus room on the main floor of the Capitol. In the receiving line will be the officers of the House and their wives. I would ask everyone to greet them there. The gifts that have been presented on the floor of the House will be on display in that same room.

Following the reception in the Caucus room we will immediately go to the cafeteria on the basement floor for a buffet supper. This invitation holds good for that affair also.

Before we close I certainly would like to extend my personal appreciation to the Members of my Committee who have worked so well, and in my opinion did a grand job. I want to thank them personally.

I would also like to express my thanks to the Chief Clerk of the House whose guest we will be at the buffet supper in the cafeteria, and to the other Members of the House and the officers and employes who have assisted in any way in making this affair possible.

I would like to express a personal note of appreciation to Mrs. Bless of the cafeteria who worked so well with me in wrapping the gifts that were presented on the floor this evening. They were beautifully done and I think deserve a note of commendation.

GOVERNOR FINE PRESENTED TO HOUSE

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair is pleased to present to the House, His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable John S. Fine.

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR FINE

The GOVERNOR. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, I am most pleased to have been invited to appear before you tonight at what I am told is a departure-to-be party. While courtesy and good manners will not permit me to state that I am anxious to see you leave, I do recollect the story of "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

We have had ample time to get acquainted and I hope we have all made friendships which I trust will be enduring. I have been happy to work with you. I have admired your ability. I have a continuing respect for your integrity, your honor, your honesty and your intelligence. Above all, I appreciate your friendships and your sympathies.

Men who can think and do simple things and generous acts are men of proportion and dignity. Your kindnesses on my birthday and your sympathies which you fully, frequently and deeply expressed in hours of sorrow will be memories forever engraven on a grateful heart. I thank you for these things.

This has been, as you know, a record session. It has entailed undue hours of thought and labor. Although we have been here for a full period of gestation, all of us are still walking the floor anxiously and expectantly awaiting the birth of an able and robust tax package. Until this very moment that blessed event has been most elusive.

This session has borne so many tax waifs that a fiscal orphanage of expansive dimensions could not take care of all of them and no one now seeks their adoption. Fiscal experts have bloomed frequently for a day to succumb quickly at the approach of nightfall. Fiscally we have labored long, but apparently not so well.

As I look upon you tonight I am reminded that I last appeared before you on March 21st over a half year ago, or six calendar months and five days ago. I ended a half-hour address on that occasion with these two closing significant sentences: "I have recommended the measures which I consider best for all of our taxpayers consonant with good fiscal policies. However, if you should arrive at a better solution of this problem with sufficient additional revenue, you would have my cooperation."

These words still echo through this Legislative Hall with increasing resonance. Despite repeated attempts a better solution has not been presented.

You have labored well here in this branch of the Legislature. In the processes of solution, unexpected and indeed queer happenings occurred. The Legislature tired, sought rest. Recesses were devised on the theory that rest motivates thought. So here we are almost where we were six long months ago. March 1st to March 21st—during the period of the Ides of March. I believe sometimes as they believed in old days, the Ides are really prophetic. I claim no kinship to dead Caesar, nor do I see any resemblance to his ultimately death despite certain similarities.

I am bold to mention Legislative derelictions as these may remind us of probable future electoral maledictions, because a stalemate has arisen for which you are not responsible. I am moved now to worthy comment. If I may again paraphrase Shakespeare at this point, "I do not come to bury anyone or anything tonight. I come to praise," to commend you and to keep the record straight.

I have been most delighted with the leadership of this House on both sides of the aisle. Your distinguished Speaker, Mr. Sorg, has my warm affection and my enduring trust. He is a true friend. Can one say more?

The Majority Leader has been beyond compare in his loyalty. On loyalty or ability there might be a divergence of our opinions, but there could be no divergence of opinion on Mr. Smith's adherence to friends. Charlie has been a sincere, true, able, untiring friend. The accomplishments of this session—and there were many—have the indelible imprint of Charles Smith upon them. I gratefully acknowledge his unselfish contributions to this administration.

Maybe the great leader of the Minority, Hi Andrews, unsurpassable Hi, would prefer no reference made to him, lest he be damned by my praise. However, I could not permit this occasion to pass without saying that he has instilled in me a profound respect for him which party lines enhance rather than diminish.

These men make of public life honored places. They add to the lustre of political preferment and embellish public office. When I speak of them, they are merely symbols, too, of this great body of which all of you are Members. This body has lifted itself to new heights in this session. You have deliberated intelligently, acted wisely and legislated patiently. You have reached the stature of statesmen. The opportunity for commendation has commanded by visit with you here tonight.

Only well laden buffet tables awaiting you on the first floor prevent me from proceeding further with well earned praise for you. Please believe me, Legislators, statesmen, dear friends, my heart goes out to you as I implore God's blessings upon you. Good night.

The CHAIRMAN. Friends and guests we have an added attraction here this evening. One of the boys who sang in the Pennsylvania Industrial School Glee Club has a presentation to make to the Governor at this time.

I would like to present him to you and have him make that presentation, Ronald S. Keyes.

Mr. RONALD S. KEYES. Your Excellency the Governor, as a token of respect from the boys at White Hill and myself, a few months ago I painted this portrait of you. With the help of you and all the men in this room, Mr. Prass, Superintendent of the White Hill Industrial School and Mr. Sweeley, my Art Instructor, I have been able to paint this and get along very well over at White Hill and make something of myself.

At this time I would like to present this portrait to you which I did in oil painting.

The GOVERNOR. I wish to congratulate the young man for doing such a splendid job with what he had to do it with.

At long last someone has painted something about me that I can look at without doing something like that. You know I would sooner be painted with the brush than to be painted with the pen. You have seen some very wierd and queer pictures of me over the last six months. I have been tinted in dark colors. This is done in a little lighter vein, and I appreciate it.

What I want to say to this young man might be put in these words. Yes, his liberty may be restrained; liberty of action, but not the liberty of thought, not the liberty and freedom to see good things in you and me, in men who occupy public office.

Too often, too long, are we who occupy office subjected to pictures painted in darkest colors. I am glad he can get happiness out of art, the art of painting things which mean joy and happiness and delight and pleasure. Yes, you may be in a dark place but you can paint a moon in the skies. You can paint a beautiful dawn when you cannot see the sun, and in your heart can think of the finer things of life to prepare you for a brighter day, the kind of a day that you can paint with liberty unrestrained. I hope for you that the things that are in your heart will continue to guide you because with those things the horizons of the future are still available to you.

Thank you and God bless you.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair thanks the Governor for his splendid address and requests the committee to escort the Governor back to his Chambers.

Ladies and gentlemen, I wish to express my personal appreciation for your fine attention during these ceremonies.

I would ask that the Members remain in their seats until the Speaker returns to the rostrum.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the Chairman of the Committee on Final Adjournment Ceremonies and presents to him this gavel in recognition of the able manner in which he presided over the ceremonies incident to the closing of the 1951 session of the House of Representatives.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move—

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman from Dauphin about to make a motion as to when we were to meet tomorrow?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman was, for the information of the Minority Leader.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, September 26, 1951, at 11:00 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 9:48 p. m. EST.) the House adjourned.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, September 26, 1951.

The Senate met at 12:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM D. McLEAN, Pastor of St. Peters Episcopal Church, Butler, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

We praise Thee, O God, our Heavenly Father, and give Thee thanks for the many and great blessings which Thou hast bestowed upon us.

At this time we commend the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to Thy merciful care. Grant to these, Thy servants, wisdom and strength to know and to do Thy will. Fill them with the love of truth and righteousness, and make them ever mindful of their calling to serve this people in Thy fear. Endow them with wisdom, patience and courage, that Thy way may be made known more abundantly to Thy people and Thy blessings continually increased among us, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. CROWE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The PRESIDENT. The bills will be placed on the Third Reading Postponed Calendar.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BYRNE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BYRNE. Mr. President, I voted in the negative on this motion, along with the other nineteen Democratic Senators in this Senate. We are of the firm opinion that House Bill No. 840, the wage tax, or income tax, or whatever you might call it, is the most burdensome, the most vicious tax—yes, anything you might call it. I agree heartily with the Philadelphia Bulletin and the Philadelphia Inquirer, when they say it is the most unnecessary tax that this State has ever had put before it.

Mr. President, I am a freshman Senator, but after nine months I understand that they are going to recess now until December, come back on the tenth of December, and try and adjourn sine die on the twenty-second of December. They are going to try and straighten out the State's affairs in a few days in December, when for nine months we have been sitting here doing absolutely nothing. They knew from the very beginning that the income tax was very unpopular. Even today on the radio every half hour throughout the State they are giving out reports as to what we are doing here in the Senate, and I think we are making fools of ourselves.

Mr. President, the majority on the other side have the votes to pass any bill they want to, but they know if they pass this bill it is going to face them every way they turn. I feel that the State of Pennsylvania has enough money and will have enough money, and it is a proven fact that after the last biennium they wound up with $60,000,000 over the estimates. In the last five bienniums they wound up with more than ever predicted, and with all indications of prosperity they will wind up with probably $100,000,000 over this biennium, too. There are some sources of income that have to be made necessary, and I see no reason why we cannot provide for that added income, but not to tax the 10,000,000 people of this Commonwealth with the burden. Yes, it is only one-half of one per cent and it does not seem like very much, even with a thousand dollar exemption, but it is only the beginning of the end and it will increase every biennium, you can bet on that, because every school, every hospital and every other public health benefit will keep increasing, and your appropriations will keep increasing and we will wind up with six per cent, like it is in New York State.

Mr. President, it is a wage tax and it is an income tax. I say it is a wage tax because it hits the wage earner; it is an income tax to the businessman. He can deduct his business expenses and whatnot, and then pay the one-half of one per cent on the net, but the man with five, six, seven, eight or nine children will pay a half per cent out of his gross salary. The man who has no children and no responsibility other than himself will pay the same tax. Now, if there is anything fair about that, I cannot see it, and I do not think anybody in the State of Pennsylvania can see it. The sentiment throughout the entire State is absolutely against it, and I cannot for the life of me understand why the Republican side of this Senate is so stubborn in sticking to that State income tax. I think it should be killed today once and for all, and I know that my twenty colleagues along with me are going to vote, if they can possibly do so, to kill the measure today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am amazed and astounded at the action taken by this body this afternoon. After nine months of dillydallying around, trying to make us believe all the necessities of this Commonwealth, of all the commitments made, now we find that the Republican Party has gone on record to recess until almost Christmas, hoping, I am sure, that there may be a Santa Claus. You have no other reason but that. Who are you kidding? Who are you fooling in this great Commonwealth.

Mr. President, we stand ready today to vote for a tax program, although our colleague from Westmoreland County has told you day in and day out that he felt additional taxes were not needed, but we are taking your word for it that you need more money. We stand ready to give you that money. You have put a program before us today providing for a great portion of that money, but you have gone about it the wrong way and now you want to recess. Have you forgotten about the schoolteachers? Have you forgotten about all these people you have cried about and talked about for nine months? If you have sufficient money to pay them, and we now assume you have, it is your responsibility.

Mr. President, I find it is so easy to get thirty votes on bills you want, so easy to get thirty votes to recess, but so difficult to get thirty votes for a tax program. Why? What is wrong over there? What are you lacking, confidence, courage? Is that it, or is it the election? Do you want to come back after election and vote for the tax measures? Is that it?

Last week, Mr. President, not last week, but two days ago to the hour, I believe I paid the highest compliment ever paid any man in this body when I said that I was proud of a group of men who stood up in this Chamber and opposed the income tax. I said they will go down in history as men of great courage. What can I say now? What has happened overnight that even those eleven men have now had a change of heart and agree to postpone this program? Just how long the people of this Commonwealth will put up with this foolishness, I do not know. We have been here for nine months and have been unable to agree on a tax program, and then you pass a resolution you have made up your minds that in ten days you can do it and you will do it. You have proven by a recess adjournment and a sine die resolution that you are going to, in ten days do what you definitely were unable to do in nine months. It just does not make sense, and the people should know that they are being fooled. They are down a dark alley, they do not know where they are going, by lack of leadership, by lack of sincerity and by lack of courage.

Mr. President, we have said time in and time out that we want to cooperate with you, sit down and work out a program, make these commitments. We are still willing to do that, Mr. President. We have told you time in and time out that twenty Democratic votes are definitely solidly against the income tax. We mean that. I said here on Monday afternoon that innocent men are being accused on this tax program. I said, "Bring out the bill, let us vote for it and then find out for ourselves if these men betrayed the confidence of their colleagues."

Mr. President, I tell you right now that there are twenty Democratic votes against the income tax, but there are twenty Democratic votes willing to co-operate to pass a program and to pass House Bill No. 333 and House Bill No. 334. We could easily pass those bills, and we know we have State responsibilities. We are willing to vote for the tax measure that will fulfill the requirements of House Bill No. 333 and House Bill No. 334, but you have not given us the opportunity and you cannot go back home and blame it on us. We will go back home with broader shoulders, and tell the public of the Commonwealth that you have betrayed them, you have failed in your trust, you are dillydallying, marking time, hoping something will happen. You have not lived up to our trust, you have not been loyal, and it is disgraceful to even sit in a body of this type.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I think I will preface my remarks this afternoon with the words of that great humanitarian and statesman, Benjamin Franklin, who said:

"Differences of opinion are to be tolerated when reasons are left free to combat."

Mr. President, it seems to me that there is a vast difference of opinion in the Senate of Pennsylvania in this day of our Lord, and it is surprising to me that the Majority Party took the chance to push through the resolutions for a recess and for adjournment. It seems to me that they should know that the public in general is aroused at the activities of this august body. It seems to me that we are evading our responsibilities to the citizens of this Commonwealth.

I am surprised also, Mr. President, that the Majority Party placed on the Postponed Calendar the other tax bills, excluding House Bill No. 840, because in my humble opinion they possibly, as far as the Democratic side was concerned, had sufficient votes to enact them into law, but they did not want to take the chance. The responsibility, Mr. President, lies with them, because we on the Democratic side were in agreement, all of us, to vote in opposition to House Bill No. 740. We were depending upon those independents on the Republican side to kill this bill once and for all, bring it back up and kill it again and then we will be done with it.

Mr. President, in looking through the History I find that House Bill No. 840 was first introduced in the House of Representatives on March 27, and now we postpone action again, and then we are going to come back and we are going to endeavor to pass House Bill No. 840, I imagine, because the election will be over, and that I believe is the consensus of opinion. The consensus of opinion of the people of Pennsylvania today is that you want to postpone something that is very unpopular until after the November Election, and, if that be true, I say to the Majority Party that this action here today is going to come back to haunt them.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate all of the sincere remarks that have been made by our colleagues on the Minority side of the aisle. I just want to say this to them, and I say this just as carefully as anything could be said on the floor of the Senate, the record that we write here cannot be changed by any verbiage on the floor of the Senate. I do not think the people of Pennsylvania are the least bit confused as to the fact that any program that is finally completed and we adjourn sine die, will be anything else but the responsibility of the Majority Party. I have said repeatedly on this floor that we accept that responsibility.

Now, Mr. President, there has been a suggestion made as to the purpose or the sinister reason for the postponement of this tax program. Mr. President, I think the people of Pennsylvania, because the newspapers have always been alert, understand how these bills got out on this Calendar, and I do not think there is any misunderstanding as to the attitude of what the gentleman from Cambria calls a certain group of courageous rebels and who now are dishonest statesmen.

Mr. President, if and when there is ever a roll call on Final Passage on these bills, any innuendoes as to who voted how will be clarified by the roll that will be ensconced forever in the Journals of this Senate Chamber. If there is any deviation in that roll call from the straw ballots that have been taken here on the hour, every hour, then it will be time for any Member of this Senate on either side of the aisle to stand up and make accusations, but until that roll is called may I suggest to the gentlemen on both sides of the aisle, and particularly the gentlemen of the Minority, that we do not cast any aspersions upon any section of the Majority Party, because we are united in the firm belief that whatever program is resolved will be the program of the Republican Party. We will accept that responsibility as a united party, and when the time comes to call the roll on House Bill No. 840, however the Membership casts that vote, they are willing to do so as Republicans.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened with more than my usual attention to the remarks of the distinguished Majority Leader. Just to keep the record straight, I state publicly here that I opposed in the Finance Committee the release of House Bill No. 840, and I publicly oppose it here.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think the time has come when a few explanations might come in handy in order that when we leave here we can have somewhat of an understanding of what we have done or failed to do to date.

First of all, Mr. President, throughout the entire nine months this Legislature has been in Session, on behalf of the Democratic Party I have offered time and time again to name a committee on the Minority to sit down with either group on the Majority side or with both groups. I felt then and I feel now, that this is not entirely a Republican responsibility. Differences of opinion are apparent here, but there can be no difference in the responsibilities of each and every Member of the Senate of Pennsylvania. A drastic change in the structure of our revenue producing legislation is bound to cause misunderstandings, it is bound to cause a great deal of debate and it is to cause some tempers to be lost control of.

Mr. President, I have tried in the last month to analyze the picture from a purely nonpartisan viewpoint. My colleagues have stated that we were ready to vote on that portion of the tax program that was before us. I do not want to take issue with the House of Representatives, but as you all know the laws of this Commonwealth compel the Senate to act only upon the legislation pertaining to taxation that the House sees fit to give us. The House to date has passed what they call a tax program, a dual tax program. One is called a package and the other one is the so-called income tax. The Senate Finance Committee met. Senator Barr and myself voted to present this Income Tax measure to the floor, after votes in the committee failed to present the package as a whole to the floor.

Mr. President, the question of whether this particular bill is right or wrong, of course, is not before us at this time. I can imagine there would be some interesting comments on that subject from both sides, but right now we are faced with a long recess and again I offer, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, whatever help we can give in resolving this important question. When we started out in March, in my analysis of the budget and on the face of the Governor's message, it appeared to me that with the passage of a one per cent increase in C. N. I.

tax and in a repeal of the soda Pop tax, that there was a net gain of approximately $15,000,000, and that the Governor's necessary funds were calculated to be $1,000,000 more than the biennium appropriations of 1949. On the surface, and from the knowledge at my command at that time, I could draw no other conclusion except that no new taxes were necessary in Pennsylvania. However, in digging around down into the hidden pages of the budget, looking into the expenditures of the past biennium, I find that Governor Jim Duff had $67,000,000 of a surplus, as against $18,000,000 of a surplus that Governor Fine had, leaving a deficit for Governor Fine of $49,000,000.

Mr. President, I also find that Governor Duff took approximately $25,000,000 from appropriated funds of this General Assembly that were appropriated for specific purposes. He took this money out of these funds of this General Assembly that were appropriated for specific purposes. He took this money out of these funds and spent that in addition to what the Legislature had appropriated. Then I also found, Mr. President, that Governor Duff took something like $20,000,000 to $22,000,000 worth of projects, which were being financed by State appropriations, out of the Department of Forests and Waters, put it into the General State Authority and spent that amount of money over and above the appropriated sums of this Legislature.

Now, Mr. President, I do not know why the people of Pennsylvania ought not know these things. I say to the Majority Party that if you tell the people of Pennsylvania of the dereliction of the Duff Administration and its expenditures, then you can go to the people with better grace in asking for $138,000,000. It cannot easily be built up. The Legislature must assume the responsibility. If we pass the two school bills that are on Second Reading, it must face the responsibility of $64,000,000 over and above that amount requested by the Governor of the Commonwealth. If I vote for the added appropriations, I am duty bound to vote for the necessary tax legislation to cover these additional costs. Is there a man in this Senate who will not vote for the school teachers' increases? I think not. Then, if we intend to vote for that, please keep in mind during the recess that you have to provide the funds for doing it.

Yes, Mr. President, it is a Republican responsibility, they say, to present the tax program. That is true, but it is the House of Representatives' responsibility to take into consideration the desires and the wishes of the Upper Chamber of this Legislature. There is nothing in the Constitution that says we must take any tax bill or any group of tax bills that the House thinks fit to give us. That would be an untenable position for this General Assembly to find itself in. If you had a House of Representatives that was not composed of high type men, persons of good character, they could pass a tax program that might destroy the economy of the Commonwealth, and if the Senate of Pennsylvania must take that tax program, then you might as well wipe out the Senate of Pennsylvania as a chamber of government.

Mr. President, we have a responsibility, we have a responsibility of selection. The House can pass a program, the Senate can reject it. The House then is duty bound to come up with another program, and keep doing that until we come to a position where we can vote for the necessary funds for the Commonwealth's needs. I, for one, believe that on this side of the Senate you will find men of moral courage who will vote for the funds that are needed to meet the expenses of government that we vote for. I am sorry that Mr. Logan, the Secretary of the Budget, cannot see eye to eye with my analysis of the budget. Maybe when we come back in December, we will have had enough experience in the collection of the present taxes, and we will have had enough experience in the trends that may become apparent, or will be apparent, in the earnings of the individuals and the corporate interests of the Commonwealth, and maybe by that time Mr. Logan, in a sincere effort to help the Legislature solve the fiscal problem, will come up with estimates that we can accept.

I still say, Mr. President, that we will have approximately $50,000,000 for each per cent of corporate net. I still say, Mr. President, that the closing of the loopholes in C. N. I. which has already been signed—the act has already been signed by the Governor—will produce in this biennium a minimum of $15,000,000 and a maximum of $25,000,000, depending upon the diligence with which that act is pursued in its administration. I am hopeful that when we come back, instead of needing, as the present picture now appears to be, $138,000,000, we may need $90,000,000 or $80,000,000, and I say to the President and to the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, that I, for one, will vote for the necessary funds to see to it that the State's services do not suffer.

Mr. President, government is an agency of the people. It works in behalf of the services that the people need, but the people have to pay for those services. In the dark jungles of Africa they have none of the sanitary conditions that we call civilization, none of the schools, none of the health and welfare legislation, hospitals, all of the things that we call civilization. These things we have, they do not have them. They do not have taxes either, but even in the darkest depths of Africa the tribal members have to pay tribute to the chief. The chief in this instance is government. All of us have to pay tribute if we want the protection of government.

Mr. President, it has long been a philosophy of mine that government is protection, and that the more that you have which needs protection, the more you ought to pay towards that protection. That is why the Democratic Party for years and years has attempted to get the passage of a graduated income tax, because we believe that this State must eventually have a broad base tax, and if it is passed, if we can get together on a constitutional convention and pass that act, then the people can vote in November upon the machinery for a constitutional convention. Now that we have presented to the people for nine months the picture of a flat income tax, I am of the firm conviction that if the people have a choice they will vote for a graduated income tax. Sooner or later the Legislatures that will come in 1953, in 1955, in 1957 will find that this tax program, no matter what we decide upon, will be inadequate, because preceding Legislatures have added to the cost of government by mandated increases in education and by the new health program.

I am convinced, Mr. President, that if the new health program reaches its final stages, after a study of the bill, in a ten year period this Legislature will have to find funds amounting to three hundred to four hundred millions of dollars. You see, we voted for the health program. In this biennium, you are going to need $10,000,000 more than what the Governor asked for in March to meet that program that we voted for. You have to take that into consideration when you figure how much money we need. So, Mr. President, although the income tax appears to be at this moment a dead piece of legislation, and although it may again flutter its wings in December, I doubt, unless there is a great deal of change of heart, that that bill will pass.

Mr. President, the conferees who work during the interim must make a sincere effort to come before the Legislature with a program, and alternative program other than the income tax, because if they come back in December with the income tax as the only vehicle for this Legislature to ride on, they may find that we will have to recess again and again and again.

Mr. President, I am hoping that the Republican Party will accept the offer of the Democratic Party. We are men of ordinary intelligence, and I have found that that is all we need, and I think that we will give it an honest effort. We will try to help solve the problem. It is not your problem, it is our problem. Maybe some people in Pennsylvania think we have not worked too hard. Well, maybe we haven't. I know that there have been days when men on my side of the Senate have unwittingly contributed to the misunderstanding, have given out reports to the newspapers that have caused some newspaper writers, on occasions to try to destroy the character of one or two of the Members of the Senate. I understand that a piece was written about me in the paper, but you know a long time ago I decided that during a campaign, and during a Session of the Legislature, I do not read editorials. I try to read the news and the funnies. I do not read editorials because the men that write those editorials do not have to vote on the Senate floor, and what they say today they can change tomorrow, but when I vote today I cannot change it tomorrow. Mr. President, in going through a book last night I ran across a poem. I would like to read it to the Senate because to me it sums up what I think are a man's ideals.

"A MAN'S IDEAL"

"To live as gently as I can;
To be, no matter where, a man;
To take what comes of good or ill
And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best and let that stand,
The record of my brain and hand;
And then, should failure come to me,
Still work and hope for victory.
To have no secret place wherein
I stoop unseen to shame and sin;
To be the same when I'm alone,
As when my every deed is known;
To live undaunted, unafraid,
Of any step that I have made;
To be without pretense or sham;
Exactly what men think I am."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have no desire to create an anticlimax. I do not want to debate whatever tax program might be before us in December. I know there is a thought that there is serious hope in certain places that as far as the tax programs are concerned, perhaps some more of the Senators will love it in December more than in May.

Mr. President, I just want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, much of what he said I agree to. He knows as well as I do that when we come back in December, he and I will debate the Duff tax program and the Duff Administration, because when he talks about the dereliction in the Duff Administration he touches me where it hurts, and he and I will debate it in December because I do not propose to overlook it during the recess.

Mr. President, may I say also I will certainly join the Minority Leader if there is an attempt made to surround Doctor Logan and see if we can get his estimates back up where all economists in the United States put them. I would be very happy to have him join me in that venture, because we have had at least a nine months' struggle now.

Mr. President, if we can turn our attention for just a moment from the problem of taxation and return to the Calendar, unless the gentleman has something further.

HOUSE BILL No. 1703 CALLED UP

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I call up from the Second Reading Calendar House Bill No. 1703, for the purpose of amendment.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1703, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the General Assembly and to the Legislative Reference Bureau for the payment of mileage compensation of employes and contingent expenses

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WALKER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 4, lines 7 and 8, by striking out the words "thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof "fifty thousand dollars ($50,000)"; Amend Section 1, page 2, line 9, by striking out the words and figures "six thousand dollars ($6000)" and inserting in lieu thereof "eight thousand dollars ($8000)"; Amend Sec. 1, page 4, lines 10 and 11, by striking out the words "two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500)" and inserting in lieu thereof "five thousand dollars ($5,000)"; Amend Section 1, page 2, lines 11 and 12, by striking out the words and figures "twenty thousand dollars ($20,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof "ninety thousand dollars ($90,000)."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were read and agreed to. And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended, announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood)

Senate Bill No. 656, entitled:

An Act to amend section 401 of the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 571), entitled "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county, borough, town, township, school except in cities and county institution district purposes; and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof or such purposes; creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; defining the powers and duties of such boards; providing for the acceptance of this act by cities; regulating the office of ward, borough, town and township assessors; abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class; providing for the appointment of a chief assessor, assistant assessors and other employes; providing for their compensation payable by such counties; prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds; and eliminating the triennial assessment," by changing the provisions relating to the appointment of chief assessors; requiring that the chief assessor devote full time to his office; imposing duties and conferring power on the Department of Internal Affairs; providing for examinations for chief assessors and creating a committee to prepare such examinations.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 356

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, (If the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 356, Printer's No. 897, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 382), entitled "Municipality Authorities Act of 1945," by extending the provisions thereof to school districts for limited purposes; changing provisions for incorporation, withdrawal from and joinder in authorities, amendment of articles of incorporation, boards of Authorities and citizenship of members thereof; and providing for extensions of corporate existence, transfers of existing facilities to Authorities, and conveyance of projects upon termination or assumption of liabilities.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of further consideration.

FORMER SENATOR LEADER PRESENTED TO SENATE

SENATE RESOLUTION

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROBLEMS CONNECTED WITH THE PHYSICAL EXPANSION OF LINCOLN UNIVERSITY

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. STIEFEL, SCARLETT, KEPHART, NEFF and ROSENFELD, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Whereas, Lincoln University the oldest institution in the world established to provide a higher education for young Negroes, is facing on the threshold of its centennial milestone of magnificent service, multifaceted problems, of physical expansion, and

Whereas, the location of Lincoln University in the proximity of the Philadelphia Metropolitan area, makes this constantly-expending Seat of Learning easily accessible to a large segment of Pennsylvania's citizenry, and

Whereas, the reputation of Lincoln University for scholarship attainments, quality of teaching and contributions to communal leadership has been acknowledged universally, and

Whereas, the expansion problems of Lincoln University, located in the heart of rural Chester County are not in the realm of land acquisition, so characteristic of Pennsylvania's great urban Seats of Learning, but require a solution mainly through building constructions such as the erection of a New Dining Hall, addition of wing to Science Building, enlargement of present Library, replacement alteration and new construction of dormitory facilities and enlargement of physical education facilities, and

Whereas, the solution of the expansion problems of Lincoln University through an adequate construction program, will make this honored 98-year old institution more serviceable to Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, the citizenry of Pennsylvania has thus a vital interest in the success of such program, now therefore be it

Resolved that the Joint State Government Commission be authorized and directed and is hereby authorized and directed to make a study of the problems connected with the physical expansion of Lincoln University, reporting and making recommendations to the General Assembly at its next regular Session as the Commission may deem necessary together with such legislation that may be required for the implementation of said recommendations.

SENATE RESOLUTION

ACTUARY OF THE STATE EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT SYSTEM TO STUDY CERTAIN SENATE BILLS

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WADE, STEVENSON, and DENT, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, September 26, 1951.

Whereas, a group of Senate Bills (Nos. 854 to 862, Printer's Nos. 592 to 600), appear on the Senate Calendar for action, and the Members of the Senate desire more complete information upon the effect of the various Retirement Funds.

Whereas, It would be unwise to pass upon this group of bills without full knowledge of the facts pertinent to their effect on the affected retirement funds, particularly with respect to the resultant additional costs to the State system; now therefore be it

Resolved (by the Senate), That the actuary for the State Employees' Retirement System shall study Senate Bills Nos. 854 to 862 (Printer's Nos. 592 to 600), with a view to presenting to the Senate a concise statement of the effect of each and all of such bills, if enacted into law, upon various Employees' retirement System with especial emphasis upon the added financial burden there-to; and be it further

Resolved, That such report shall be presented to the Senate not later than December 10, 1951.

SENATE BILL NO. 836 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Bill No. 836, just returned by the Governor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

JOHN S. FINE.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be laid on the table.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, we have been here nine months, and there have been many many figures given by different Members of the Senate of what the appropriations for the present fiscal policy in the State can be cut to. Some Members have said it could be cut $20,000,000. I think I read in the paper the other day where the Majority Leader said it could be cut $30,000,000, and I have submitted a detailed account where it can be cut $40,000,000.

Now, Mr. President, that we have come to a place where we are not going anywhere, and are calling a recess so we can get back on the track to go somewhere, I think it might be well that during this recess a committee be formed by the Senate to co-operate with business, industry, the Pennsylvania Economy League and the Chamber of Commerce to study the figures of the appropriations that are appearing in the budget, and see where cuts can be had and study the suggestions made by different Members of the Senate. Then maybe we can get back on the track to economy in government, that we all love to talk so much about but do nothing about.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE TO MAKE CERTAIN STUDIES

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOLLAND, offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, (by the Senate) That a subcommittee of five members of the Appropriations Committee of the Senate, three from the majority party and two from the minority party, to be appointed by the Chairman of such Senate Committee, shall make a study of all appropriations presently before the Senate for consideration to determine where reductions in such proposed appropriations can and cannot be made. In such study, they shall consult with the State Chamber of Commerce, the Pennsylvania Economy League, the heads of departments of the State government and other parties in interest; and be it further

Resolved, That such subcommittee shall submit a report of its findings and recommendations to the Senate on December 10, 1951.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, there are fifty Members of the Senate, and I think if we consulted the fifty Members, each individually, they would disagree with the figures of that wizard, Logan. I have had the opportunity in the last few weeks to have a very careful study of these estimates made by men who know a great deal about how industry is progressing at this time, the profits being made, the difference in capital stocks and especially, judging from the income that has been made up to date, the corporate net income. The "Wizard of Oz," Mr. Logan, is completely out in his estimates.

Mr. President, I think it is time for us to get a true fiscal picture of the state of affairs, and after nine months here, judging from the incomes that are now in, we can make an estimate of what the future is on incomes from taxes now on the books. For instance, take as an example, one of the large steel corporations of this State has estimated on the basis of the first nine months, and they show that in this biennium they shall pay to the State an increase in corporate net incomes of ninety-one per cent over the last biennium. This is at a conservative estimate because most of these concerns are enlarging their plants, increasing their steel production, and this estimate will go much higher than ninety-one per cent in their extension. However, when you talk to the Budget Controller, he does not wish to discuss with you the reports from Wall Street, financial reports from the companies in this State. He does not consider the estimates given to him by business, which is paying the taxes, and he says these figures are holy. You cannot in any way differ with them because he has not made only his figures holy, but he has made himself holier than thou.

Now, Mr. President, I believe that the time has come when we should get the right figures, and if we are going to have this recess, do not let us come back here on December 10 and go over this same squabble we have gone over the last nine months, of not finding out the true figures of what the taxes take in.

Therefore, Mr. President, I hope that this will not go the way of all resolutions which are offered to bring economy into government, into the ash can. I hope at least they will consider it. The Chairman of the Finance Committee is here, and I think it is up to him, if he wishes to object, and not the Majority Leader of the Republican Party of the Senate. I think that the Chairman of the Finance Committee, who is a very serious, hard worker, should go along with this resolution because the matter is in his committee. He has the right to appoint the committee that I asked him to appoint, and to bring back to us the true figures of his fiscal policy of this State.

Mr. President, with a fervent prayer, I present this resolution and hope that we will have the consent of the Chairman of the Finance Committee to see that this is enacted immediately. He has the opportunity of appointing the committee to go to work, so that at least the people of the State of Pennsylvania will not look upon the Senate of Pennsylvania as just followers of a man who thinks he can figure but can't.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, it is my fervent hope that what I am about to do will not destroy the gentleman's faith in his prayers.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE COMMITTEE OF FINANCE TO MAKE A STUDY OF TAX COLLECTIONS

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, September 26, 1951.

Whereas, Almost four months of the new fiscal biennium have passed and the Senate does not have definite information on taxes actually collected during such period; and

Whereas, Until such information is received, it cannot know whether the budget estimates of tax collections which have been submitted are reliable and therefore cannot act upon any further taxation measures with assurance; therefore be it

Resolved (by the Senate), That a subcommittee of five members from the Senate Finance Committee, three from the majority party and two from the minority party, to be appointed by the Chairman of such committee, shall study the estimated tax collections as set forth in the budget for the period beginning with the new fiscal year to date as against actual collections for such period to determine the accuracy of the budget figures; and be it further

Resolved, That in making such study they shall consult with representatives of industry and the Pennsylvania Economy League with particular respect to the said figures for the capital stock tax and the corporate net income tax with representatives of public utilities with respect to the gross receipts tax figures; and be it further

Resolved, That such committee shall submit its report to the Senate on December 10, 1951.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, so that the gentleman will not think that I have lost faith in prayer, I really believe that the Senate has gone so far today that even prayer cannot help them.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman's remarks will be noted in the record.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will state his point of information.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, this afternoon this body passed a resolution asking for a recess, along with a sine die resolution dated the twenty-second day of December. I have been informed that since that resolution passed, the House of Representatives rejected the resolution. Now, of course, they are still in session and I am told they may reconsider the previous action, but my point is, Mr. President, in the event that the House should reject our resolution to a recess until the tenth day of December, what is the status of this body?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate and the desk, at the present moment, have no information as to any action the House may have taken in regard to the resolution you mentioned.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in the event that, since we are at ease more or less, the House should reject the resolution, could we now arrive at a decision?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, there is nothing before the Senate which would require a ruling of that type, and until it is before the Senate, it would be rather insincere for us to attempt a ruling upon a matter that is not before us.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is correct, and I shall renew the question later on.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Cambria.

RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL No. 668

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STEVENSON, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, September 26, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that Senate Bill No. 668, Printer's No. 357, entitled "An act to designate the several judicial districts of the Commonwealth as required by the Constitution and to provide for the election and commissioning of judges learned in the law for the said districts," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. JOHN C. MILLER and ROBERT K. HAMILTON. RESOLUTION No. 82.

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

Whereas, The increased number of housing developments in suburban and rural areas has superimposed problems upon these areas with which they are often unprepared to cope; and

Whereas, The laws governing these suburban and rural areas and the attitudes of the population therein are frequently attuned to life in sparsely settled rural areas rather than the dense population now burdening them and creating problems associated with the gathering of dense masses of people in small areas; and

Whereas, The problem of sewerage, sanitation, and collection of refuse, which require municipal guidance, control and action in order to safeguard the well-being and health of the populace often cannot be met by newly organized communities or by old communities newly saturated with population overflowing the borders of nearby cities; and

Whereas, Individual attempts at sewerage disposal such as septic tanks have frequently proved inadequate and inefficient, and consequently the cause of disease and discomfort; and

Whereas, Lack of garbage collection has caused the piling up and collection of refuse near human habitations and along public highways in such a manner as to create eyesores, spread disease and to emit other manifestations of filth and uncleanness so as to raise grave doubts about our much vaunted high standards of living; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study the problem of sanitation in the various suburban communities of this Commonwealth with particular stress on sewerage and collection of garbage and other refuse, and the effects upon the population of the communities concerned; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly, together with such proposed legislation as may be necessary to carry out the same.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. VAN SANT, Mrs. MARKLEY and Mr. STIMMEL. RESOLUTION No. 83.

In the House of Representatives, September 25, 1951.

Whereas, Mr. Charles Ettinger, legislative reporter for the Allentown newspapers, celebrates a birthday anniversary on this twenty-fifth day of September; and

Whereas, Mr. Ettinger's interest in boxing as a manager and promoter, and his intensive interest in baseball, as well as his public spirited work as chairman of the Allentown Housing Authority have marked him as a person who has caught the public fancy and well deserves the commendation and plaudits of his fellow citizens; and

Whereas, Mr. Ettinger's long career in newspaper work which started immediately upon his graduation from Muhlenberg College in 1907, has been of a varied nature and has distinguished him as a man of integrity who has observed his duties of informing the reading public of all facts concerning issues or happenings covered by his reports; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby congratulates Mr. Ettinger on his recent birthday anniversary and extends to him its wishes for many more such anniversaries in the future; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Charles Ettinger.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. HALL asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Ways and Means to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House.

SENATE MESSAGES

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 24, 1951.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 1505, Printer's No. 805, entitled "An act to amend the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 510) entitled 'An act providing for the licensure and regulation of certain private nursing homes and private hospitals conferring certain powers and duties upon the Department of Welfare and providing penalties' by further providing for the licensure and regulation of such nursing homes and hospitals," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

AMENDED HOUSE BILLS RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL No. 1283.

An Act authorizing the Orphans' Courts of the several counties upon application therefor to place documents defined as historical documents in the temporary custody of certain associations maintaining facilities for public display of historical writings conferring powers and imposing duties on registers of wills.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER.. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 4, page 3, line 5, by inserting after the word "certified" the word "photostatic."

Amend the bill, page 3, by striking out all of lines 7 to 14 inclusive and inserting in lieu thereof the following

Section 5 The register of will may at any time without cause petition the Orphans' Court for the return of any historical document the custody of which had been previously transferred to any association.

Section 6 The Orphans' Court of any county after having taken jurisdiction of the transfer of any historical document may without cause and upon its own motion order the association having such temporary custody to return such document to the register of will of the county wherein it had been originally filed

This act shall become effective on January 15 1952.

NOT VOTING— 2

DuBois, Westrick,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 726.

An Act to amend the title and further amend Subsections A C and E of Section 1 one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1145) entitled "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employees to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" by extending the provisions thereof to include townships of the second class as to certain taxes

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 1, by striking out after the letter "A" the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof "C and E"; page 2, line 9, by striking out after the word "by" the following: "including townships of the second class within the classes of political subdivisions authorized to impose taxes under the provisions thereof" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "extending the provisions thereof to include townships of the second class as to certain taxes."

Amend section 2, page 4, line 6, by striking out after the letter "A" the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof "C and E"; page 4, line 13, by striking out after the second word "class" the words "townships of the second class"; page 6, by inserting after line 15 the following: "Subject to the limitations prescribed in this act the duly constituted authorities of townships of the second class may in their discretion by ordinance or resolution for general revenue purposes levy assess and collect or provide for the levying assessment and collection of any one or more of the following taxes within the limits of such townships

(1) A per capita tax upon individuals

(2) A tax on sales involving the transfer of title of real property

(3) A tax on admissions to places of amusement athletic events and the like

(4) A tax on the use or occupancy of house trailers suitable for living quarters

No township shall levy a per capita tax for the same period for which it levies an occupation tax."

Page 8, by inserting after line 7 the following:

"E Limitations on rates of specific taxes no taxes shall be levied by any political subdivisions on the following subjects exceeding the rates specified in this subsection

(A) Per capita poll or other similar head taxes $10 except in townships of the second class $5

(B) On each dollar of the whole volume of business transacted by wholesale dealers in goods wares and merchandise 1 mill by retail dealers in goods wares and merchandise and by proprietors of restaurants or other places where food drink and refreshments are served 1½ mills except in cities of the second class where rates shall not exceed 1 mill on wholesale dealers and 2 mills on retail dealers and proprietors no such tax shall be levied on the dollar volume of business transacted by wholesale and retail dealers derived from the resale of goods wares and merchandise taken by any dealer as a trade-in or as part payment for other goods wares and merchandise except to the extent that the resale price exceeds the trade-in allowance

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have a very interesting letter to read to you that involves everyone of you.

This letter did not come to me; it was sent to the Chairman of the Game Commission, George Goodling and the Chairman of the Fish Committee, Allen Gibson. But I think it is interesting and important, because it marks a definite milestone in the relations that exist between the Assembly and the sportsmen of the state.

I can remember quite a few years back when game and fish legislation was proposed and was being considered in the House when various sportsmen and in fact sportsmen's groups considered the whole program as being in the hands of a bunch of politicians who could not be trusted with the future laws and rules and regulations regarding the effective management of our wild-life resources.

So it was with surprise and also with pleasure that I learned that the Northcentral Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs which includes the counties of Cameron, Clearfield, Elk, Jefferson, McKean and Potter, at their last meeting this fall passed a resolution, and the resolution is incorporated into the letters which were sent to Mr. Goodling, Mr. Gibson and also to the Honorable Arthur Blass, Senator and Chairman of the Senate Committee on Game, Fish and Forestry.

If you will bear with me a little while I think you will be interested in what the letter says.

"The Officers and Members of the Northcentral Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs wishes to express to you, the members of your committee, and to all the members of the House of Representatives their thanks and appreciation for your efforts in having the laws that were approved by the State Federation enacted into law.

At our meeting of August 5, 1951, a resolution was adopted that the thanks of the sportsmen of our division to be sent to you and your committee for your efforts in our behalf. Below is a copy of the resolution that was adopted for your further information.

Resolved:

That the Officers and Members of the Northcentral Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs express their thanks and appreciation to the Honorable Arthur Blass, Chairman, Senate Committee on Game and Fish, and to the Honorable George A. Goodling, Chairman, Game and Forestry Committee and Honorable Allen Gibson, Chairman of the Fish Committee, House of Representatives, and the members of their committees, and to all the members of the State Legislature, for their efforts in having the laws that were approved by the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs enacted into law.

Approved, August 5, 1951
Northcentral Division Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.
H. E. DuBroux, Division Secretary"

Well gentlemen, I want to say that considerable credit for the game and fish laws that were enacted and passed by this House, must be given to all the Members of this House. Almost all of them passed without a dissenting vote. There were a few of them that were controversial and of course they did not get unanimous consent. However, the vote was usually overwhelming in favor of the legislation because it was considered legislation, it was legislation that was needed for the management of wild life resources.

But I, as one of those who took part in having this legislation pass this House, want to call your attention to a few other Members of this House who deserve particular mention.

One of those is George Shoemaker. The day this session opened there was not a feeling of cooperation. The sportsmen, the various Commissions, particularly the Game Commission in this House were as wide apart as could be. There was a lot of dissension. There were quite a number of bills considered by various Members that they would like to have enacted that would have damaged the Game and Fish program in this State. But George Shoemaker took it upon himself to be the great peacemaker. He got the various elements together; he got Members of the House and Members of the Senate and members of the Game Commission, members of the Fish Commission and representatives of the Sportsmen's Clubs together and he drew them together; figuratively he knocked their heads together, and he said, "Now wait a minute. Work this thing out so that we can all be satisfied." And that has happened, as this letter proves and is testimony to the fact.

Also Ed Tompkins took a very active part in the program that was passed, and the various members of the committee and, of course, we on this side have our members too. In fact, I can say truthfully that every Member of this House at some particular time during the past nine months has played an important part in getting the game and fish bills through that we have passed.

I say that it is greatly to your credit and it has now been openly and publicly acknowledged that this House is a great friend of the wildlife resources of this state.

I want to say too that I think in the future whether or not one of us is here or all of us are here, the program concerning wild-life at the next session of the Legislature will be carried on with as much credit to this House as the one this year.

I want to thank you for your efforts on behalf of the program and add my appreciation to the appreciation of the sportsmen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HEADLEE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, being a new Member in the House of Representatives perhaps I should keep quiet. But the editorial that I am about to read before this House and into the record affects practically all of Pennsylvania's ten million plus population. This editorial appeared last week in Greene County's daily newspaper, The Democrat-Messenger. The subject of this editorial was 'Pounded to Pieces.'

Just how much damage is heavy commercial truck traffic doing to our highways?

Any motorist can pretty well answer that with the evidence of his own eyes. And, in addition, he can substantiate that evidence with the views of the experts.

In October, 1949, the American Association of State Highway Officials said in a resolution: "This ruinous practice of overloading our roads is destroying our primary highways faster than we can build or replace them."

In February, 1949, the American Automobile Association said: "Billions of dollars worth of the nation's finest highways are being pounded to pieces by overweight and overloading commercial vehicles."

At the same time, Thomas H. MacDonald, U. S. Commissioner of Public Roads, said: "We are overloading our highways in their traffic volume capacity and in their structural capacity. There is more than ample proof . . . Prior to the war, damage had reached alarming proportions. With the marked increase in heavy loads since the end of the war, the damage has become even more alarming."

The highway departments of 41 states have reported that overloaded trucks are damaging their roads.

Evidence of this character could be recited for page after page. What, then, is the solution? First, loads should be kept within reasonable limits, and violators of the law should be severely punished. Second, the commercial users of our highways should foot their fair share of the bill for building and maintaining roads which are required to handle their heavy loads. Neither of those things is being done today.

Mr. Speaker, to me this Legislature should have reduced the load limit instead of increasing it. Just last week an editorial appeared in a Harrisburg paper saying that two trucks would now do the work of three; that the Turnpike Commission would lose one truck toll out of each three trucks that previously used the Turnpike.

You only need to travel the Turnpike and there you can see mute evidence of how the trucks are pounding the road to pieces. There you see the new sections of concrete being constructed to replace those pounded to pieces. The Turnpike is not the only road where new sections are being constructed. Right on our principal United States Route 19 in Green County you will find this condition. You will also find such construction on United States Route 19 in Washington County, and to my understanding this is going on all over the state.

I talked with a captain of our State Police recently and he is very much concerned over the way our highways are being pounded to pieces.

I could continue reciting such conditions, but I just wanted to bring this to the attention of the House. This is a problem that will require a lot of study and understanding between the two factions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McMILLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I think we this morning still feel very freshly in our minds the magnificent presentations that took place here last night.

The beautiful resolutions that were presented in connection with the ceremonies, I feel should again be made into a record made available to us as a collective unit, and for that purpose, Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

THE CHIEF CLERK (William E. Habbyslaw) In The Chair

RESOLUTIONS

PRESENTATION CEREMONIES TO BE PRINTED

Mr. McMILLEN offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 26, 1951

Resolved, that the Chief Clerk of the House be directed to have printed the resolution of congratulation to the Speaker of the House, introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C Smith, on September 25, 1951, together with the remarks of the members of the House relating thereto; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy thereof be sent to each member of the House.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE
RESOLUTION No. 46

Mr. GUARNIERI offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, that the committee on Rules be discharged from further consideration of House Resolution No. 46, Serial No. 55, said resolution having been in the hands of said committee for a period of ten days and more, having been referred on May 16th, 1951.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, at this late date in the session of the House it is not for us to delay the House over long or any resolution at this time.

However, this resolution to give the Members the benefit of the contents thereof, proposes that the Joint State Government Commission be appointed to make a study of the various branches of the State Government, especially the executive department, with the end in view that a necessary reorganization be recommended, overlapping functions be eliminated and that administration be made more efficient. The stated purpose, of course, being that in that manner we can effect economy.

At this time, Mr. Speaker, not to belabor the House, we know that there has been much discussion as to need for appropriations for this or that bureau or agency, whether the budget requests asked by the Governor have been appropriate or not. There has been much difference of opinion and men have differed in their opinions honestly in many cases, because we did not have all the facts.

I think, Mr. Speaker, such a commission is called for at this time. In fact, the Council of State Governments has been working with various state organizations and making recommendations for state activity for reorganization purposes.

In the issue of "State Government" for January 1951, there is an article on governmental organization on page 13, in which the Council of State Governments which is the council for the various State Governments of the United States, sees the necessity for effective economical administration through proper reorganization administration of trained personnel. Other states have been doing this very thing today.

The year 1951 is pointed out as the year for reorganization, and I think we should have the benefit of that resolution on the floor of this House. In fact, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Ray L. Riley, on the other side of the House, my Republican friend, has also introduced Bill 1686 which has a similar purpose. It is immaterial whether it is a Democratically inspired bill or resolution or Republican inspired bill or resolution. The need for such action at this time is urgent, and in view of the great confusion we have had about the budget it is very necessary.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, time and time again I have said on the floor of this House that voting for a resolution to discharge a committee is not a vote on the merits or the demerits of any bill or resolution.

Our committees are still operating; we are meeting every day, sometimes two and three times a day. I personally have great faith in the democratic process of committee meetings, and because of our confidence and the way our committees have worked in the past I would ask that this House vote down all discharge resolutions.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Guarneri and Mr. Petrosky and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 307

Mr. GUARNIERI offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, That the Committee on City and County—First Class, be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 307, entitled "An act to extend the powers of the board of health in cities of the first class to abate certain public nuisances," said bill having been in the hands of said committee for a period of ten days and more, having been referred on February 14th, 1951.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 307 was referred to the Committee on City and County—First Class February 14th. House Bill 308, 309, 310 are companion measures to House Bill 307.

These bills seek to eliminate the use of open grounds in the City of Philadelphia for dumping purposes. Especially in the lower end of South Philadelphia there is a tremendous area which has been devoted to public dumping. In fact the Board of Health in Philadelphia licenses various licensees to use these areas for dumping purposes. Right adjacent thereto is a tremendous populated area which I represent and my friends Mr. Dougherty, Amaranando, Mr. Peta and Mrs. Varallo.

In the last session of the Legislature, identical bills such as these were introduced and no action was taken. Again Mr. Tahl, the Chairman of the Committee of City and County—First Class has had, since February 14, 1951 to consider these measures but no action has been taken thereon to date.

I want to say this, Mr. Speaker, without laboring too far, despite the House Rule Charter of Philadelphia this is still a matter within the jurisdiction of the Legislature to pass upon, and it affects public health. It is a very necessary piece of legislation for this House to consider.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Guarnieri and Mr. Petrasky and were as follows:

Mr. HEWITT asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Mines and Mining to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we the Members of the Democratic minority in this House are about to present a series of discharge resolutions on legislation which is bottled up in committees which is very beneficial, which is social and humane legislation that is very essential to the people of the Commonwealth.

In order not to take up too much time of the House in a presentation of this series of resolutions we will present them and accept a party vote on the resolutions. We will finally present on omnibus discharge resolution incorporating many bills in various committees.

We ask the Membership of the House to vote in favor of these discharge resolutions, and if the Majority agrees to it, we are agreed to take a party vote on them.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 169

Mr. MORAN offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, that the Committee on Public Utilities be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 169, Title: "An Act relating to common carriers, making certain acts relating to clearance unlawful; imposing certain duties and conferring powers upon the Public Utility Commission and the Attorney General; and prescribing penalties for violations."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Public Utilities, on February 13, 1951.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a statement which I do not want to take the time of the House to read. I submitted it with the resolution for the record.

The SPEAKER. The statement of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. MORAN submitted the following statement:

House Bill 169 sets up minimum standards relating to clearance and conferring certain duties and powers upon the Public Utility Commission and the Attorney General and prescribed penalties for violation thereof.

Our purpose in proposing this legislation is actuated solely from the standpoint of eradicating many unsafe and hazardous conditions which now exist on the railroads operating in the state of Pennsylvania.

There is nothing in this legislation which compels any railroad or corporation to remove any building, bridge or any other permanent obstacles but it does compel that in the future any new construction must conform with the specifications outlined in this legislation.

At the present time in most states throughout the nation clearance and obstruction laws are on the Statute Books by law or by an order from the Public Service Commission.

The states adjacent to Pennsylvania have long recognized the need of legislation such as we now propose and as a result of these precautions the men engaged in railroad service in those states are benefitting in safe working conditions.

Many of the railroad yards in this state are so cluttered up with debris and foreign obstacles that a large number of our men are injured and in many cases fatalities have occurred. This is our sole reason for requesting enactment of this legislation.

There is vital need for this type of legislation. Pennsylvania must realize the necessity of protecting the railroad workers of this state by the passage of this very necessary legislation.

This bill was introduced by Messrs. Darymple and Moran February 12th.

It was referred to Committee on Public Utility February 13 where it is now resting.

The proposed legislation sets up minimum standards relating to clearance and conferring certain duties and powers upon the Public Utility Commission and the Attorney General and prescribed penalties for violation thereof.

Section 2 of the proposed legislation states that it will be unlawful for any Common carrier by railroad or any other person to erect or reconstruct and thereafter maintain any structure or obstruction or any embankment of earth or natural rock less than 8 feet 6 inches measured from the center line of track nor to permit any overhead wire bridge or any other obstruction to be erected or reconstructed at a height less than 22 feet 6 inches measured from top of track rail.

Section 3 states that on or after October 1, 1951 it will be unlawful for any common carrier or any other person to erect or construct on any railroad any structure or obstruction or have excavated any embankment of earth or natural rock to remain upon the line of railroad at a distance less than 8 feet 6 inches from the center of the track. It prohibits the construction of any overhead wire bridge or any other obstruction at a height less than 22 feet 6 inches measured from the top of track rail.

Section 4 of the proposed legislation states that it will be unlawful for any common carrier to construct any track used for the purpose of moving any cars engaged in the movement of traffic where the center line of such track is at a distance of less than 14 feet from the center line or any other parallel track which it adjoins. No ladder tracks shall be in closer proximity to any adjacent ladder track than 19 feet measured from the center line of each track nor in closer proximity to any other parallel track than 17 feet measured from the center line of each track. It further provides that the distance between tracks may be diminished or closed up a necessary distance from track intersection, gauntlet tracks, turnout, or switch points.

Section 5 empowers the Public Utility Commission to permit any common carrier person or corporation upon proper application to erect or construct any overhead or side obstruction at a less distance than is provided for in the proposed act and, also, to construct any track or tracks at a less clearance than is provided for in the proposed legislation if it can be shown that compliance with the act is unreasonable or unnecessary provided that a condition not unduly hazardous to the employees of such common carrier any person or corporation would not be erected.

Section 6 of this proposed legislation is a safety provision. It compels the common carrier or any person or corporation to keep that portion between tracks or beside tracks which yard men and other employees frequent in discharge of their duties clear of any form of obstacle which will interfere with the work of these employees or subject them to any unnecessary hazard.

Section 7 merely outlines the penalty for violating any provision of this act or failure to comply with an order of the Public Utility Commission.

Our purpose in proposing this legislation is actuated solely from a standpoint of eradicating many unsafe and hazardous conditions which now exist on the railroads operating in the State of Pennsylvania.

There is nothing in this legislation which compels any railroad, person or corporation to remove any building, bridge or any other permanent obstacles but it does compel that in the future any new construction must conform with the specifications outlined in this legislation.

At the present time in most states throughout the nation clearance and obstruction laws are on the statute books by law or by an order from the Public Service Commission. In the neighboring states of New York and Ohio there are laws enacted for the safety and well being of men engaged in railroad service.

Many of the railroad yards in this state are so cluttered up with debris and other foreign obstacles that a large number of our men are injured and in many cases fatalities have occurred. This is our sole reason for requesting enactment of this legislation.

In the year 1944 there were 34 killed and 414 injured in the United States on moving cars or locomotives resulting from coming in contact with any fixed structure above or at side of track.

Eleven of the 34 killed and 88 of the 414 were injured in Pennsylvania; better than 32 percent of the fatalities occurred in this state and approximately 21 percent of those injured occurred in the State of Pennsylvania.

In 1945, 23 were killed and 397 injured in the nation; of these 5 were killed in Pennsylvania and 89 injured. 22 percent of the fatalities occurred here; approximately 25 percent of the injuries sustained nationally were in this state.

In 1946, 23 were killed and 294 injured in the nation, of these 7 were killed in Pennsylvania and 89 injured; more than 30 percent of the total number of fatalities occurred in Pennsylvania and 31 percent of the injuries were sustained in this state.

In 1947, 21 were killed in the nation and 274 injured; of these 5 were killed in Pennsylvania and 75 of the 274 were injured in Pennsylvania. Approximately 24 percent of the fatalities occurred here and 30 percent of the total number injured were in this state.

In 1948, 15 were killed and 296 injured in the nation. Five of the fatalities occurred in Pennsylvania. 54 of those injured occurred in this state. Approximately 33-1/3 percent of the fatalities occurred in Pennsylvania and 20 percent of the total number of injuries occurred in this state.

In 1949 seven were killed and 194 injured in the nation. None of the fatalities occurred in this state. 40 of those injured were from Pennsylvania. Approximately 20 percent of the injuries occurred in this state.

The yearly report furnished by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission does not furnish adequate statistics relative to accidents sustained as a result of employees being brushed off cars or locomotives between tracks due to inadequate clearance. The only accident statistics furnished by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission with respect to clearance to and obstruction are those involving fixed structures.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, however, makes a complete report on all accidents involving clearance and obstructions. This is made on a nationwide basis and no breakdown at the state level.

So in reality we are only presenting a portion of the actual picture that exists due to these obnoxious conditions on the railroads of this state.

In the year 1950 up to the present time we have had three fatalities.

One of these fatalities came as a result of an employee being brushed off the side of a car due to inadequate clearance between tracks.

Two of the fatalities were as a result of coming in contact with fixed structures. If we continue at the present ratio in 1950 we are very likely to set a new record in deaths and injuries.

There is a vital need for this type of legislation. Pennsylvania must realize the necessity of protecting the railroad workers of this state by the passage of this very necessary legislation.

This Legislature should take every precaution to protect men working in the railroad industry in Pennsylvania.

The states adjacent to Pennsylvania have long recognized the need of legislation such as we now propose and as a result of these precautions the men engaged in railroad service in those states are benefiting in safer working conditions.

We urge you to consider this legislation in its proper light and ask that you pass this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer corrective amendments to Senate Bill 27

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, to crave the privilege of making a statement prior to the consideration of the bill on second reading.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, yield to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it had been my intention to make a motion to recommit this bill. There are others on the floor or this House who would favor recommitment. I am stating now only a personal position.

The issues carried in this bill are so based, so fundamental, so contrary to the genius of our institutions that the matter involved is one that cannot be settled in the committee room; it cannot be settled simply by conference of leaders, it is an issue that must be carried to the public.

The only argument, for recommitting the bill would be that so many provisions have been so widely misunderstood. But sooner or later, today or tomorrow, or the day after, each individual in this House must take a position on this bill. And believing in the position that I have personally taken in opposition to this bill, I am perfectly willing myself, and I am perfectly willing for my party to go to the public on the basis of the record for or against this particular measure.

I understand that there are amendments to be offered from the minority side of the aisle; and that if the amendments offered by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, were adopted, then the language of the bill and the amendments to be offered by the minority would not exactly coincide.

Therefore I would ask the gentleman from Schuylkill whether he would not give the amendments to be offered by the minority priority. If the amendments that we offer prevail, it may change somewhat the nature of this amendments. If they do not prevail, he will be in position to go ahead with his corrective amendments.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, withdraw his amendments temporarily?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, that is acceptable.

The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The first and second sections were separately read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SEYLER offered the following amendments:

Amend Bill, page 8, lines 3 to 20, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Bill, page 9, lines 1 to 19 both inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Bill, page 10, lines 1 to 19 both inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Bill, page 11, lines 1 to 4, both inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, sufficient latitude will be permitted to discuss all the amendments offered by the gentleman to the various sections. The Chair hears none.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Speaker for the latitude extended.

I do not intend to debate the merits of the bill but simply the merits of the amendments. However, as a preliminary, so that you may all understand what these amendments would do, I would like to give a brief "history"—perhaps I should call it,— of the bill.

I will say first of all that the name "Pechan Bill," to which this bill has popularly been alluded in newspapers and other places, is perhaps a misnomer, because if you will examine the bill, you will find that the only thing that is left of the so-called "Pechan Bill" as it came from the Senate where it was passed, are a few definitions in the first two pages. The content of the Pechan Bill as passed in the Senate has been entirely stricken out with the exception of those definitions, and an entirely new bill has been substituted. The new part which has been put in in the House extends from page 8 to page 32.

In making the changes that were made when the bill was in the custody of the House Committee, one very significant change in the bill was made. Previous to that time—in other words, as the bill came from the Senate—public school teachers and public employes were on the same basis in this bill as the teachers in our colleges and universities. But in the version that we now have to consider, the college and university teachers in State-supported colleges and universities are on a different basis than are the public school teachers and public employes.

I would ask the Members at this time this question: Is it your opinion, laying aside all preconceptions and all prejudices, that there are more subversives among public school teachers and among public employes than there are among college and university teachers? According to this bill, as it now stands, this provision is made so far as the state-supported colleges and universities are concerned. There is no oath for the teachers to take; there is no investigation of teachers as to subversive activities; there is no firing on suspicion—none of the objectionable, really objectionable, features of this bill apply to the teachers in state-supported colleges and universities.

This is all that is in the bill that affects the colleges and universities. The president of such institutions is required to make an annual statement to the Governor, with copies to the two Houses of this Legislature, stating what methods they have taken to determine whether there are any subversive activities among their teachers, and stating furthermore and certifying that there are no subversives in their schools.

The appropriation given to those colleges and universities depends upon that statement and its acceptance by this Legislature.

My proposed amendments which are before you would do nothing more nor less than put the public school teachers and the public employes of this Commonwealth upon precisely the same basis in regard to this proposed law, as you have now placed the college teachers and the university teachers.

I might at this point use an expression which is very famous in this House because of its reiteration by one of our Members, and that statement, of course, is the statement of the gentleman from Westmoreland, "Let us be fair!"

I would say that this is a place where I would ask each Member of this House, without prejudice, to lay aside your preconception of this bill and answer me this question. Is it fair to put the teachers of our colleges and universities on one basis as regards this bill, and to put our public school teachers and our public employes on an entirely different basis?

All I am asking in this amendment is that you be fair to your public school teachers and your public employes. Let us put them on precisely the same basis as you put your university and college teachers. Let us not play favorites. If there is danger of subversion in your public schools and public employment, let us also recognize there is a danger in your colleges and your universities. Let us not distinguish. Let us not have a favorite class of teachers. Let us put all on the same basis—and I am not asking to extend any of the provisions of the bill that might be objectionable to college teachers. I am not asking you to do that. I am simply saying let us put our public school teachers and our public employes on the same basis.

I have several reasons for asking the Members to do this outside of the obvious one of just plain downright fairness.

One reason is this: to my mind, there is no more loyal group in Pennsylvania, or in America, than our public school teachers. I will stake the record of the public school teachers in service to this country against any group in this Commonwealth or in this nation. I see no reason why the Members of this House should single them out as a class to point their finger to and to put them into a special category in which you do not put other teachers of this Commonwealth.

Secondly, I believe that the present law as we already have it on the statute books, together with the provisions of the bill as they would be if my amendments should prevail, are perfectly adequate to cover the situation.

If the Members will bear with me, I would like to read to them, first, from the School Law of the Commonwealth, from the Tenure Act of the Commonwealth. This applies to all public school teachers. I read from Section 1122 of the Public School Code of 1949, our latest copy of the School Laws, as follows:

"The only valid causes for termination of a contract heretofore or hereafter entered into with a professional employe shall be immorality, incompetency, intemperance, cruelty, persistent negligence, mental derangement, advocacy of or participating in un-American or subversive doctrines, persistent and willful violation of the school Laws of this Commonwealth of the professional employe."

In other words, there, among the other reasons for dismissal of a teacher in the public schools, is a statement that covers un-American or subversive doctrines.

I would read further from the Law of 1941, passed by the Legislature of 1941, which deals with all public employes, including school teachers and including teachers in state-supported universities and colleges. I read as follows:

"No person"—

I wish the Members would listen to this because it, to in my mind, proves that there is adequate protection—

"No person who hereafter advocates or participates by an overt act or acts in un-American or subversive doctrines shall be permitted to be employed in any capacity by any department, board, commission or other agency of this Commonwealth, or any county, city, borough, incorporated town, township, school district, vocational school district or institution district hereof, or any authority or institution which is supported in whole or in part out of public funds. Any person so employed shall be dismissed in the same manner as provided for by existing law for dismissal for other causes.

Now I would hold that in the school law of this Commonwealth there is ample provision for meeting the danger of any subversive persons in the public schools, in public employment on any level, in any municipality of the Commonwealth, as well as on the state level, or in any state-supported college or university or other institution.

I am not alone in his opinion. Some of you have heard of former United States Senator Joseph Grundy, whom, to my knowledge, no one as yet has accused of being either a Communist or fellow traveler or subversive in any way. To the best of my knowledge Mr. Grundy's record in that respect is clear; he is not a subversive. Mr. Grundy is of the opinion, according to an article in the Philadelphia Bulletin of August 19, 1951, that the 1941 Law which I have just quoted to you is adequate for the protection of our Commonwealth against the danger of subversive employes or subversive members of public schools or state-supported institutions. And on that basis, he is opposed to the Pechan Bill.

I quote from the article:

"The Pechan bill is regarded by Mr. Grundy as experimental; while the 1941 Act—he stated in a letter to Woodside—is closely patterned after the Smith Act under which the Federal Government has been moving against subversives. The latter law, he believes, has proved to be an effective weapon against subversives."

And so on the basis of being fair to the public school employes and not singling them out as a specially disloyal group as compared with, for example, the college and university faculties—on the basis of fairness.

Secondly, on the basis of the proven record of your public school teachers as a loyal group in this Commonwealth and in the nation.

Thirdly, on the ground that our present law, together with this bill as amended by the proposed amendments, would be adequate, I would ask the Members of this House to vote for these amendments.

We are only asking in the name of fairness that you place your public school employes and your public employes on exactly the same basis as you have already deemed sufficient to cover the teachers in state-supported colleges and universities:

Let us not have a favorite group in Pennsylvania! Let us put all of our teachers, and let us put our public employes, too, on the same basis. In other words, Let us be fair; let us lay aside our preconceptions and our prejudices and look at this matter from the standpoint of men who want to be fair to our public school teachers.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire if this entire sheet containing the amendments to this bill refers only to the subject which he has now debated or whether it covers other items?

Mr. SEYLER. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I have not had a chance to go over them closely enough to check the bill and I am making the inquiry for that purpose.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman desires to postpone action on this until later all right, but I would assure the gentleman that these amendments do only one thing. That is, put the public school teachers and the public employes on exactly the same basis as now prescribed for the teachers in state-supported colleges and universities.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman and I will take his word that that is what they are designed to do.

Mr. SEYLER. I might add, Mr. Speaker, for the gentleman's information as to the details, that the bill states, as it is now written, that in the case of colleges and universities an annual report shall be made by the presidents of such colleges or universities. This bill would have the superintendents or supervising principal of each school district—or in the cases of public employes, the appointing official or agency—make a similar statement as that prescribed now for the college presidents.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, a great deal of what the gentleman from York has said has some merit in it. I wish, however, to review a few matters as to why the bill was amended in its present form.

After the time of the passage of the bill in the Senate, a public hearing or a semi-public hearing was held over in one of the Senate rooms.

First of all we have not tried to single out any particular group upon which to impose this loyalty oath. I know, as well as Mr. Seyler knows, and as well as every Member in this House knows, that by and large our public school teachers in the state of Pennsylvania are a grand lot of people. But by the same token there have crept into that system defections which, of course, have crept into other segments of our society.

As a result of the hearing which was held that I refer to, there appeared at that hearing the President of the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Stassen; the President of Penn State College, Mr. Eisenhower; the President of the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Fitzgerald and a representative from Temple University, the four state-aided institutions in this Commonwealth.

It was brought out in the course of that hearing that to allow the provision to remain as it was would create a situation perhaps similar to what they had at the University of California. But that in the State of Maryland they had a provision such as is contained in the bill in its present form, requiring the universities to make their annual report to the Legislature, or the proper state authority, regarding what they have done to clear up subversive activities within their schools.

It has worked eminently well in the State of Maryland and has avoided a great deal of the confusion which existed in California.

Now we must remember this fact, this bill covers all state employes and it covers the public school teachers, and it covers those state aided institutions which receive partial help from the state.

We have a great number of colleges and universities, other than the four which I have mentioned in the state of Pennsylvania, none of whom would be covered under the provisions of this bill.

A public school teacher is one who is wholly paid out of public funds whether it be state or whether it be local or a matching combination of the two. All state employes of course are paid entirely out of that same source.

The Attorney General's office, in reviewing all these various matters which were raised at that hearing and reviewing the effects of them throughout the country, came to the conclusion that was arrived at at this hearing—that the bill in its present form was the better form for the purposes of administering it so far as those who received public funds are concerned.

Now, if I were arguing other than on this bill, I could wish that these provisions could be extended to every citizen in the state of Pennsylvania whether they receive their money from the public coffers or not. But this bill deals only with those who wholly receive their funds—or are paid wholly from public funds.

The four institutions I speak about only receive partial assistance from the state. But nevertheless, for the purposes of having control over those institutions in connection with some of these matters, they though best to require the heads of those institutions, in order to get their appropriations, to make the reports so that they may be reviewed and find out exactly what effort is being made to justify the State coming in and making any appropriations to them whatever.

These colleges maintain themselves a great deal on private funds, on endowments, and other things which your public schools and your public employes do not. That is the reason why the bill was written in its present form and that is the reason why I would ask the Members of this House to vote down these amendments in order that we may confine it exclusively to those who receive their pay one hundred percent out of public funds.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would desire to answer a few of the statements the gentleman made. He said first of all that this change came about because of a semi-public hearing held by the college presidents. And that is very nice. It means that the college presidents came in there, presented a story; it was received, and as a result the change was made.

Later on there were public hearings held. At these public hearings the representatives of the public school teachers came—and bear in mind that every organization of public school teachers, in fact of all teachers in this Commonwealth, is on record as opposed to the parts of the bill which I am proposing to amend. They asked for the same sort of treatment. But what happened? They did not receive it.

Again I say, gentlemen, it depends who you are, apparently, in this Commonwealth. One group comes in and has a semi-private hearing; they are listened to; adjustments are made. Another group, representing many, many more people in this Commonwealth, come in, make a similar plea, and no attention is paid to their plea.

The gentleman says that not all colleges and universities are included in this bill; only the state-supported ones. That is true, but I would point out to the gentleman that not all of the lower grades are included in this amendment either. Our private schools, our parochial—we also have many of them—which do not receive state appropriation, and they are not included in this bill.

Therefore, there is no more reason for subjecting the rest of the public school teachers to that treatment than there is for subjecting the rest of the college teachers to that treatment.

He said furthermore that school teachers are supported, and public employes receive their pay only from public funds. That is true, but not only from State funds but from federal funds and from local funds. In other words the situation is not too much different. The State is attempting here to legislate in one case about a matter that includes only a partial amount of state funds, namely the colleges and universities, and the same thing is true of the local districts receiving only partial state appropriations.

In short, gentlemen, I believe that my allegation stands unrefuted—that teachers are being discriminated against as groups. There is one class of teachers that comes under the law; one class does not.

I would say, let us keep the record clear. Let us keep our public school teachers and our public employes for the teachers in our state-supported universities and colleges.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I merely wish to state that the gentleman from York has been arguing exclusively on the school teachers. If he desires to run for public office again, and this bill is passed, he will likewise take this same oath and I will be very proud to take it.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. I will be glad to be interrogated by the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Seyler, this is strictly a matter of information from my standpoint, and for the balance of the House.

In the interrogation by the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, I believe you said that the people who were responsible for making these reports would be the supervising principal or the principal, is that correct?

Mr. SEYLER. That is correct.

Mr. GOODLING. In rural cases where there is not a supervising principal or a principal, who would be responsible for the report?

Mr. SEYLER. In all other cases it will be the individual or agencies making the appointment. In other words it would be the school board in those cases.

I would like to say one more thing while I am on the floor, and that is that a vote for these amendments is not a vote against the bill. It is an effort to bring the bill in line with fairness and justice to our public school teachers and public employees.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rejoice in the desire of the gentleman from Cameron to have the opportunity to take a loyalty oath. In that particular, his desires coincide with my own.

I know of no reasonable opposition to this bill based upon disinclination to take an oath. There is some such opposition, but it is not controlling.

We have before us the remarkable doctrine that private schools, as I interpret the bill, can be seats of sedition wholly unrestrained and unsupervised, except by the general statutes of the Commonwealth and the federal statutes. I have literature suggesting that some of the private schools are the very seats of sedition. Liberal arts colleges are presumed to be immaculate unless they receive a dollar of state funds. If they receive any money from state funds, they become subject to the regulations of this bill, if it should pass.

Then we have the state-aided colleges that the gentleman from York can certify, are all poor at the present time under the present decree, but the poor teachers in the public schools can be fired from their position, ruined for life on the basis of a reasonable doubt and the final result of a hearing at which the Superintendent of Public Instruction or someone he names presides.

Now I am in agreement with the gentleman from York in his premise. I do not like the bill as amended, but it makes it a little better bill.

A college president is not any more in a position, and he is in as good a position to pass judgment upon the loyalty of his professors as are the members of a local school board.

While I would not want to subject a teacher to what might happen under the reasonable doubt doctrine, yet by and large, taking the state as a whole, perhaps the judgment of local school boards is just as valid as the judgment of a university president.

So I believe that the amendments proposed by the gentleman from York make a bad bill a little better, but not very much better.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman to say that all school teachers in the Commonwealth are opposed to the provisions which he intends to amend by the amendments presented here today?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, that would be an impossible statement because I have no way of taking a referendum. My statement was that every teachers' organization in the Commonwealth to my knowledge is on record as opposed to the bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman aware of the fact that the Pennsylvania State Education Association, which is one of the largest groups of teachers in the State, has no objections to the bill as it was amended in its present form upon the calendar.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, on the contrary I can tell the gentleman that the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the largest organization of teachers in this Commonwealth—of which I am proud to be a member—is opposed to this bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I want to make the observation relative to the amendments, that in the last bulletin that I have received from that organization they had withdrawn, to my estimation—that is the way I read the statement—they had withdrawn their objections inasmuch as they now feel that the provisions of the bill do not encroach upon the protective rights that they have today in the tenure act.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, just a few hours ago the President of the State Education Association stated to my colleague Mr. Schmidt—and I will be glad to yield to him if he wishes to make a statement on this, that the Pennsylvania State Education Association is opposed to the bill. This leaves no doubt in my mind.

At this time I would be glad, Mr. Speaker, to yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, who had the personal contact with Mr. Lumley.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, during the recent recess today I overheard a statement to the effect that the objections of the PSEA to this bill had been removed and they no longer objected to it.

I was quite concerned by this remark and was able to locate Mr. Lumley, the State President of the PSEA, and I related to him the rumor that was spreading throughout this House. He authorized me to make a statement on the floor that no one was authorized to make such a statement; that the position of the PSEA is the same as it has been, and the PSEA is unalterably opposed to the passage of the so-called Pechan Bill.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, just to keep the record straight, I would like to state that as late as this afternoon I, too, talked to some members of the PSEA. There are a number of local branches who have taken a stand against the Loyalty Oath Bill, but I do not believe that the state organization has taken any action for or against the measure.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the differences of opinion that have arisen, and the differences of opinion that will inevitably arise, I have changed my mind again.

I now move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee from which it came.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, at one time during the proceedings I thought that recommitting would be a very good idea. I also changed my mind and thought that such action was not proper. But now when I see a controversy raging like this I would like to second the gentleman's motion that this bill be recommitted.

Certainly I do not see how anyone here can vote on this bill intelligently, because what you are going to have happen, whether you know it or not, is that you are going to be damned if you do and damned if you don't. And let us not kid ourselves about it.

Let us know definitely, Mr. Speaker, what we are voting on. I think every Member in this House should know because for the man who stands here tomorrow, if this bill goes through and he votes against this bill, it is going to take a lot of courage. People who are for a bill such as this are going to take the attitude—and it is very easy for them to take—of calling somebody a pink or a communist or any other thing they want to call him.

All I can say on the recommittal motion is that I know some very reputable people, learned and intelligent people, whose loyalty is not even questioned, and they asked me to vote against this bill.

The bill is now in such a state of confusion that I think it should go back to committee for further study. Give every citizen a full opportunity to be heard on it; give our newspapers a chance to say what they want to say about it because as far as I know the Philadelphia Inquirer, The Bulletin, The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and nearly all newspapers are one hundred percent against this bill. They were against it in its previous form, and now with this present confusion, I am sure nobody knows what this bill is doing. I do not at this stage, and I do not believe many members who are going to be asked to vote on this bill really know what this bill does. I think this bill should go back to committee for further study.

Mr. GEER. Mr. Speaker, just to correct one thing about this PSEA going on record against this bill. I talked with Mr. Lumley myself, and I think I got it as straight as anybody.

Originally the PSEA went on record against this bill. They stated their objections. At a later date amendments were made to conform with those objections,—and I am stating this as Mr. Lumley told me—amendments were made to conform with the objections that were made by the PSEA.

As Mr. Lumley stated, the committee, which was a small committee, felt that they could not then disapprove of the bill as amended; but that inasmuch as the PSEA had not met and had not formed an opinion on the amended bill, it could not be considered as an action by the PSEA. Therefore the delegated committee has no objections to the bill. The PSEA has made no comment on the amended bill. I know I am correct in this statement.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, in order to get the record straight on a prior statement made by a Member on the floor of this House, I was not authorized to speak for the PSEA, and I did not speak for the PSEA. I merely questioned the gentleman relative to the statement that he had made on their objection.

I want to oppose recommitment of this bill. It has been in the State Government Commission since March 29th of this year. There has been ample time to have gone through the pros and cons of this measure. I wish to oppose the motion inasmuch as it was made during the height of discussion in the House. And there is no resulting confusion. The issue will eventually be straightened out. And let us, as the Minority Leader stated, be counted for or against the measure and go out and face the people of the Commonwealth, of our particular district upon that basis.

I therefore ask motion for a roll call.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to just clear up one thing. When I made the recent statement I was not speaking as the Majority Leader of this House. I was speaking as an individual for the people I represent. I would like to make it definitely clear to all the Members that I am speaking only as an individual and not as the Majority Leader.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I am not too familiar with the verbal statements made by various officials of organizations who are apparently "off again, on again, Finnegan."

I have saved two written communications that I received from two organizations who are opposed to Senate Bill 27. One letter is dated August 10, 1951, from the Teachers' Union of Philadelphia. It is signed by its president. The content simply requests that I oppose Senate Bill 27. The letter signed by the president of the Teachers' Union is not in the form of a resolution and in no way shape or form am I questioning the integrity of the president of this organization. I presume he knows exactly what the sentiments are of those who are opposed to it. However, anyone can secure a letterhead and sign his name as an official of an organization and make certain statements for or against.

I have another communication from the Citizens' Council on Democratic Rights. This letter requests that I vote against Senate Bill 27. It is signed by the Vice-President of the organization. In no way, shape or form does it say that it was a resolution passed by the majority, or unanimously by the members of this organization. On this letterhead there are some names of very prominent individuals who this year are running for the highest positions in the City of Philadelphia. I do not know whether they favor it or not, because it is simply a letter signed by the Vice-President.

To give you a contrast of how I think communications should be sent to Members, I also have in my possession a letter from the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Inc. It is dated September 25, 1951, and was placed on my desk this morning. The Department Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is in favor of Senate Bill 27, but he has attached to his letter a resolution stating that, "this resolution was adopted by the delegates assembled in the 32nd Annual Encampment of the Department of Pennsylvania of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, July 12-14, 1951, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania."

Now that motion and that resolution was approved by the vast majority of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. There is not any doubt in my mind how they feel about the Pennsylvania Loyalty Oath Bill. But there is some doubt in my mind about the other communications, and I believe that any verbal statement, whether it was made by the president of the Pennsylvania Association of Teachers or any other group, will be so garbled up and changed around that we should eliminate that part of it and vote in favor of whether we think the bill is good legislation or not.

These gentlemen who write us letters representing organizations should put it in the form of a resolution and not just sign it as an official, because that can be done by anyone.

Mr. CLAPPER. Mr. Speaker, it was not my intentions to make any statement on the recommittal of this bill. However, due to the fact that statements were made concerning a controversy about the various associations who objected to the bill, I want to state for the benefit of the Members of the House that every Member in this House probably knows that I have voted very closely on all issues that had anything to do with the Pennsylvania State Education Association this year. I am going to vote against the committal of this bill for the simple reason that I have had no word from any teacher in my county. And furthermore it is my belief, and I feel confident, that the Pennsylvania State Education Association is not opposed to this bill.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, of course a lot of this discussion has not been on the question before the House. But inasmuch as certain remarks have been made relative to the position of the PSEA, I wish to state that Mr. Lumley, who is present in the state Senate at the present time—or was when I spoke with him—positively stated to me when I communicated to him the rumor that was circulating in this House that the position of the PSEA had not changed since the last amendments were made, and that the Executive Committee of PSEA is absolutely opposed to Senate Bill 27.

A public hearing was held by our State Government Committee on this bill, one of the largest public hearings in the history of the House, before which committee representatives of the various organizations throughout this State appeared in person to submit testimony as to whether or not they favored or opposed Senate Bill 27. For the information of the House the testimony that was submitted to that committee, we did not even have a chance to digest it before there appeared before the committee a representative of the Attorney General of this State to inform us that this bill was to come out; that the Attorney General wanted it. And upon that statement by the gentleman, who happens to be present—and has been present in this House for some time—that bill was voted upon, and by a close vote came out on this floor.

I want to say to the Members of this House that there is controversy on this bill and that a proper bill has not been presented to this House for adoption. I feel that the motion made by the Minority Leader that this bill be recommitted to the State Government Committee for them to finish their job should be passed.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, conflicting statements are being made concerning the position of the Pennsylvania State Education Association as regards Senate Bill 27.

The Executive Council of the Pennsylvania State Education Association did definitely oppose Senate Bill 27, Printer's No. 471. That was one of the original bills. They opposed the bill in the public hearing that was held.

Since that time the bill has been rewritten, and some of the major objections have been eliminated from the bill. Since the bill has been in its present form, the executive Council of that Association has not had a meeting. The representatives of that Executive Council and the officials in office have given this as their final statement, that since this bill has been changed in its present form, and those major objections have been eliminated, they have not taken a stand for or against the bill as it is now.

That I think Mr. Speaker, is an official statement of that association of 55,000 members.

Mr. BOLTON. Mr. Speaker, this House has wallowed in a welter of words on the subject of Senate Bill 27, the Loyalty Oath Bill. We have been bombarded by all sorts of organizations and as my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Hamilton, has pointed out, some of them are responsible, legitimate organizations, a great many of them are not.

I think it is about time that this Legislature makes up its mind and determines whether we have enough guts to stand up and be counted or whether we are going to resign as Legislators and become a branch of the PSEA or any other pressure group who may be working on the matter.

I second the request of the gentleman on the other side of the House for a roll call vote.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, it is evident now that there is no confusion on the bill. I want to agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, that we certainly do not want any recommittal of the bill since the confusion has been cleared up.

The original bill as received from the Senate has been rewritten, that is true, to such an extent that it is practically a new bill. As the gentleman from York has said, a public hearing has been held, and the bill has been studied thoroughly by the State Government Committee and handled fairly, as all bills are handled by the State Government Committee that had charge of the bill.

On the final action of the Committee, the majority of the membership of that Committee voted favorably for floor action. After insisting that it should have floor action it was reported out in its amended form for floor action, with the exception of a few minor amendments which are corrective and which I offered before. Therefore, the responsibility of this bill is with the membership of this House and not with the Committee.

The question before us is this: Are we to have a Loyalty Oath Bill or are we not to have a Loyalty Oath Bill. If we are to have one, the bill should be advanced for final passage now. Not next week, but now! Therefore, I object to any re-committal. The State Government Committee does not care to see the bill; they want the bill passed because they voted for the bill; and we want the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there is confusion concerning this bill, and I can inform the Chairman of the State Government Committee how he can resolve that confusion. He can take this bill and make it a Loyalty Oath Bill. His Committee can write a Loyalty Oath Bill which will be broad and comprehensive and which could be made the basis for perjury charges.

Now if we have a broad base—and I borrow the phrase, "broad base," if we can have a broad base Loyalty Oath bill, one which would serve as a basis for perjury charges; and if we use our statutes against subversive acts, against treason, against sabotage, we would have a battery of perjury charges, subversive charges, treason charges, sabotage charges upon which we could draw.

All I want to do is to send this bill back to Committee and have them report out a Loyalty Oath bill "period." Make it a Loyalty Oath. Make it as strong an oath as you want to make it and make your measure conform to its title. Bring in that kind of a bill, and I will support it one hundred percent.

Mr. CONWAY. Mr. Speaker, we no doubt know what it means to recommit this bill. To recommit it means it will die in committee. No man in this place is asking for the passage of this bill. They are not asking people to do anything they would not do themselves, in other words.

Just like myself, I am putting a Loyalty Oath on myself and I only thank God that I can get up here and raise my hand if it is five or ten or twenty times a day,—thank God that I am an American and am able to take a Loyalty Oath.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I have been sitting here patiently listening to the discussion which is going on. I do not think I am necessarily confused as the words have been passed around, but my thinking goes like this: the State Government Committee has had this bill for some time. The opponents of the bill and those who desire to change the bill have known that for some time. As I understand it, the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, has not turned deaf and blind during that time. He would have been willing to propose anything to the Committee which would have been reasonably acceptable. They have labored hard and long on this bill and they have brought out what the Committee feels is a proper bill. Sending it back to Committee, Mr. Speaker, I think is a foolish action. The one thing they would do would be to accept suggestions from members here on the floor, and those suggestions could be made from the floor.

My suggestion, Mr. Speaker, is that this bill should remain on the calendar and those of us who desire to place amendments in it should bring those amendments on the floor and have them voted upon. I think the bill should stay on the calendar.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, one of the gentlemen has suggested that to recommit this bill is to kill it. That as you know is not necessarily true; it depends very much on the will of the Committee. As the Chairman of the Committee has pointed out, that committee wants very much to have a loyalty bill.

We are in this position; practically everybody in this House, I might say everybody in this House, is desirous of arriving at a good loyalty bill. The situation at present is that there are groups who are violently opposed in their opinions as to whether this bill is a good loyalty bill. You must all be aware of this. You receive contacts, from both groups, violently antagonistic in character. Some of them are urging you very strongly to vote for it, others are urging you very strongly to vote against it. And where are you? You are right in the middle. What is the reason for this? It is obvious that we have not yet arrived at a bill that will do the job.

For example, there are a number of amendments on this floor. The Chairman of the Committee himself has some corrective amendments which need to be made. On the floor, with the large number of amendments that are offered, it is always difficult to do a good job in ironing out a bill.

Those of you who were at the public hearing that was held, not the private one to which we were not invited, but the public hearing—I was there and a lot of you were—those who were not, I would like to remind you that one of the speakers for the bill, a judge from Allegheny County, whom I will not name, made a speech in which he favored the purposes of the bill, but at the end he said there were three serious objections. And he named them.

One of those objections had to do with firing on suspicion. Another had to do with the rules of evidence being suspended. Another one had to do with the provision in the bill, a specific provision calling for appeal to the courts.

That gentleman said at the conclusion of his speech, that he is for the purposes of the bill, but unless these amendments are made, it is absolutely valueless.

One of the members of the Committee, a gentleman from Philadelphia, a very able Attorney, Mr. Tahl then asked this question, of the veterans groups that were there, he asked specifically the gentleman representing the Joint Veterans' Council, who is also I believe the Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and you will remember that he asked him this question. He said, "Are you gentlemen in agreement that the suggestions made by the Judge should be incorporated in the bill and would you agree to have these amendments made in order to make it a good bill?"

And those representatives of the veterans groups said, yes, they would be willing to have those made. They said, "We would like to sit down with the committee when you do it; but yes, we think those changes ought to be made."

"The bill came out of committee and those changes have not been made. None of those three provisions have been covered. This is only to demonstrate to you that a good bill could be arrived at, a bill that would not put you on the spot, a bill that could be a common agreement.

I am assuming that the Members of this House want to do the right thing. They want to pass a loyalty bill, but one which does not infringe upon innocent persons or take away the rights to employment or put them in a position to be fired on suspicion, or to suspend the rules of evidence, and so on.

I would suggest that if we return this bill to Committee the amendments, all the amendments, can be considered; the committee can discuss it. They can have the benefit again of the very wise counsel of the Deputy Attorney General, who I believe is an authority on this bill. In that way they can arrive at a bill which will not subject us to the storm of controversy in which this bill is now embroiled.

I believe it is possible for an intelligent group of people to arrive at a bill which will serve the purpose of a loyalty bill without having the objectionable features which are now causing all this controversy.

Therefore in the interests of arriving at a bill as the Majority Leader has stated, it will put us in a position where we can vote without the danger of persecution from either the proponents or the opponents of the bill, and both of them represent enormous groups of people.

In the interests of doing that, I say the wise thing, the statesman-like thing to do, is to send this bill back to Committee and have them come out promptly as promptly as they can, with a new bill which is designed to do the job, but at the same time not to violate the feelings or sensibilities or rights of people who might be injured by this. At that time we will be able to vote for a bill which is a good bill and will not subject us to the persecution which may come from voting for or against this present bill.

Mr. LEDERER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Seyler, from York County.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. SEYLER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEDERER. Mr. Seyler, I understand that you said in your last statement that Mr. Feldman was Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars?

Mr. SEYLER. Well I might be wrong in that. That was my impression at the hearing. I have not investigated it. Of which organization is he the Commander?

Mr. LEDERER. Mr. Feldman is the State Commander of the American Veterans Committee, the AMVETS.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I think the AMVETS are a very fine organization, and I am delighted to have that correction made.

Mr. LEDERER. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. Seyler.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, it is a sad day, when I hear so many Members say, "I do not like this bill in its present form.

I am for a loyalty oath bill and I believe I might say everybody in this House is in favor of a Proper Loyalty bill, but there are many features in this bill that I do not like; but if it came before the House, I shall be forced to vote for it." Forced, why? Because of one pressure group here or there and the fear that the Member may not be able to face his constituents later on.

I say Mr. Speaker, humbly and sincerely, it is a sad day when the Members of this House come to that point. I will say that I am very proud of the position taken by Mr. Smith of Philadelphia, and the position taken by Mr. Andrews. This bill is of so controversial a nature that we should think more upon it and take it to the people and have more time to bring forth a real loyalty oath bill if a loyalty oath bill there must be.

Granting that there is a need for loyalty legislation, loyalty legislation would be, and is, for Pennsylvania such a drastic change, such a radical departure, from what we have had hitherto that we should move with great caution. There being so much difference of opinion on this bill and this type of legislation, we should approach it with great caution, take the matter to the people and think upon it more.

I would also add that in my own opinion, there being a need for a loyalty oath, why restrict it to one, two or three segments of the population? If there be a danger of Communism, let us require every citizen to take a loyalty oath. Why merely a school teacher; why merely the person who is teaching in a university that receives state aid to be under investigation? Let us require every citizen who comes to vote to take an oath.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been very lenient and has allowed wide latitude in the discussion on the motion to recommit. The Chair does not desire to alter that position, but would request that the gentleman kindly attempt to confine himself to the question on the motion to recommit.

Mr. GUARNIERI. For those reasons I say there is necessity for recommitment. A recommitment would give us the opportunity to bring forth proper loyalty legislation with proper safeguards as I suggested. If there be a need for this legislation recommitment would give us the opportunity to determine how we can apply a loyalty oath to all segments of the population where there may be danger of communistic activity.

For the purpose of the record, Mr. Speaker, as an indication of the great amount of differences of opinion on this type of legislation, I will offer these various resolutions, letters, and of course, including the statement of the American Legion.

I am a veteran myself. I would not take issue with their stand, but there is so much difference of opinion, I wish to offer all these documents into the record.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the material submitted by the gentleman will appear in the Appendix.

Mr. BOLTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to correct the gentleman on the other side of the aisle as to the status of Louis George Feldman, referred to as the Past Commander of the Department of Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. He is Chairman of the Joint Council of Veterans' Organizations of Pennsylvania.

To paraphrase Mr. Guarnieri, I would like to say it is a sad day for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and for the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, when they lack the—just as I have said before—"guts" to stand up and be counted but hide behind a motion to recommit.

Mr. Speaker, I request a roll call. Let us have the roll call and get this off the floor.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say just one word. I am going to vote to recommit. I think this is a hot potato. But I do not want anyone, or any Member of this House, or any person who reads the action of this House and sees my vote to think that I do not have the "guts" to stand up and be counted, and that that is my reason for sending the bill back to committee. It definitely is not. And I think there are a lot of men in this House that think like I do.

I am a Member of the State Government Committee. I think it would be a mistake not to recommit this bill now. And as a member of the State Government Committee I do not see why the Chairman cannot take these amendments, and other possible amendments, and we can sit down and work all night and report the bill out tomorrow.

Now there have been a lot of things said, but on that basis and for that reason I would like to have the bill back in committee and I am going to so vote. Not because I do not want to stand up and be counted when there is a final vote on it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I object to the statement made by the gentleman who impuned cowardice to those who favored the recommitment of this bill. I think we have a tradition in this Chamber, going back for many, many years, that in the course of discussion we do not impugn motives. I would suggest to the gentleman that in the course of his parliamentary discussions he exhibit not only guts but courtesy and brains.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman who spoke had any intentions of saying anyone lacked nerve or were cowards or did not want to be counted. I think he felt as I do that if there are any Members in this House that want to kill this bill, all they have to do is send it back to committee.

You know, and I know, that the element of time is against is. I certainly am opposed to this motion to recommit. I hope the Members will vote it down.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, apparently there is a possibility that the element of time may work in our favor. If it is indeed true that we are marooned upon this legislative isle until late in December, I think it will be quite possible to reach a conclusion not only concerning this bill but concerning any other bill that is in Committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Section 3 offered by Mr. Seyler?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, there has been a little lapse of time since the merits of the amendments was discussed, and I would simply rise to remind the Members of what we are voting on. I hope that no strong feeling of animosity engendered during the debate on the recent question will carry over.

I ask all the Members to please to consider this amendment on its merits, and remember it is just an attempt to place the public school teachers and the public employes on the same basis as the bill has now placed the teachers in universities and colleges supported by the state.

I would ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I merely wish to call the attention of those Members to the fact that we are now to vote on the amendments which have been offered by the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, relating to the method and procedure by which this matter should be handled.

They change considerably the tenor of the bill which has been approved after much work. We would ask that the amendments be voted down and the bill in its present form be the one to stand for the final vote of this House.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York withdraw the remainder of his amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCHMIDT offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3, page 8, lines 5 to 9, by striking out "nor any person as to whom on" in line 5, all of lines 6, 7, 8 and the part-word "vania" in line 9.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, as was done by the preceding speaker, Mr. Seyler, in the offering of his amendments, I shall discuss all amendments at one time if I have the Speaker's permission.

The SPEAKER. Without objections, the Chair will permit such latitude.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, the bill that is now before us provides for a hearing to be conducted for one who may be charged with subversive thoughts or ideas or overt acts, and provides the method by which this proceeding shall be conducted.

As you and I are well aware, under the legal jurisprudence of the United States and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we start out with the assumption that one charged with a crime, or some misdeed, is presumed to be innocent until such time as he is proven beyond a reasonable doubt that guilt exists.

The amendment as offered would put into this bill that same requirement—that anyone charged with subversion under this bill must be tried, and the evidence presented must be such evidence as would be acceptable in a court of competent jurisdiction; and that the evidence, in order to convict, should be proven beyond a reasonable doubt.

As it is now written it is incumbent upon the party as charged to prove that he is innocent which is contrary to every legal idea that we have in this nation of ours. I think that we should put the same protection around anyone charged with a violation under this act.

These amendments still go further. They would change the oath as set forth in this bill from one in which the person must swear to the fact that he is not engaged in any subversive activity to the same type of oath that you and I take when we take the oath of office as a Member of the Legislature, that we will uphold the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and if that person is an appointed person that he did not contribute in any way to his appointment, nor did he make any promises to secure his appointment. I feel that these protections should be placed in this bill—the same protection that is given to the ordinary criminal under the laws of the state of Pennsylvania.

You will hear arguments against this amendment to the effect that this is not a criminal act. You and I know that anyone today suspected or accused of being subversive is thought of as one who has treason in his heart. There is no one here who would say that one who has treason in his heart is not a criminal. Therefore, anyone who is accused of such a crime should be allowed the same protection that you allow anyone in a criminal court.

I ask that you give the same protection to the teachers and employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as you give to those accused of crime under the present laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in order that there may be no confusion over this particular issue, I would like to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that the bill before us is not a bill relating to crime, nor is it a criminal bill. The consequences of it on a separate situation, which is not related to loyalty, can be a crime for which we have our laws already established.

This bill is not a criminal bill. It is merely the government saying, "you can do what you want and work where you please, but we do not want you employed in our government."

An analogy can be made to a private employer deciding he cannot trust his bookkeeper and saying, "I doubt whether I can trust you, so I do not want you working for me anymore." His dismissal has nothing to do with whether or not any criminal offense had been committed. It might affect his property right regarding his employment, but it certainly has nothing to do with any criminal act. If there is any criminal act involved at all it goes into the matter of the consequences following thereafter.

I might call the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny to the fact that if under the Administrative Code he would be dissatisfied in connection with any decisions of the board relating to his civil rights, he has an appeal under the Administrative Code to the Dauphin County courts.

I, therefore, ask that these amendments be voted down.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman who just spoke.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman if he was present at the public hearing held by the State Government Committee.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I was present but not for the full period of time.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman present when the speech was presented by Judge Musmanno of Allegheny County?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I was.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman hear the Judge specify that in his opinion—and he was speaking, of course, as a newly elected, practically elected, member of the Supreme Court—that in his opinion the bill was, and I quote, "valueless" unless three changes were made in the bill, namely the changes in the amendments proposed by the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I recall his raising an issue on the question of reasonable of doubt.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will examine the record of that meeting, if one was kept, he will find that the Judge did say that the bill was "valueless" unless these changes were made.

Does the gentleman recall the interrogation conducted at that time of Mr. Feldman, who spoke for the bill, in which Mr. Tahl, of Philadelphia, asked Mr. Feldman whether he, as a Representative of the veterans, the Joint-Veterans Council—which I believe at that time was said to represent all the veterans groups with the exception of one in the State of Pennsylvania, was the gentleman present when Mr. Tahl interrogated Mr. Feldman?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I was not present at that time.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, at that time—I will inform the gentleman so that I can ask the next question—Mr. Feldman replied: yes, in his opinion, those changes should be made; he would agree with the Judge that those amendments should be made with the proviso that he would like to sit down with the committee at the time they were made.

I would ask the gentleman, were those changes as a matter of fact, made in this bill when they were reported out by the State Government Committee?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, reading the bill I would say that the change on the question of reasonable doubt had not been made.

Mr. SEYLER. I would ask the gentleman next whether in his opinion the wishes of the Veterans organizations should be observed and respected in drawing up this bill?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would say so, but the Veterans' organizations have approved this bill in its present form.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the Veterans organization at that time were agreed that these changes should be made, does not the gentleman think that an amendment which would affect those changes requested at that public hearing should now be made?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, all I can say is that the bill in its present form was submitted to the Veterans Council and it was approved by them in its present form.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know whether the Veterans groups have then changed their attitude? Have they made any statements of which the gentleman knows in which they were just kidding us that day, or have they found reasons to change their attitude?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would not say that. All I am stating is that this bill in its present form was submitted to them and approved by them. Now if that constitutes change, you will have to use your own judgment about that.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHMIDT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me what section is amended and what section he is attempting to amend to put in the requirement that the hearing conducted by the administrative body must be under the terms of legal evidence?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I am amending the bill at page 26, lines one to four inclusive, by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof:

Petition to the court of common pleas of the county where he resides, which court after hearing all testimony de novo, on such notice to the petitioner and to the appointing authority, shall have power to affirm or reverse the action of such appointing authority as it shall deem proper. In the event the employe so dismissed requests a jury trial in the said court of common pleas, the court shall order the appeal to be tried before a jury in the same manner provided for by existing law for such trials. From the final order of the court of common pleas any party in interest who views feels aggrieved by such order may appeal to the Superior or Supreme Court in accordance with the law now governing appeals to such courts. All appeals as aforesaid shall operate as a supersedas of any order. At such hearing the burden of proof shall be on the appointing authority."

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman has answered my question yet. That particular amendment which the gentleman just read had to do with appeals. I understood in his statement that he was amending the act so that the hearing before the administrative body was restricted to legal testimony. Is that correct?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, no, I did not say that. I stated that the appeal, when taken from the body initially hearing the complaint, that the hearing before the court shall be under the rules of the court, which would mean that the rules of evidence prevailing in the court of common pleas shall prevail.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, so that I understand the gentleman correctly, in other words, the testimony before the administrative body is not restricted to what is generally known as legal evidence, and hearsay and everything else can come in. Is that correct?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, outside of the fact that under the administrative code they do try to accept only evidence referred to as having probative value.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, one further question. I was under the impression that these amendments went further than they actually do. I was under the impression, after discussing it with the gentleman from Allegheny, that he was going to amend this bill to state that the hearing before the administrative body or the appointing body be restricted to evidence generally known as legal competent evidence. As I said here on this floor before in this session, I am always afraid of any act which does not require that. However, I believe that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, do give more or less of a break in the use of hearsay testimony which oftentimes can become loose before an administrative board.

However, I disagree with the gentleman insofar as the form of the oath should be changed, and I was wondering, Mr. Speaker, as these amendments are voted on, if you could advise the House as to just which one of the amendments they are voting on.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, to be indicted for murder or manslaughter is a serious crime. It means a man's life. We believe that in such a situation, irrespective of the views of the PSEA or the American Legion or any other body. I believe all of us here believe that in such a situation the constitutional guarantee is given a man of trial by jury, to be represented by his own counsel, and to be faced by his accusers.

To me to be accused of Communism is a serious thing. I have no time for communists—no one in this House has. And if a man is to be virtually eliminated perhaps not in body as he would be if put to death for the crime of homicide, but to be eliminated as a person, as an entity, which anyone who is accused of Communism certainly will be because I certainly will not deal with that person nor will anyone here, that person should be given the guarantee of trial by jury. It is so fundamental.

Irrespective of what anyone says to use here and who writes to us, whether it be a PSEA teachers group, veterans group or anyone else, I say to wipe out a man's personality, his very existence, when he is labeled a Communist, and that is what it does, that man should be given the same guarantee as the man whose life is on trial. I say vote for that trial by jury.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I have similar amendments to those of Mr. Schmidt. Since we are on this debate I will not take up the time of the House with my amendments. There is only one difference and that is that the trial shall be in the Dauphin County court instead of locally.

I agree with Mr. Robertson that each section of the amendments be taken separately, and if the Chair will do that, I will not introduce these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by Mr. Schmidt?

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate which was read as follows:

In the Senate, September 24, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, October 1, 1951 at 3:00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time and that when the House of Representatives adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, October 1, 1951 at 4:30 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a very, very important announcement to the House. I would like to have your entire attention because I do believe it is very important to all of us.

We have before us at this moment a resolution from the Senate asking us to come back here next Monday. We also have before us, although it has not been read, another resolution from the Senate asking us to recess this week until December 10th. Combined with this resolution is a sine die resolution asking for adjournment on the evening of December 22nd—just in time for Christmas Eve.

We in this House have taken the attitude that we have been striving for adjournment. We have put enough legislation in the Senate. We have passed two tax programs. We believe if we accept the first resolution to come back here next week, we will have given the Senate sufficient time to pass any legislation they want to pass. I personally cannot see where December 10th will make any more difference than October 1st.

I ask the Members of this House to concur in the first resolution to come back next Monday, October 1st, that the Senate also come back then and that they go on and complete their job before many more days pass.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I concur in the major portion of the sentiments expressed by the Majority Leader, but I would suggest that he insist that the Senate complete its business before December 10th, which I believe he said was the mark he was shooting at—that the Senate complete its business this week or early next week.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that when they come back next week, there are sufficient legislative days to complete their business if they so desire, by the end of the week of October 1st.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I am willing to support the resolution as stated by the Majority Leader—that we come back here next Monday, but will we definitely stay here next week and then go home finally?

What do you suppose the people on this side of the House—and I guess a good many on the other side of the House—are living on these days? These guys holding us up have a lot of dough; we do not have that kind of dough. I am going to vote for this only with that understanding.

I want to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader if he will answer my question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker, but I would like to state to the gentleman that it is our desire one hundred percent. I agree with him.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, is it understood that we are staying here next week to wind up finally and adjourn sine die?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I will say this. We intend to stay here and work next week, and we intend to ask the Senate by concurring in their resolution to come back next week and work for final adjournment, yes.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate? It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. LEDERER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Smith, the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEDERER. Mr. Speaker, do you know where we are going to sleep? At the present time I am over at the Harrisburger and I understand that there will be a convention—the State Poultrymen are going to have a convention here in Harrisburg, and I have to be out of my room by one o'clock Monday. I cannot afford to run up and down from Philadelphia to Harrisburg.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I am fully aware that the Penn-Harris and the Harrisburger will be full next week. We may be inconvenienced by coming back, but there will be other places to lodge, I am sure there will be places available. They may not be as convenient as our present accommodations, but I can assure the gentleman it will not be nearly as inconvenient as coming back here during the Christmas Season.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 187, entitled:

An Act to fix the salaries and compensation of the judges of the Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas the judges of the orphans' courts the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia and the judges of the County Court of Allegheny County certain associate judges not learned in the law and repealing certain acts inconsistent herewith

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to say a word about the motion made by the majority whip, and I would like to have the attention of the Majority Leader.

Would it not be possible to keep this bill upon the calendar until there has been opportunity to have a conference with the Majority Leader concerning the provisions of this particular bill. I would much prefer that it remain on the calendar until we have had an opportunity to discuss it.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I can only answer the gentleman by saying that I would have no objection at all to that, but I understand there was an agreement in Committee that the bill be re-committed to the Appropriations Committee when it came up on the calendar. That was the reason it is being done, not through any agreement of mine.

Mr. ANDREWS. Following the proposed conference then the bill could be referred to Committee, and is it necessary to do that today?

Mr. SMITH. It is entirely up to the Committee chairman who made the agreement, Mr. Speaker. I am just trying to abide by the Committee Chairman's desires.

Mr. ANDREWS. The Committee Chairman did not say that the bill had to be sent back to Committee at any particular time. It had been my understanding that there was a desire in some quarters that there be a conference of the leadership regarding the schedules carried in this bill. After that conference, then if the leaders of the majority so decide, the bill goes back to Committee.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I will gladly yield to Mr. Watkins. If it is agreeable to him, it is perfectly agreeable to me.

Mr. WATKINS. I will agree with the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that we leave the bill on the calendar, that is all right, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman withdraw his motion to recommit?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT WITHDRAWN

Mr. JOHNSON. I do, Mr. Speaker.

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. Without objection, this bill will be passed over.

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 188, Printer's No. 534

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 788, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain state departments commissions and officers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" by requiring the establishment of a permanent lot care fund with corporate trustee of a certain amount of cemetery and burial corporations hereafter organized prior to the sale of burial lots and requiring a fixed percentage of the sale price of burial lots to be added to such fund

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WHITE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 209.1), page 5, by inserting after line 18, the following: "Whenever the cemetery or burial corporation shall have deposited in the fund required to be established by the provisions of clause (1) of section two hundred nine, a sum equal to the amount of money required to be originally deposited in the fund required to be established by this section it shall submit proof of such fact to the corporate trustee and it shall be the duty of the corporate trustee to thereupon pay over to the cemetery or burial corporation, the amount so originally deposited by it in the permanent lot care fund, free and clear of the restrictions and limitations of this section."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention of the House that under the law, as it stands today, it provides in the corporation code that ten percent of the gross sales of all cemetery lots shall be placed in the fund for perpetual care of the cemetery grounds.

The bill that we have before us today has two extra provisions. It provides first that an additional ten percent shall be set aside in a perpetual care fund for the perpetual care of the individual grave lots.

Second it provides that a sum of $25,000 will be deposited in that perpetual care fund for the care of the lots before a charter will be granted.

Under my amendments there is a provision that as soon as the $25,000 sum is reached by reason of the deposits from the second ten percent of the sale price, then the original amount will be returned to the cemetery owners to be used as they see fit.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, the bill in question has been introduced because of the fact that promoters of burial lots have taken advantage of the situation whereby they are pocketing money that should be placed in a fund for the maintenance of graves.

The association of cemetery groups, the nonprofit as well as profit organizations, have proposed this bill. This bill will not affect any non-profit cemetery association, neither will it affect any presently existing cemetery organization that is for profit. It is for the protection of the public in the future.

Under the law as was stated by Mr. White it does provide that ten percent of the sale price of a burial plot be placed in a fund for the perpetual maintenance of cemetery plots. It has been found that this amount is inadequate, and therefore this bill proposes that in the future upon the formation of a profit cemetery association there shall be deposited a sum of $25,000 which shall be kept perpetually so that it will insure the perpetual care and maintenance of the cemetery so that it does not, as many have become, a mere graveyard.

This fund will remain as I said perpetually and there will be added to it an additional ten percent into this fund so that the annual income will be sufficient to maintain a cemetery. We all know the income from trust funds today does not exceed three percent, so that the income from the initial $25,000 deposit on a yearly basis would be merely $750 a year which we all know would be inadequate. Therefore it is necessary that the ten percent additional that is going to be added to this fund remain there and the original fund of $25,000 should not be returned to the promoters at such time as the fund created by the additional ten percent reaches $25,000.

This is for the protection of the public and for those who are interred in the cemeteries. It is necessary and we ask that these amendments be defeated.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call to the attention of the Members of the House that this act as it is before us today applies only to business corporations. It does not apply to nonprofit corporations.

I wish to bring to the attention of the Members of the House that if it is to protect the public, then it should be applicable to both nonprofit and profit organizations. If it is not for the purpose of protecting the public, then there is another reason. I say it seems to me that it is meant for the purpose of preventing people who wish to organize a cemetery and organize under the business corporation code,—make it a hardship on them to obtain a charter.

Today under the present act cemeteries are being maintained on ten percent of the gross sales. Under the act an additional ten percent is provided. My amendments only mean that the deposit which represents a guarantee at first will be returned when the $25,000 sum is reached.

There is an additional protection to the public and my amendments do not destroy that. But it is a very peculiar situation where an act is before us today to protect the public and yet does not apply to all cemetery associations in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HAROLD G. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I join in the sentiments of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, that we should vote these amendments down. The bill in its present form is a good bill and will eliminate the fly by night cemetery association. I ask the Members of the House to vote these amendments down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman withdraw the remainder of his amendments?

Mr. WHITE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1580, as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of Section 672 of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by changing the time for the levy and assessment of school taxes in certain cases

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 672 of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" as amended by the acts approved the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1017) and the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1722) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 672 Tax Levy Limitations (a) In all school districts of the second third and fourth class all school taxes shall except as hereinafter provided be levied and assessed by the board of school directors therein during the month of April or May each year for the ensuing fiscal year except in districts of the second class where the fiscal year begins on the first day of January in which the school taxes shall be levied and assessed during the month of October or November of each year In any year in which the Legislature is in session and has not completed its work prior to the date set for the levy and assessment of taxes such taxes may be levied within fifteen (15) days after the final enactment of all legislation affecting the school budget In school districts of the second class the tax rate shall not exceed twenty mills on the dollar and in school districts of the third and fourth class shall not exceed twenty-five mills on the dollar on the total amount of the assessed valuation of all property taxable for school purposes therein Each school district of the second third or fourth class may also collect a per capita tax on each resident or inhabitant of such district over twenty-one years of age as herein provided

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. I rise not to debate the bill, believe me, but just to ask a question of either one of the sponsors.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman simply this. I read the amendment, I noticed the word "may" is substituted for the word "will" and I wish to ask the gentleman does that mean that the board may, if it desires, adopt a budget at the stated time as has heretofore been the law?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, there is a possibility that there will have to be a change from the first budget they made, because of the present situation in the state Legislature. It may be that a change will have to be made, and this permits it if it is necessary.

The word "shall" was the original word, and would be harmful, because it means that they would have to have a new budget made, whether they desire to do so or not. This permits by the word "may" to reset a budget if found necessary, and that, and that alone is the intent of the bill and that word.

Mr. SEYLER. Just to make sure that I am right. It is correct then to say that the board will go ahead and make its budget at the usual time whether the Legislature is still in session or not. Then later it may make a different levy under this bill?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. That is correct.

Mr. SEYLER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 104, as follows:

An Act providing for the sentencing of persons convicted of certain crimes to an indeterminate sentence having a minimum of one day and a maximum of life in certain cases authorizing the criminal courts to impose such a sentence and certain temporary confinement in connection therewith requiring psychiatric examinations of such persons before the imposition of such a sentence conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Welfare and the Pennsylvania Board of Parole and providing for the parole and reparable or absolute discharge of persons so sentenced and the procedure relating thereto

Section 1 For the better administration of justice and the more efficient punishment treatment and rehabilitation of persons convicted of the crime of indecent assault incest assault with intent to commit sodomy solicitation to commit sodomy sodomy assault with intent to ravish or rape if the court is of the opinion that any such person if at large constitutes a threat of bodily harm to members of the public or is an habitual offender and mentally ill the court in lieu of the sentence now provided by law for each such crime may sentence such person to a State institution for an indeterminate term having a minimum of one day and a maximum of his natural life.

Section 2 No person convicted of a crime punishable in the discretion of the court under the provisions of this act with imprisonment in a State institution for an indeterminate term having a minimum of one day and a maximum of his natural life shall be so sentenced until (1) a complete psychiatric examination shall have been made of him through the facilities of the Department of Welfare as hereinafter provided or by a psychiatrist designated by the court the results of whose examination shall be transmitted to and accepted by the Department of Welfare in lieu of an examination made through its own facilities and (2) a complete written report thereof shall have been submitted to the court Such report shall include all facts and findings necessary to assist the court in determining whether it shall impose sentence under the provisions of this act upon the person convicted in lieu of the sentence otherwise provided by law

Section 3 (a) To enable the court to procure such a psychiatric examination and to afford the Department of Welfare time in which to make the same the court is hereby authorized and empowered to postpone sentence upon any person convicted of any one or more of the crimes enumerated in section one of this act and to order the person so convicted to temporary confinement in the prison or jail in which such person was confined prior to his trial or would have been confined if not free on bail Such period of temporary confinement shall not exceed a period of sixty (60) days unless the court on the request of the psychiatric examiner extends the observation period for an additional time not exceeding thirty (30) days It shall be the duty of the Department of Welfare to make A psychiatric examination of the prisoner and report to the court thereon within the period allowed by the court

(b) If for any reason such examination is not made and a report thereon given to the court within such period of temporary confinement the provisions of this act shall thereupon not be available to the court and it shall sentence the prisoner to such sentence as now provided by law and the period of temporary confinement herein provided for shall be considered as a part of the sentence so imposed whether it be for the purpose of determining the length of the sentence by the court or for the purpose of parole

Section 4 Whenever a court shall desire the Department of Welfare to make a psychiatric examination of and a report on a person convicted of any one or more of the crimes enumerated in section one of this act it shall make an order to that effect and it shall be the duty of the clerk of court to promptly notify the Department of Welfare of such order The Department of Welfare shall thereupon make such a psychiatric examination of the person so convicted either at a clinic State Hospital or other State Institution designated by the court or at the place where such person is in temporary confinement or it may request that he be brought to any clinic established by the Department of Welfare for such purposes or State Hospital or other State Institution In the latter event if agreeable to the court it shall order the person so convicted to be taken in custody to such institution

Section 5 (a) Whenever a court after psychiatric examination of and report on a person convicted of any one or more of the crimes enumerated in section one of this act shall be of the opinion that it would be to the best interests of justice to sentence such person under the provisions of this act he shall cause such person to be arraigned before him and sentenced to such State institution as shall have been designated by the Department of Welfare in its report to the court The cost of transporting such person to the State institution designated by the department and the cost of his maintenance therein shall be borne by the Commonwealth and the several counties to the extent and in the manner provided by law

(b) The costs of maintenance of any person so convicted while in temporary confinement as hereinbefore provided and costs of transportation shall be borne by the county and the cost of the psychiatric examination of and report on such person shall be borne by the Department of Welfare provided that where the psychiatric examination is made by a psychiatrist designated by the court the costs thereof shall be borne by the county

(c) The Department of Welfare in its report to the court is hereby authorized to designate a county jail penitentiary industrial school or any other State institution as the place of confinement of the person who is the subject of such report if the court elects to sentence such person under the provisions of this act

Section 6 It shall be the duty of the Department of Welfare from funds appropriated to it to provide psychiatric and psychological services to the courts as provided in section four of this act and to the Pennsylvania Board of Parole in the further examination diagnosis and treatment of persons sentenced under the provisions of this act during their confinement and parole as hereinafter provided for

The department may in its discretion establish one or more psychiatric clinics for the examination diagnosis and treatment of persons convicted of any one or more of the crimes enumerated in section one of this act when so ordered by a court or sentenced under the provisions hereof or may use existing clinics or services for such work provided that such clinics or services shall provide qualified personnel experienced in the field of psychiatry and psychology as it relates to crimes involving sexual perversion maladjustment or aberration

Section 7 Within three months after a person shall have been sentenced under the provisions of this act for an indeterminate term having a minimum of one day and a maximum of his natural life and at least every six months thereafter the Pennsylvania Board of Parole shall cause to be brought before it with respect to each such person all reports records and information concerning such person for the purpose of determining whether such person shall be paroled as hereinafter provided and it shall be the duty of the Board thereupon to make a ruling with respect to each such person who shall be notified in writing of such ruling Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit a person sentenced under the provisions of this act from making application for parole in the manner now provided by law

Section 8 The Pennsylvania Board of Parole is hereby granted exclusive control over the parole and reparole of persons sentenced under the provisions of this act whether imprisoned in a county jail penitentiary or other State institution The Board is hereby authorized and empowered to parole and reparole and commit and recommit for violation of parole any person sentenced under the provisions of this act at such time and under such conditions as the interest of justice may dictate In considering the parole or reparole or an application for parole of any person sentenced under the provisions of this act the Board shall give serious consideration to the original report and subsequent reports of the psychiatric and psychological examination of the person so sentenced the recommendations contained in such reports and the view of the committing court

Section 9 Except as otherwise provided in this act the Pennsylvania Board of Parole shall have all the powers conferred and duties imposed upon it with respect to the parole of prisoners generally in the parole and supervision of persons sentenced under the provisions of this act

Section 10 All acts and parts of acts are hereby repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this act

Section 12 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, before moving to recommend House Bill 1624 to the Committee on Welfare for further study, I wish to call to your attention certain provisions of this bill.

When the Department of Public Assistance was set up in 1937 care was taken to give to the local county boards of assistance the widest autonomy. From time to time the Department of Public Assistance has tried to diminish these powers and now, if this bill is passed in its present form no authority will be left to the county boards.

This bill proposes to amend the present law as follows:

Section 4 (a) to read "subject to the rules and standards of the department; (b) and to enforce compliance therewith by the local boards to establish for such boards and by persons receiving assistance." (c) direct and supervise the local boards to establish for such boards rules, regulations and standards and to enforce compliance therewith. (j) to employ investigators on a salary basis . . .

These are bad amendments because it is hardly likely that representatives would agree to serve on boards whose autonomy would be entirely destroyed if such limitations were passed.

This bill proposes further that the present policy of granting "temporary" assistance providing determination of an applicant's eligibility as to residence shall be prohibited. The policy would place the care of these applicants on the county institution districts, which are not in position to assume such responsibility.

One proposed amendment, the one providing for conviction in a summary proceeding is a move in the right direction and would, if enacted, help to control the chiselers.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare for further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to make just a few statements concerning this bill. I believe at this time I would just like to say that this bill should not be returned to the Committee for any further consideration, since it has had due and deliberate attention.

Many of the provisions in this bill are an attempt to clean up what we are all willing to admit is next thing to a scandal in Pennsylvania. That is, the chiseling and the drawing of money out of the pockets of honest taxpayers by those who do not have the guts to get out and earn their own living.

You can find many instances in this bill where we have tried to tighten up on the administration of relief. During the entire session it has been our endeavor on both sides of this House, and on both sides of the Senate to tighten down on the expenditures of public money for public assistance as it applies to those who are not entitled to it. It is true that we have in this bill a provision for summary conviction. This will permit a local county board when it finds a chiseler to immediately bring him before the law, have him sentenced and clean up the case. As the situation exists now often times a year, a year and a half, in fact any amount of time that a

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Judge might prefer because of political or other reasons, to not bring a case up, or suspend it, and therefore the chiseler is never brought to account until long after his act has been committed.

It is also possible at times the delay is taking place that the chiseling may continue. There has been some very serious consideration given to the fact that a little more central authority be given to the central board here in Harrisburg.

I admit that more authority is being given to the board in Harrisburg in the matter of enforcing and bringing about the use of rules and regulations which they promulgate. We have for many years been operating actually with sixty-seven boards of assistance. It is a fact that at the present time county boards may accept or reject the rules and regulations of the central board here in Harrisburg. In most instances I will say the county boards have been very careful and have been very diligent in their work and often have considered the rules and regulations of the central board not as stringent as they themselves want it and therefore made stricter eligibility rules.

But, Mr. Speaker, we have also found in our investigations of the relief situation that there are places and there are counties where boards have refused to accept the rules promulgated by the central board as being too strict on eligibility and have adopted a looser set of regulations for political or other reasons known to themselves. It is a fact that in these areas chiseling and expenditure of moneys of the Commonwealth has been way beyond what actually were the needs of that area.

We need only to look at certain areas where in one week's time 600 people have been knocked off the relief rolls. We have to make a choice.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

Mr. McMILLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McNally, temporarily withdraw his motion to recommit so that the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, may debate the merits of the bill?

Mr. McNALLY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not realize that I was going afield. I wanted to explain what the purpose of this bill is; why we should keep it out of Committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, we have to make a choice. We do realize that we are centralizing authority in the central board here, but it is a fact that the board in Harrisburg is furnishing one hundred percent of the money and, therefore, should have some control and some say over these rules and regulations of eligibility.

The question is whether the abuses that exist among the boards who will not accept the present rules and regulations justifies this centralization of authority in order to bring about that acceptance.

For myself I debated this question a long time in my own mind, and have debated it on many occasions with people who are thinking on both sides of the question.

It seems to me that since it has not worked, over a period of years, to the benefit of the Commonwealth, we had better, at least for a short period of time, try this new approach in order to bring about the results that the legislature desires.

That, Mr. Speaker, is a desire to give to the needy, the aged, the blind and the disabled the help and assistance—just exactly what it says; it is an assistance law—and to stop the misuse of funds on those who are able to take care of themselves.

The decision is up to the Members on the floor of this House. For myself, I have made the decision that it is worth trying at least for the rest of this biennium. For that reason, I ask that the bill be not recommitted to the Committee on Welfare.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking only for myself concerning this bill. The authority that furnishes the money is obligated to police expenditure; to make as certain as is humanly possible that the funds spent for public assistance are spent in conformity with the Legislative intent.

Investigations that have been made in the last two years have demonstrated that from six to ten million dollars a year represent the amount of money that was being spent for public assistance, contrary to the legislative intent as expressed in the Public Assistance Act.

There has, up to this time, been little effort made in Harrisburg to make certain that there was uniformity as far as the treatment of the needy was concerned. It is the business of the Commonwealth to see that all the needy in the various counties are treated on the same basis and it is the duty of the Commonwealth to police the expenditure of public assistance funds, at least when those funds total $130,000,000.

The gentleman from Indiana is quite correct when he says that in some of the counties in this Commonwealth public assistance boards have actually run hog-wild. Perhaps their action was based upon generous intent, but it was, nevertheless, depleting improperly the funds with which the Commonwealth had supplied them. I believe it is high time that the Commonwealth establishes a policy of policing the expenditure of the funds that it furnishes, and of seeing to it that there is uniformity throughout the Commonwealth in the manner in which the Public Assistance Law is administered.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McMILLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, are not the members of the various county boards appointed by the Governor of the Commonwealth?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, is it not within the

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is right. prerogative of the Governor to remove such members of such boards if he is advised that the board is running hog-wild, as you state?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, any appointments made by the Governor may be recalled by the Governor, I would say that is a fair statement.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, would it not be more advisable that the Governor of this Commonwealth be advised of situations that are taking place in certain counties and he remedy the situation by removing those boards?

Mr. McMILLEN. That is a matter of opinion, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, is it not also a fact that the purpose of these county boards is to de-centralize the public assistance setup?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, that I presume was the intent and purpose at the time it was set up and they still will have authority; power to supervise and look after the administration of relief in the county to which they are appointed, even under this bill.

The only thing is if the central board, after due deliberation, promulgates the rule of eligibility and sends it out to the local boards, it will then be their responsibility to see that at least those standards are maintained.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, assuming that these situations do exist and the Governor does not see fit to remove these boards, would it not be possible under the present setup that when orders come through from the county boards to Harrisburg—to the central office—that the recommendations of the county boards be ignored?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry, I did not get the intent of the question.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, what I am getting at is this: Under the centralized setup that we now have in counties, which I imagine is for the purpose of making it easy to administer the laws in the Public Assistance setup, if we remove those boards or restrict those boards, would it not throw a greater burden on Harrisburg and make the administration of relief a more cumbersome and less efficient matter of administration?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, no, I do not think so. It very definitely will place a greater responsibility upon the administrators of public assistance here in Harrisburg. I think that that is exactly what the Legislature intends, because when public criticism arises it is not directed at the county boards of public assistance; it is directed at the state board of public assistance. If we are going to correct the situation, we must start at the bottom of the thing and build from there out.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman grant me this? If the Governor, under the present setup, has the right to remove such boards it would be better to maintain the present system whereby the local boards are able to determine the immediate need rather than to have to refer them back to Harrisburg or the central board for a decision that may take weeks and maybe months?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not see where any situation of that kind can even arise.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman had experience with some of our other boards wherein it was necessary to refer to the Harrisburg office a case for determination? Do you know the red tape and time that it takes to get answers?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, there are times when situations arise that perhaps might take time in some boards, but here you have a clear cut case. They have laid down a rule of eligibility and either a fellow is eligible or he is not eligible, and that is the answer.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, does not an occasion sometimes arise whereby it may be a borderline case and the need for assistance—whether it is clothing or food—may be such that the person cannot wait one week or two weeks, and it may be necessary for local authorities to expend local sums in order to meet that requirement or that need?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, if such a case as that arises, as in the case of transients or something like that, all we need to do is walk down the street to the courthouse, and the county commissioners in any county, surely will be able to take care of them for a day or two or a week.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, then you would place in those cases the burden upon the local county setup?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, is there any difference? The people are paying the bill one way or the other and there is no use in kidding ourselves about that.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, these transients may have come in from some other locality for which the local county does not feel responsible.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, they can be sent back to where they came from.

Mr. SCHMIDT. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

I believe with the information furnished by the sponsor of the bill to the effect that the situation he is endeavoring to correct can be remedied under the present existing law whereby the Governor, being the appointive power has the power to remove, if situations do arise or do exist such as the sponsor states, it would be very, very easy to remedy the situation as it is then found.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I note under Section 7 that the powers and duties of county boards of assistance shall be: first, to administer public assistance in the county and determine the eligibility for assistance of applicants and continued eligibility for assistance of persons receiving the same. That is a clear-cut declaration.

The second obligation upon the board as stipulated in the bill is that it shall be the duty of the local boards to conform to the rules, regulations and standards established by the Department of Public Assistance.

Those two statements are the heart of the bill that we are considering and those two statements are in line with correct procedure.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, there is one point I think we ought to dwell on just a minute. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, thinks that he can solve this problem by just removing a board. It is not as simple as that. The Boards of Public Assistance in the various counties are appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate. Then, Mr. Speaker, I believe it would follow that he just cannot tell those people they are out. They are nominated and approved for a term of office. They serve until their duly elected successors are qualified. If the Governor wanted to dismiss a board of public assistance, for instance, in my county, it seems to me he could not just pick them up and say "you are out," without the consent of the Senate on that score. So I think, Mr. Speaker, the easy way out, as he tried to put it, just does not exist.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I disagree with the conclusion arrived at by the sponsor of the amendment. The law has always been that the appointive power has the power to remove. The Governor has always seen fit to appoint in the various counties representative citizens in those counties.

These citizens serve without pay. They assume a duty which they feel is a very important part of their civic activity. To place a restriction at this time upon those boards, I feel would tend to make those members feel that they are not trusted; their administrative ability is not that which it should be, and you will find that those people will refuse to serve in the future. In other words, they will not want to become rubber stamps.

If you do have men who arbitrarily ignore the law and the provisions of the law, I feel that the county would be justified in removing them and there is no necessity whatsoever to place upon the statute books of this Commonwealth such restrictions as are contained in this bill.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare for further study.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. McNally, Schmidt and Polaski.

SENATE

THURSDAY, September 27, 1951

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Fred P. Hare) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM D. McLEAN, Pastor of St. Peters Episcopal Church, Butler, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, the fountain of all wisdom, Who knowest our necessities before we ask and our ignorance in asking, we beseech Thee to bless this Senate about to be in session. Sanctify all their thoughts and endeavors, that they may neither begin an action without a pure intention nor continue it without Thy blessing. And grant that, having the eyes of the mind opened to behold things invisible and unseen, they may in heart be inspired by Thy wisdom and in work be held up by Thy strength. This we ask through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. MALLERY, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Whereas Under the Constitution and the laws of this Commonwealth the State Treasurer may not pay out any moneys unless they be specifically appropriated by Act of the General Assembly therefore

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That the sum of eighty million dollars ($80,000,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the State Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of paying the salaries and wages of the officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses of the State government in the interim between the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and such time as moneys appropriated by the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts of one thousand nine hundred fifty-one may become available for such purposes and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

Section 2 Payments out of the appropriation of this act shall be made by the State Treasurer upon requisitions by the several departments boards commissions or officers in the same manner as payments are ordinarily made

Section 3 All amounts paid by the State Treasurer in accordance with this act shall be charged against the appropriations made for the salaries and wages of the officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses of the State government in the General Appropriation Act of one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 636, as follows:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" by authorizing investments in common stocks and similar securities of unincorporated associations meeting certain qualifications and eliminating the requirement that stock and similar securities must be listed on an exchange as to the stock and securities of banks and insurance and investment companies

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 Stocks

(a) Preferred and Common Stock Preferred and common stock of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any commonwealth or state thereof or of the District of Columbia shall be an authorized investment if

(1) purchase in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during such year [and]

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year and

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank or insurance company or of an investment company (as hereinafter defined) the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privileges shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made which at that time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth are exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon published market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporation has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituent corporations shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the requirements of this section have been satisfied

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

"Investment Company" as used in this section shall mean a corporation which is registered as an investment company under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940 as from time to time amended and which has no preferred stock bonds loans or any other outstanding securities having preference or priority as to assets or earnings over its common stock

"Common stock" as used in this section shall include the stock certificates of beneficial interests or trust participation certificates issued by any corporation or unincorporated association included under the definition of "corporation" in the preceding paragraph which was returned from the House of Representatives with amendments.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, while the Republican Members were in caucus, there was brought to my attention an article appearing in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette as of this date, written by Miss Ingrid Jewell, correspondent of the Pittsburgh Post, in their Washington Bureau. It concerns redistricting in Allegheny County.

It appears to me, Mr. President, if there is any leadership in Allegheny County in the Republican Party, they should come forward now and try and save the Congressmen in Allegheny County, and not steal a Congressman from us. This article, Mr. President, states that the plan for Allegheny County was worked out by the two County Republican Senators, Senator Walker, of Oakmont, and Senator Fleming, of Aspinwall.

As you know, Mr. President, Allegheny County for many many years has been a Democratic County. I have looked over the jig saw puzzle that they have presented, I presume, to the Chairman of the Reapportionment Committee, and I find that after next year's election, when probably the Democrats will carry the county by approximately one hundred thousand votes, the minority will be representing the majority in Congress. In other words, there will be four Congressmen with a one hundred thousand plurality, one will be a Democrat and three Republicans.

Mr. President, I want to serve notice on Senator Walker and Senator Flemming, if this bill comes to the floor in this form—they thought, I think it was in 1945, I am not sure, that Senator Barr put on a little show on the gerrymandering you did then but you have run across an irate Irishman, and I promise you I do not think we will be home for Christmas.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, now that is just another demonstration of the danger of education. People learn to read the newspapers, newspapers learn to write stories. I have not the faintest idea who the newspaper correspondent is that wrote that or the source of her information.

Mr. President, I am not denying the bill in 1945, but I certainly refuse to accept the charge of parentage on anything that might be done in Allegheny County in 1951. As far as I am concerned, the present dedistricting leaves me very happy. It might not produce the same emotional result in the breast of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, but I have no desire whatsoever to change Allegheny County. Just because the newspaper article says it was done by Senator Fleming and Senator Walker, that should not be accepted as gospel. For the gentleman's information, I had nothing to do with it. I do not want to have anything to do with it. I want to leave it just as it is.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I want to read one paragraph to my colleague. The caption on the paragraph there is, "Local Senators Father Plan."

"The plan, so far as Allegheny County is concerned, was worked out by the County's two Republican Senators: John M. Walker, of Oakmont, and Robert D. Fleming, of Aspinwall. They did so at the request of Senator G. Graybill Diehm, Lancaster, Republican Chairman of the Senate Reapportionment Committee."

Mr. President, I said I was taking this story; I did not write the story myself, Senator Walker. I simply ask that if there is any Republican leadership left in our county, there should be something done to try and save the Congressmen we have in our county now.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman knows, because we have discussed this, that it has been my firm conviction they should leave Allegheny County alone. If they want to drop Congressmen from Pennsylvania, they can drop them from Philadelphia where it would not hurt Allegheny County.

Mr. President, in Allegheny County the Democrats outnumber the Republicans by about one hundred fifty-two thousand. There are five Republican Congressmen under the present redistricting plan which has been in effect since 1945. There are two Democratic districts, there are two Republican districts and there is one district that you could ordinarily, and in average times, call a tossup, but Allegheny County has living in that district a young man who at the present time represents that district in Congress. He is a very effective, persistent, diligent and constant campaigner, and as a result he continues to be re-elected by increasing majorities. Now, Mr. President, that gentleman's registration happens to be Republican, so that in a county where the Democrats outnumber us by one hundred fifty-two thousand, where we have five Congressmen, three of them happen to be Republican.

Now, Mr. President, that does not make Senator Barr happy, and I can understand that. I am certainly not in a position, and do not want to go along willingly, to father a plan that would not only deprive Allegheny County of a Congressman, but would also deprive us of a couple of delegates to the Convention, which sometimes seems to be more important than Congressmen.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I ask, publicly or privately?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this has to be publicly.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Is this story true?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the answer is no.

Mr. BARR. Thank you, Mr. President.

RECESS

Mr. WOOD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WOOD, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, September 27, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that when the Senate adjourns next week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns next week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at four thirty o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Section 4 During the lifetime of the said person he or she shall be entitled to receive a pension from the fund set aside for the purpose of fifty per centum of the amount which would constitute the average rate of pay at which he or she was employed during the highest salaried five years of his or her employment by the said city or other public employment as aforesaid Said pension shall be paid in monthly payments Provided That if any pension be granted to a person who has not been a contributor to the pension fund as herein provided during a period of twenty years such person shall be required to pay into the board of pensions monthly an amount equal to [two] four per centum of his or her pension until such time as his or her contribution shall have extended during a period of twenty years Should any person so employed after twenty years of service be dismissed voluntarily retire or be in any manner deprived of his position or employment before attaining the age of sixty years upon continuing a monthly payment to the fund equal to the last amount due and paid monthly while in active service said person shall be entitled to a pension above mentioned notwithstanding he or she has not attained the age of sixty years at the time of his or her separation from the public service but said pensions shall not commence until he or she has attained the age of sixty years Should any employee however become totally and permanently disabled while in the service after twenty years of service and before attaining the age of sixty years he or she shall be entitled to the said pension Proof of total and permanent disability shall consist of the sworn statement of three practicing physicians designated by the board that the employee is in a permanent condition of health which would totally disable him or her from performing the duties of his or her position or office Provided That in cases where the nature of such disability is such as to disable the employee from performing any work whatsoever either within or without the scope of his regular duties or within or without the service of such city or county the board may upon a recommendation of the three practicing physicians herein provided for retire upon pension such applicant after a service of fifteen years Provided further That the benefits of this amendment shall apply to members of the pension fund who have been contributors to the said fund for five years or more the pension paid to any one employee whose monthly payments into the pension fund have been four dollars or less a month shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month The pension paid to any one employee whose monthly payments into the pension fund have been more than four dollars a month for a period of at least two years may exceed one hundred dollars per month but shall not exceed two hundred dollars per month Provided That if an employee upon the date of retirement from service shall have made payments of more than four dollars a month unto the pension fund for a period of less than two years his or her pension shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month but an amount equal to the total amount paid in excess over four dollars a month shall be returned to such employee

The pension to be paid to any former employee who was dismissed voluntarily retired or in any manner deprived of his position and employment after having twenty years of service as an employee of said city and who has continued making payments to the fund equal to the last amount due and paid monthly while in active service and who has not accepted any pension under the provisions of the act to which this is an amendment shall be at the pension rate as provided in section five and his payments to the board of pensions after the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five shall be in an amount equal to the amount which he would have been permitted to make had he continued in the employ of said city after the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five and had continued to be paid the same salary as he received when he was last employed by said city This new amount whether it be more less or the same as the amount which he paid prior to the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five he shall continue to pay until he applies for a pension under the provisions of this act If there be any difference between the amount which he has paid from the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five and the amount which he has elected to pay under the provisions of section five he shall pay such difference into the board of pensions [within six months of the effective date of this amendment] on or before the first day of December one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

Section 2 Subsection (d) of Section 4.1 of said act as added thereto by the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 845) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4.1

(d) Every such lesser pension shall be proportionate to the pension which the employe would be entitled to receive after twenty years of service and contribution computed as if he had continued to receive during the remainder of the twenty years the same salary as at the time of the termination of his active service average rate of pay at which he was employed during the highest salaried five years of his active service as his number of months of service is to two hundred forty-months

Section 3 Sections 4.2 and 4.3 are hereby added to said act to read as follows

Section 4.2 In no event shall the pension hereafter payable after twenty (20) years of service be less than seventy-five dollars ($75.00) a month or after fifteen (15) years and less than twenty (20) years of service be less than sixty dollars ($60.00) a month to any person now or hereafter entitled to a pension under the provisions of this act

Section 4.3 Any married person retiring under the provisions of this act shall at the time of his or her retirement receive the pension provided by this act during his or her lifetime and a pension after his or her death payable to his or her surviving spouse at the time of retirement equal to fifty per centum of his or her pension. Provided That such person so retiring shall have been married to his or her spouse for not less than five years prior to the date of retirement and the spouse is dependent upon such deceased employe at the time of his or her death

The pension to be paid to such surviving spouse shall begin on the first day of the month in which the death of the deceased spouse occurs on the first day of the month following the surviving spouse's attainment of the age of fifty-five whichever is the later and shall continue to and terminate upon the death of such surviving spouse unless such surviving spouse shall re-marry in which event the payment of his or her survivor's pension shall thereupon be terminated

The word "pension" as used in this section shall be construed to mean the sum of the pension provided by this act plus the amount of service increment if any to which the married person retiring under the provisions of this act shall be entitled

Section 4 Paragraph (1) of Section 14 of said act as added thereto by the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 852) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 14 In addition to the pension which is authorized by this act and notwithstanding the limitations therein placed upon pensions and upon contributions every contributor who shall become entitled to the payment of a pension and who has been employed by the said city or county for at least twenty-one years shall also be entitled to the payment in addition to the said pension of a "service increment" in accordance with and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth

(1) Service increment shall be the sum obtained by computing the number of whole years in excess of twenty years during which a contributor has been employed by such city or county and paid out of the city treasury and multiplying the said number of years so computed by an amount equal to one-fortieth of the pension which has become payable to such contributor in accordance with the provisions of this act. Provided That no service increment may be paid for employment of more than twenty such excess years nor for any excess years which shall accrue after a contributor has reached the age of [sixty-five] seventy years and no service increment shall be paid in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per month

Section 5 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to affect the power of a city of the first class or the powers or duties of any board department or the council thereof to provide and administer pension and retirement systems covering officers and employes of the city as provided by and authorized and directed under the Home Rule Charter of such city

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

Mr. DIEHM. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I feel that perhaps it would be better to make this statement. I am sorry that it could not be made with the full Senate and with a crowded Senate Chamber.

At yesterday's Session, Mr. President, during the course of the night—Mr. President, I am sorry I cannot tell you whether it was before or after midnight, Standard Time, because we were not keeping track of that—there was a discussion took place at the rail between one of the recesses that we were enjoying, and I was discussing a matter with several House Members, and in a spirit of jest, because we were kidding each other back and forth, I made a remark regarding the House and its Membership that, much to my surprise, has evidently affronted several individual Members of the House.

Mr. President, I want to say for the record, not that it is going to change the opinion of any Member of the House with regard to the effect of the statement, but merely to clear the matter of the record, that the statement was made. I did make the statement quoted in the newspapers. It was made in a spirit of levity and jest, because we were kidding each other back and forth. It was not made with any intention of speaking in a derogatory manner of the House or any individual Member of the House, and if it has hurt the pride or the esteem of any Member of the House, Mr. President, I would like at this time to say I am very sorry. I had no intention whatsoever at any time of speaking officially or unofficially in any manner that would reflect discredit upon any of the two hundred eight Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the statement was not made, to be frank with you, in an official manner. It was made strictly between two friends and it was overheard. As I said, I cannot deny that I made it, and to the gentlemen who feel that it was an affront, my sincere apologies.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

APPROVED AND SIGNED SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 668, PRINTER'S No. 357

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor Senate Bill No. 668, Printer's No. 357, for the purpose of further consideration.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

JOHN S. FINE.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be laid on the table.

NOT VOTING—3

DuBois, Swartz, Westrick,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 676, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1144) entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries of certain county officers of counties of the second class" by increasing the salaries of certain county officers.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I had intended to debate these bills at length. I am prepared to do that. I have heard so many bad speeches in this House during the last few weeks that I question whether I could stand to hear even myself make a good one anymore.

I am going to make one statement on these bills. I am referring to the series of bills that we are starting on now. I believe there are seven bills in this series. These bills if enacted into law as we have them on our calendar now, are going to cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania an additional $810,000 every year, or on a four year administrative basis $3,240,000. Personally I think they are bad bills and I propose to vote against them.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that a situation has arisen which would imply that presence of the Majority Leader was needed upon the floor.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that there be a delay in the proceedings until the Majority Leader returns to the floor.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair accedes to that request, and the House will be at ease until the return of the Majority Leader.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that we pass over these bills until the Majority Leader returns.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 676, Printer's No. 607, was passed over at the request of Mr. ANDREWS.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, we have already passed, as I understand, Senate Bill 658, which is one of the group of bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, the Chair is of the opinion that upon the return of the Majority Leader, if the reconsideration becomes necessary it can be done, so that this series of bills may be considered as a package.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 677, Printer's No. 608,

Senate Bill No. 678, Printer's No. 609,

Senate Bill No. 679, Printer's No. 610,

Senate Bill No. 680, Printer's No. 611,

Senate Bill No. 681, Printer's No. 612 and

Senate Bill No. 682, Printer's No. 613,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 796, as follows:

An Act prohibiting the occupation of living quarters over or the depositing of foreign substances in any which is the source of water used for human consumption prescribing penalties and authorizing the courts of common pleas to enjoin violations

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Any person who occupies any living quarters or permits another to occupy living quarters owned or under his control in a building over a lake or pond which is the source at any time during the year of water commonly used for human consumption without purification treatment or who deposits refuse garbage or any other foreign substances in such waters shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of three hundred dollars ($300) or to undergo imprisonment for six (6) months or both

Section 2 Upon application of the Department of Health or any person particularly aggrieved the court of common pleas of any county sitting in equity may be injunction enforce the compliance with or restrain the violation of section 1 of this act

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1652 Printer's No. 1022, was passed over at the request of Mr. READINGER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1662, as follows:

An Act authorizing the issue and sale of bonds by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order to purchase and cancel all or any part of the obligations of The General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority or either of them in certain cases

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That an amendment to Article nine of the Constitution by adding thereto section twenty-two which reads as follows

"Section 22 In addition to the purposes stated in article nine of the Constitution the Commonwealth may be authorized by law to create debt and to issue bonds in order to purchase and cancel all or any part of the obligation of The General State Authority not in excess of $175,000,000 and the State Highway and Bridge Authority not in excess of $40,000,000 or either of them" may be adopted by the people at the election in November one thousand nine hundred fifty-two If the people adopt said amendment the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in accordance with the provisions thereof and on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized during the fiscal biennium beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred fifty-one from time to time to borrow sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate at any one time the sum of $215,000,000 as may be found necessary to carry out the purposes of such amendment and statutes passed in conformity therewith

Section 2 Bonds Issue Maturity Interest Et Cetera

(a) As evidence of the indebtedness herein authorized bonds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such form in such denominations and subject to such terms and conditions of issue redemption and maturity rate or rates of interest not to exceed four and one-half per cent ( $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ ) per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall direct

(b) All bonds issued under the authority of this act shall bear facsimile signatures of the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer and a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall be countersigned by two duly authorized officers of the duly authorized loan and transfer agents of the Commonwealth

(c) The principal and interest of such bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States All bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

(d) Such bonds may be issued with or without interest coupons attached In case interest coupons are attached they shall contain facsimile signatures of the State Treasurer and the Auditor General

(e) The Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer shall proceed to have the necessary bonds prepared and printed The bonds as soon as they are prepared and printed shall be forthwith deposited with the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth there to remain until sold in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 3 Sale of Bonds Whenever bonds are so issued they shall be offered for sale at not less than par and accrued interest and shall be sold by the Governor the Auditor General and State Treasurer to the highest and best bidder or bidders after due public advertisement on such terms and conditions and upon such open competitive bidding as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall direct The manner and character of such advertisement and the times of advertising shall be prescribed by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer

Any portion of any bond issue so offered and not sold or subscribed for may be disposed of by private sale by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in such manner and at such prices not less than par and accrued interest as the Governor shall direct No commission shall be allowed or paid for the sale of any bonds issued under the authority of this act

Section 4 Disposition and Use of Proceeds The proceeds realized from the sale of bonds under the provisions of this act and such other moneys as the General Assembly shall from time to time appropriate for like purposes shall be paid into two special funds in the State Treasury hereby created to be known as The General tSate Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund and shall be used for the payment of the obligations of The General State Authority not in excess of $175,000,000 and the State Highway and Bridge Authority not in excess of $40,000,000 or either of them

Section 5 Registration of Bonds The Auditor General shall prepare the necessary registry books to be kept in the office of the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth for the registration of any bonds at the request of owners thereof according to the terms and conditions of issue directed by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer under section two paragraph (a) hereof All bonds which are issued without interest coupons attached shall be registered in the registry books kept by the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth

Section 6 Information to General Assembly It shall be the duty of the Governor to include in every biennial budget submitted to the General Assembly full information relating to the issuance of bonds under the provisions of this act to enable the General Assembly to provide by appropriation the moneys necessary for the sinking fund of the Commonwealth for the payment of the interest on said bonds and the principal thereof at maturity

Section 7 Special Fund Investments Redemption of Bonds All bonds issued under the authority of this act shall be redeemed at maturity and all interest due from time to time on such bonds shall be paid from The General State Authority Sinking Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Sinking Fund For specific purpose of redeeming said bonds at maturity and paying all interest thereon in accordance with the information received from the Governor the General Assembly shall appropriate biennially the moneys necessary for the payment of the interest on said bonds and the principal thereof at maturity All moneys so appropriated shall be paid into The General State Authority Sinking Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Sinking Fund by the State Treasurer and all of such moneys not necessary to pay accruing interest shall be invested by the Board of Finance and Revenue in such securities as are provided by law for the investment of the sinking funds of the Commonwealth

The Board of Finance and Revenue is authorized at any time to use any of the moneys in The General State Authority Sinking Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Sinking Fund not necessary for the payment of the obligations of The General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority in accordance with the provisions of the constitutional amendment hereinbefore cited and the legislation passed in conformity therewith for the purchase and retirement of all or any part of the bonds issued under the authority of this act In the event that all or any part of said bonds shall be purchased by the Board of Finance and Revenue they shall be cancelled and returned to the State Treasurer as cancelled and paid bonds and thereafter all payments of interest thereon shall cease and the cancelled bonds and coupons shall be destroyed within two (2) years after cancellation in the presence of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer and a certificate evidencing the destruction satisfactory to the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth shall be furnished to it All cancelled bonds and coupons shall be so marked as to make the cancelled bonds and coupons non-negotiable

Section 8 Present Biennium Requirements The Board of Finance and Revenue shall determine the amount of money necessary for the payment of interest on the bonds and the principal thereof if any for the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and the times and amounts of such payments and the amount so determined shall be transferred from The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund to The General State Authority Sinking Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Sinking Fund and for such purpose as much of the money in The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund is hereby appropriated Should the moneys in The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund for any reason not be available for the payment of interest on the bonds or the principal thereof if any the funds necessary for such purpose are hereby appropriated from the General Fund and the Motor License Fund as appropriate and whenever any moneys are transferred from The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund for the payment of said interest on the principal of said bonds and such moneys are needed for the payment of the obligations of The General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority as provided by law there is hereby appropriated from the General Fund and the Motor License Fund a sum sufficient to restore to The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund the moneys so transferred

Section 9 Quorum Whenever in this act any action is to be taken or decision made by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer and the three officers shall not be able unanimously to agree the action or decision of the Governor and either the Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be binding and final except that it shall be the mandatory duty of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer to issue bonds in accordance with the constitutional amendment quoted in the first section of this act in such time that payment of obligations of The General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority as provided for in said constitutional amendment and legislation passed in conformity therewith may be made upon the establishment of the qualifications of those entitled thereto

Section 10 Expenses of Preparation Issue and Sale of Bonds For the purpose of providing the bonds and for the payment of the cost of advertising the same and for payment of the compensation of the loan and transfer agent for the biennium 1951-1953 and for all other costs and expenses in connection with the issue of and sale and registration of said bonds there is hereby appropriated from the General Fund the sum of six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000) Payments from said appropriation shall be made by requisition of the Auditor General after approval of vouchers by the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer The amount that shall be necessarily expended from said appropriation for the purposes stated shall be repaid from The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund into the General Fund from the receipts of the sale of said bonds As much of the money in The General State Authority Fund and the State Highway and Bridge Authority Fund as may be necessary is hereby appropriated for this purpose

Section 11 The authority granted herein by the General Assembly for the issuance and sale of bonds in order to purchase and cancel all or any part of the obligations of The General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority shall not be considered as a grant of authority by the General Assembly to The General State Authority or the State Highway and Bridge Authority to replace or renew the obligations cancelled by the sale of bonds herein authorized

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall enter the proposed Constitution or amendments upon the records of his office and shall publish the same in at least two newspapers of general circulation if there are such in every county of this Commonwealth once during the week immediately preceding the election. He shall also publish them in convenient form and send a copy thereof to each elector requesting one and ten copies thereof through the County Board of Elections to each polling place for the use of voters during the election.

The Constitution or amendments proposed and the question or questions to be voted on shall be certified by the president and secretary of the convention to the Secretary of the Commonwealth not later than the first day of September in the year one thousand nine hundred fifty-three. The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall enter the proposed Constitution or amendments upon the records of his office and shall publish the same in at least two newspapers of general circulation if there are such in every county of this Commonwealth once during the week immediately preceding the election. He shall also publish them in convenient form and send a copy thereof to each elector requesting one and ten copies thereof through the County Board of Elections to each polling place for the use of voters during the election.

Section 9 Adoption or Rejection The constitution or any amendments proposed by the convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the Commonwealth for their approval or rejection in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth. The majority vote of the electors voting thereon shall determine whether the proposed Constitution or any amendment is adopted or rejected. The Constitution or any amendments if adopted shall become effective upon the first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-four unless the Constitution or the schedule thereto or the amendments otherwise provide.

The Governor upon receipt of a certificate of the results of the election from the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall if the proposed Constitution or any amendments have been adopted immediately make a proclamation thereof.

Section 10 Employes The convention shall have the power to employ and fix salaries of such secretary officers assistants and other employes as shall be deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

Section 11 The members of the constitutional convention shall each receive a salary of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) payable in five equal installments and an allowance for expenses of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per month.

Section 12 All payments from any appropriation made by the General Assembly for the purposes of this act shall be made on the warrants of the Auditor General upon requisition of the president of the convention or of the Secretary of the Commonwealth as the case may be.

Section 13 The members of the General Assembly and public officers under the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby declared to be eligible for election and to receive compensation as delegates to the convention herein provided for.

Section 14 The sum of six hundred forty-five thousand dollars ($645,000.00) is hereby appropriated for the purposes of this act.

Section 15 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. The times are ill suited for tampering with the Commonwealth's basic law.

In monumental folly the French Republic, not too long ago, set up a new Constitution during unsettled and dangerous days. They abandoned a wisely designed document—a product of the eighteen-seventies even like Pennsylvania's.

Today, France is in a flat spin. They toil in confusion and in trouble. Never forget that they have lost their lode star.

Our State Constitution, placed in jeopardy by this bill, is a skillfully drawn instrument.

Realistically it meets the ways and weaknesses of humans. It is marked by checks and balances which cushion mistaken trends and tastes.

For the long pull of history it continues effectively and consistently to keep us on the beam, Mr. Speaker.

It is liberal enough to admit change when changes are needed.

Still it is rugged enough to stand off the sweep of ideas that are not deeply rooted in the people.

I submit, Mr. Speaker, that we should not gamble at unfavorable odds, with the immeasurable benefits that we enjoy under the present supreme articles of government.

Surely we are doing just that when we entrust the survival of our existing rights to the mercies of a Constitutional Convention called in such forbidding times. Called in times when the Nation was never in greater peril, when Americans are absorbed with the hazards of our position, when our national economy is heading for a possible crack-up under all-out arming for war, and when the fire of politically powerful pressure groups was never more deadly.

Why the clamor for re-writing the Constitution, Mr. Speaker? They say it has become an untidy maze of amendments.

True, to some extent, it has. In similar vein the same may be said of an old shoe, worn comfortable and serviceable through use and adjustment.

So it is with Pennsylvania's Constitution. In truth appearance is inconsequential for the substance is there.

Embedded in a great document brilliantly planned to meet our needs.

Moreover, a Constitution by its very nature is a beacon light for the ages; not just a trifling affair for a few decades. It connotes seasoned, lasting guidance, the essence of human wisdom gathered along the far paths of history. It is not an instrument needing quick and drastic change. We should not be led astray by this reaching for streamlining; this straining for verbal symmetry.

They tell me that it would be harmless enough to hold a State-wide vote on this question next November; that the decision would be only advisory for possible future action.

I say, Mr. Speaker, that it is neither safe nor sensible to toy even lightly with the idea of bartering away one's birth right.

Such proposals should be knocked down at the beginning.

My solicitude for keeping our present Constitution touches not only upon the broad and long range consequences of losing it.

Rooted among our native forested hills, I feel a natural and locally focussed concern.

As I see it, Mr. Speaker, under a new Constitution, the counsels of rural people will cease to be a substantial factor in State Government.

I strongly urge the defeat of this bill.

I strongly urge that rural members think twice before voting.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

REQUEST TO PASS BILL OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, this bill will be passed over temporarily.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what limitations are placed upon the phrase "passing over temporarily?"

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, the Chair has been advised that there has been a request to place this bill on the postponed calendar. The thought is that perhaps it would be advisable to defer action until the Speaker and the Majority Leader return to the floor of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I shall certainly resist the motion to place it on the postponed calendar and I am willing to delay action upon the matter until the Majority Leader returns, if he returns within a reasonable period.

THE SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman, Mr. Hall, for presiding.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I wonder from what cavern of indecision this motion to postpone emerges.

I listened yesterday to the appeals for dispatch. The people of the state and the nation were waiting for action upon this bill. The cause of humanity demanded that it stay upon the calendar in its present form and that the Members of this General Assembly have the courage and the faith to stand in their places and be calm. And that view prevailed.

I wonder what has happened. Perhaps I should have reverted to the days of chivalry when the embattled knights frequently failed to engage the enemy until the enemy's reinforcements had arrived, on the theory that there was no glory in winning a battle unless all the forces were present. What has happened? In what direction has courage fled?

Far be it from me to repeat the sentences of yesterday. They linger in my mind. I remember the gentleman from Cameron declaring his pride in the opportunity to register his vote in favor of a loyalty oath bill and was really distressed that every citizen did not have the same privilege. I was chided in kindly fashion by the gentleman from Delaware, I believe, because I had counselled the cause which he intimated was running away from the field of battle.

Over night I have taken counsel with myself, took myself by the boot straps, reinforced my courage to come here today all ready to fight, and lo and behold! the enemy says: "Let us wait until tomorrow, or Monday, or the Monday after."

I shall vote against the motion to postpone if I am the only one that casts that vote. I would welcome the opportunity to present first of all the constitutional argument against this bill. Second, to present in detail the defects of the architecture of this bill. Third, to read a roster of those who protest against the enactment of the bill. I assure the gentleman that I could do it within two hours.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what I said yesterday in connection with my desire to vote and express my views on this bill still stands. The fact that the conflict be postponed until a later date has nothing to do with my position on this bill. I am running from no fight; I never have and I never will. I welcome it. But a bill that is so far reaching in its effect, a bill that affects the situation as this one does is entitled to a vote by every Member in this House. We have a number of absentees this morning, and I think it is only fair that they be present in this House at the time this bill is considered and voted upon, in order that they may register their vote.

For that reason I have asked that this bill be placed upon the third reading postponed calendar.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if there are absentees who are absent without excuse the gentleman has his remedy. He can authorize the Sergeant-at-Arms to go get them. When soldiers in the military establishment go AWOL, they round them up; and if there are those who have deserted the standard of the distinguished gentleman from Cameron, I recommend that he follow military practice and send a Provost Marshal out after the erring soldiers.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 319, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes by providing for the method of valuation of taxable shares of stock in any regulated investment company

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Counties for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 494, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by providing a system for the nomination of candidates to fill certain vacancies in public offices occurring under conditions for which said election code does not prescribe machinery.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 503, as follows:

An Act to amend the title and Sections 1 and 5 of the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 482) entitled "An act authorizing and requiring cities boroughs townships municipal authorities and public utility companies engaged in the supplying of water to shut off the supply of water for nonpayment of sewer sewerage or sewage treatment rentals rates or charges imposed by municipal authorities and requiring them to supply to such authorities lists of metered water readings and flat-rate water bills and other data authorizing them to act as billing and collecting agents for such authorities and conferring certain powers upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission in connection therewith" by extending to any municipal authority organized by any city of the third class the powers granted therein and exempting public utilities from the obligations imposed therein.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Cities—Third Class for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 504, entitled:

An Act to further amend the title and section 2.1 of the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1286), entitled as amended "An act empowering counties of the second class, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships to charge and collect from owners of and water users in property served thereby, annual rentals, rates or charges for the use of certain sewers, sewerage systems and sewage treatment works, including charges for operation, inspection, maintenance, repair, depreciation, and the amortization of indebtedness and interest thereon; empowering counties of the second class, cities boroughs, incorporated towns and townships to contract with authorities organized by counties of the second class; for sewer, sewerage and sewage treatment services; to grant, convey, lease, transfer, encumber, mortgage and pledge to such authorities, their sewers, sewerage systems and sewerage treatment works; to assign and pledge to such authorities rentals, rates and charges charged and collected by them for the use thereof, and to assign to such authorities their power to charge and collect the same; and validating all such contracts, grants, conveyances, leases, transfers, assignments, encumbrances, mortgages and pledges, heretofore made," by authorizing political subdivisions to contract with authorities organized by cities of the third class for sewer, sewerage and sewage treatment services.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Cities—Third Class for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, rise?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HELM. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to get into the middle of a fracas, but this bill, it seems to me, is a bill that has a great deal of merit. The question I would like to ask the gentleman is, in his opinion if this bill is recommitted to Committee does this mean that this bill will not make a reappearance on the calendar?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, no, I certainly do not think that it means that.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, that is not his opinion?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, no.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration Senate Bill No. 644, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 402 of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 788, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" by requiring the establishment of a permanent lot care fund with corporate trustee of a certain amount by cemetery and burial corporations hereafter organized prior to the sale of burial lots and requiring a fixed percentage of the sale price of burial lots to be added to such fund

of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 209 Cemetery and Burial Corporations In the case of the incorporation of a cemetery or burial corporation as a business corporation the articles shall in addition to the information heretofore required by this article contain a provision (1) that a sum equal to at least one-tenth of the gross amount of the funds arising from the sale of lots in the burial ground or cemetery of the corporation shall be set apart for the perpetual care and preservation of the grounds and the repair and renewal of the buildings and property of such corporation that such sum shall be invested by the board of directors in securities which are legal investments for trustees under the laws of this Commonwealth and that the income arising therefrom shall be applied by the board of directors to the foregoing purposes (2) that a permanent lot care fund shall be established prior to the disposal or sale of any burial lots as required by Section 209.1 and (3) that a sum equal to at least one-tenth of the gross sales price of each lot sold be deposited in the permanent lot care fund

Section 2 Article II of said act is hereby amended by adding immediately after Section 209 a new section to read as follows

Section 209.1 Cemetery and Burial Corporations Permanent Lot Care Fund In addition to the requirements of Section 209 the incorporators of any cemetery or burial corporation hereafter organized as a business corporation before disposing of any burial lot or making any sale thereof shall cause to be deposited in a bank and trust company trust company or national banking association having fiduciary powers a sum of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) as a permanent lot care fund for the maintenance of burial lots and shall designate such banking institution as trustees of such fund Whenever burial lots are from time to time sold by the corporation it shall add to the permanent lot care fund a sum equal to at least one-tenth of the gross sales price of each lot sold The permanent lot care fund so established shall be invested in securities which are legal investments for trustees under the laws of this Commonwealth and the corporate trustee shall pay semi-annually the net income from the fund to the cemetery or burial corporation for the purposes herein set forth

Every such cemetery or burial corporation shall before disposing of any burial lot or making any sale thereof cause to be filed with the Department of State an affidavit signed by at least a majority of the board of directors stating that it has caused to be deposited at least twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) as a permanent lot care fund as hereinbefore provided to which affidavit shall be attached an acceptance by the banking institution designated as trustee thereof acknowledging its acceptance of the trusteeship

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WHITE. Yesterday, Mr. Speaker, I had offered amendments which would authorize the return of the $25,000 deposit, as required under this bill, to the cemetery association after the perpetual care fund had grown to the extent of $25,000 due to the ten percent contributions that are to be paid into it from the sales prices.

A plea at that time was made in order for the House to keep this $25,000 deposit in this bill in that form. That plea was made for the purpose of doing away with fly-by-night cemetery associations.

I wish to call the attention of the Members of this House to the fact that there is no possible way for this provision to prevent fly-by-night cemetery associations from operating in this state in that way. It certainly will be no detriment, or no hindrance to a cemetery association which has no intention of abiding by the laws that are set up under the Commonwealth by merely making them deposit $25,000 in escrow. If they are not going to abide by it in good faith and abide by the laws of the Commonwealth, I repeat that is no hindrance.

However, I do wish to emphasize it is a great difficulty for a cemetery association or anyone interested in starting a cemetery, who wishes to expand a great deal of money in buying the property and develop in it so that it would be attractive to the customers who may wish to purchase lots in that cemetery and who wish to spend a lot of money on preparing roads, sewage, preparing attractive buildings, to add this burden of an additional $25,000 deposit in escrow. It would especially be a burden to those cemetery people who wish to start what is known in Pennsylvania and in the country as burial cemeteries, memorial parks, which do not use tombstones.

Cemeteries of this type have an entirely different problem than cemeteries that have tombstones contained in them. They are not met with the problem of trimming around the individual grave, they are not met with the problem of replacing tombstones that have been heaved by the frost. When they take care of their cemetery they take care of it as a whole and not on the basis of individual lots.

This $25,000, I am told on reliable information, would be a waste, except for the fact that it would guarantee, in the origin of the cemetery a fund for perpetual care. But after contributions are made from the sale that is provided by this law this $25,000 would just be a wasted amount of money to them.

This bill, fellow Members, is designed to beat down competition. It applies only to profit cemetery associations and not to nonprofit cemetery associations. If we are to protect the public by perpetual care of cemetery lots it ought to apply to every cemetery association that wishes to be created in Pennsylvania.

I cannot believe that all the scoundrels in cemetery associations are made up of burial lot memorial park people. It is just as easy for scoundrels to operate in nonprofit corporations.

This bill is designed to eliminate competition. We have attempted to amend this bill so that it would protect the public and eliminate this noncompetitive factor. We have been unsuccessful. I did have it in my mind to move for recommitment to the committee, but I feel that it is unfair at this time, especially when the cemetery associations who are backing this bill refuse to compromise, I cannot understand how it would do any good to put it back in committee.

The bill before you as it stands, I say, is a bad bill. It eliminates competition. It is designed to prevent memorial parks from being established in this State in the future.

I ask the support of the House in voting down this bill at this time.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the result of sad experiences that have occurred in cemetery development. As a result of past experience where promotions have been held whereby people have gone out and made up cemetery plots, sold them and then moved out and left the care and maintenance to the families of persons who have been interred, the association of cemetery operators, including profit and nonprofit corporations, present this bill to you.

This is not something that is new. You know that before you can create an insurance corporation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania you must deposit funds to show that you are able to carry out your contract. That is what is being done in this case.

The $25,000 deposit that is placed for the guarantee of the perpetual maintenance of the cemetery, that cost does not finally come out of the pockets of the promoters. They do not do business that way. That cost will be added to the additional cost of the property.

Those who purchase lots will reimburse those who promote the cemetery so that when they have sold off their lots, the promoters have the original amount which they have deposited back in their pockets.

The gentleman from Lawrence would then have you give back that additional $25,000 that is in escrow and by that you will be lining the pockets of promoters with an additional sum.

Expenses show that the cost of maintaining cemeteries is far beyond the return that they would receive from an initial deposit of $25,000. So there is being added to the initial fund a ten percent of the sales price of the lots to increase that fund, so that eventually there will be a larger fund, and an additional income in order to maintain the cemetery.

This as I say does not apply to already existing profit corporations or to nonprofit corporations. The gentleman asked, why don't you apply this same restriction to nonprofit corporations? Nonprofit corporations are usually churches, religious organizations who maintain their own cemeteries and are in perpetuity and will see to it that their cemeteries are properly maintained. The trouble that has been had, has been with these profit corporations that come in, sell off a development, pocket the money and then move out and eventually have a grave yard and not a memorial cemetery.

This bill passed the Senate, is here, we refused to amend the bill, and I ask that you pass this bill at this time.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, has called to your attention a comparison of this situation with insurance situations. The insurance companies in this state are regulated by the Department of Insurance. There is no regulation on the cemeteries in this state. Cemetery associations that pay ten percent of its gross sales into escrow for perpetual care, is purely under the supervision of the cemeteries alone, the state has nothing to say about it.

Therefore this $25,000 does not guarantee anything. It is merely a bond, so to speak. It is put into escrow, into the perpetual care fund, and those who attempt to abide by the laws and try to abide by the laws are strapped with a further obstacle on their expenses of starting a cemetery.

I want to make it clear that if a fellow who wishes to start a cemetery and abide in good faith has at the outset a terrific expense of buying grounds and of improving those grounds to sell them to the public. To a fly-by-night man who can sell to anybody on promises, this $25,000 does not mean a thing. He will arrange that and put it in escrow right away. But to the man who has good faith and an honest effort, this is an additional obstacle and makes it a bad bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from the third reading postponed calendar, Senate Bill No. 27, the Loyalty Oath Bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we have just placed this bill on the third reading postponed calendar for reasons which the House has already approved on this legislative day. I, therefore, oppose the bill's being called from the postponed calendar at this time and ask that it remain in its position on the postponed calendar.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman raise the point of order that it is improper to call the bill from the postponed calendar at this time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am not raising the point of order, I am merely asking to vote the motion down.

Mr. ANDREWS. It is not a motion, it is merely the exercise of a privilege.

BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that Sentae Bill 27, be laid on the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the Chair rule that such a motion at this time is proper?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman a motion to lay on the table takes precedence over the main question.

Mr. ANDREWS. I regret to announce that I think the Speaker is right.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 795, as follows:

An Act vesting and confirming in cities of the second class all right title and interest of the Commonwealth in certain streets lanes and alleys situate within such cities

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The General Assembly hereby finds as a fact that (a) the Commonwealth has laid out certain streets lanes and alleys which are presently or may hereafter become situate within the corporate limits of cities of the second class (b) that by virtue of sundry acts of Assembly providing for the erection of boroughs the incorporation of cities and the annexation by cities cities of the second class have acquired the interests of the Commonwealth in such streets lanes and alleys which are not being maintained by the Commonwealth and (c) that doubts have arisen as to whether or not the Commonwealth has divested itself of all its right title and interest in and to such streets lanes and alleys including its reversionary interests therein It is therefore declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth to promote the interests of the Commonwealth cities of the second class and the public by ratifying and conforming all of the right title and interest of the Commonwealth in and to such streets lanes and alleys which are not being maintained by the Commonwealth as being vested absolutely in cities of the second class

Section 2 All right title and interest of the Commonwealth in and to all streets lanes and alleys laid out by the Commonwealth and not maintained by the Commonwealth including its reversionary rights therein which are now or may hereafter be located within the corporate limits of cities of the second class is hereby ratified and confirmed as being vested absolutely in such cities

Section 3 Nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect deprive or impair any right title or interest of any person or corporation asserting title to or any interest in any such street lane or alley or any portion thereof

Section 4 All acts or parts of acts are hereby repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this act

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO TAKE BILL FROM TABLE

Mr. ANDREWS. I move that Senate Bill No. 27, Printer's No. 615, be taken from the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this motion be voted down.

The motion was not agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in glancing over one of the daily papers I ran across a very interesting article which I believe would be apropos to read at this particular time.

It seems that the state of Pennsylvania now appears upon the international scene. May I read this short notice, it will take but a moment.

FRENCH ASSEMBLY QUILTS IN CONFUSION

Paris, September 25 (AP).

The French Parliament early today went on vacation until about Nov. 6—

Of course that is the day of our general election in this state.

Thus avoiding an almost certain cabinet crisis that would have toppled Premier Rene Pleven's Government.

The Paris press unanimously remarked on the total confusion in the National Assembly.

Much the same as our Pennsylvania press remarks upon the total confusion in the Assembly in Pennsylvania.

The parties in the Parliament are so divided that they were unable to vote a formal vacation adjournment.

The same seems to be true in Pennsylvania.

Assembly Speaker Edouard Herriot saved the day for Pleven by telling the deputies: 'since you are unable to agree, I suggest you just leave it up to me when to convoke the next session.'

Mr. Speaker, I feel that since we have been unable to agree upon anything of a substantial nature during the nine months of this session, perhaps a good idea would be in order for the majority party to settle their intra-party fracas; to see how long reaching the arm of the former Governor is, and what effect that arm is having upon the administration of the state and how several people in key positions in the Assembly are able to prolong the stay of two hundred and fifty-seven Members of the General Assembly here in Harrisburg, to the extent that they will be here when the snow flies and exchange Christmas presents this coming Christmas, I suggest that we also quit in confusion.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I will have to be against what the gentleman just said. I do not agree with him personally. If there has been any confusion I can assure him that it certainly has not been in this part of the General Assembly.

I would like to clear up just another very erroneous impression that has been going around. We have been in session many months, but that has been due to recesses. I would like to remind him that in 1941 we had eighty-six days of actually being in session. As of today we have eighty-seven days. When you think of that that is only one day over the 1941 session and I do not think we are in a state of confusion.

At the very beginning of this session the House knew what it wanted to do. We did it, and we are waiting on the other Chamber. But we, and I include the minority, have not been, or ever intend to be in a state of confusion. Thank God there are some statesmen still left in Harrisburg.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there are several parliamentary darts that one could hurl in the direction of Senate Bill 27, which might fall in the wounds already inflicted, but I have no disposition at this time to further injure a sadly disabled enemy.

However, the advocates of Senate Bill 27 are in the position of the Majority Leader. He needs additional support. From the beginning he could only have obtained additional support on the basis of sound reasoning.

I was pointed to as a disciple of clear confusion, when early in this session I suggested to the Majority Leader, to the administration and to the membership of this House, that the proper course of action was to amend the Administrative Code, finance the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on a yearly basis and come back in 1952, in January, to continue with the problems of 1952.

Oh no. That was a ridiculous idea. That was unsound. The soundness of the view is evidenced by the fact that according to the claims of the planners we would be in session practically up to the opening day of 1952.

Now, what has been the result, Mr. Speaker, of remaining here in terms of human equation? Already, by reason of their continued service here in this House, Members have lost their jobs. Their employers have found it necessary to replace them. Others are on the eve of losing their jobs.

I have been definitely informed of a situation that is positively scandalous. Some Members of this House have been so sorely pressed for funds that they have gone to persons to sell an option on their final check and the persons to whom they went were so degenerate that they charged $50. In order to get $550.00 in cash they have mortgaged a $600 check.

Personally, Mr. Speaker, I am willing to contribute the amount of my gift from this Assembly into a fund to finance the necessity of any Member at par who must needs mortgage his check.

I think the leadership of this House should look into it. The checks are perfectly good. They will ultimately be cashed at their face value and no Member should be forced by reason of economic necessities in his home to sell a $600 check for $550.

It is true that we have only been in session a certain number of days. But it is also true—and I will confess certain delinquencies upon the part of the Minority—that we were faced with crucial issues in this House because the leadership was unprepared to meet them, because there were absentees. We had in the past as we have today delayed action upon crucial bills and there never has been any reason why this House from the beginning could not have proceeded upon a four day a week basis, sent all legislation over to the Senate and from that point on proceeded upon the basis of token sessions. That remedy was always within our hands, but upon your side as well as upon our side there are those who said, "No we will stay in the ditches and fight." About what? In the majority of instances about meaningless measures.

I have suggested, and I think the suggestion is a sound one, that there is no reason why the Membership as a whole should return to this House next Monday or next week.

My specific suggestion has been that the Chairmen of the Committees of this House comprise a portion of our Membership assigned to duty here to be accompanied by the Senior Majority Member on those Committees, and they transact the routine business. When a dispute arises and there is no agreement, the measures concerning which there is disagreement shall be placed upon the postponed calendar just as you placed this bill today, once a week, or once every two weeks as the necessity may arise, the membership of this House come in as a whole to pass upon bills on the postponed calendar, every bill of which is of major importance. Such a program would not entail the continued presence in this House of all of the membership called here to deal with Senatorial nothings.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have a brief answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I could be very sympathetic, and I personally agree with him as to the Members cashing their checks. I realize all of us on this side of the House are not fortunate in having the assets, monetarywise, that some of the Members of the Senate have.

I realize too that the cost of living has been greatly increased and there has been a drain on the pocketbook of everybody who sits in this House. There is no doubt about that.

Fortunately, the gentleman does know that this happens to be a bicameral Legislature. We have to have a Senate because of our Constitution to pass on our bills.

I still say, and I insist on this, that regardless of the length of the session, there may have been some faults on the part of the Majority, none of us is perfect, but I can say that this House has tried to do its job for the people of this Commonwealth. During this session we have not only passed that one tax program but we have passed two tax programs, something that has been unheard of in the past.

We are giving them every chance in the world to clean up and go home. Everybody wants to do that. But as the gentleman knows, very well, we are still limited by the Senate's indecision, not only on the tax program but on behalf of the administration's program and we just cannot walk out of here and say to the Senate "good bye." We have an obligation, and even though we have met that obligation, we are still bound hand and foot because of the Senate's inaction on so many very important pieces of legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McMILLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, before I make any further statements I want it distinctly understood that I am speaking personally and not for the Members of the House as a whole, although I think perhaps I will express the sentiments of many Members of the House in what I say.

I might further state that I speak as a Member of this House who has not missed a session. I have felt my obligation and duty to be here even at a financial loss to me.

It is not true that I have appointments to any of the authorities and a few things like that around the Hill to help bear expenses occasionally. My expenses are borne individually out of my own pocket. I do not have any slush fund, a contingent fund to work from so I think I can speak as an average Member of the House.

I read this morning in the paper, that when the Members of this House took the stand to stay here to finish the job which is ours to do, we were chided or insulted, if you want to call it that, by the Majority Leader of the Senate by calling up "A bunch of brats—spoiled brats."

I take that, Mr. Speaker, as a personal insult, because I think every Member of this House acted as a gentleman with intelligent purpose in his mind. We may have disagreed individually and among ourselves on it, but fundamentally and basically we were here and have been here and have done our job. I want to leave this as a condensed, boiled down statement of my reaction to that statement. I want to read it so that there will be no misunderstanding.

"The present statement further confirms what the people of Pennsylvania and especially the Members of this House have known for a long time; that the Senate Leader is a political opportunist devoid of public interest; is intellectually bankrupt—

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to suggest to the gentleman that under the Rules of the House we are required to deal gently with the infirmities of our comrades in legislative arms and are not permitted, on the floor, to speak disparagingly concerning them but are at liberty outside of this Hall to say what we think.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, my statement will not deal in personalities.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, without objection will proceed.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker,

"The present statement further confirms what the people of Pennsylvania and especially the Members of this House have known for a long time; that the Senate Leader is a political opportunist devoid of public interest; is intellectually bankrupt, and has by his indiscreet, injudicious, and unstatesmanlike utterance and attitude—

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I glory in what the gentleman says, but I simply point out that it is contrary to the Rules—and I hope he continues.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, will continue.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is rather difficult to finish without beginning and going through this statement without interruption, so with your permission I wish to do that.

"The present statement further confirms what the people of Pennsylvania and especially the Members of this House have known for a long time; that the Senate Leader is a political opportunist devoid of public interest; is intellectually bankrupt, and has by his indiscreet, injudicious, and unstatesmanlike utterance and attitude again shown that he has neither the capacity or qualities for leadership and cannot rise above his own personal ambition and design to be a follower."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, and "Spoiled Brats," I would rather be known as a "Brat" in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with my work completed for the good of the people, than as a prevaricator with my work unsolved, undone, stalking in another legislative forum for selfish personal gain.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, because of the inaction in the Senate and on behalf of that branch of our Legislature, and because of the conditions, I hereby designate that this House be called a "home" as they would have us call it, instead of a House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, have we not now flagged our lagging spirits to the point where we are in a fighting mood to take up Senate Bill 27?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 833, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 198) entitled "An act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof" by conferring exclusive jurisdiction on the county court of Allegheny County in cases of appeals from decisions of the collector of mercantile taxes imposed by political subdivisions within the territorial limits of its jurisdiction

Section 1 Clause (1) of Section 6 of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 198) entitled "An act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof" as added by the act approved the sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (Act No 205) is hereby amend to read as follows

(1) In all cases of appeal from decisions of the receiver of school taxes or school treasurer in the administration and enforcement of the act of Assembly imposing a mercantile license tax for school purposes in school districts of the first class A and in all cases of appeal from decisions of collectors of mercantile taxes authorized by any act of Assembly and imposed by any political subdivision within the territorial limits of the jurisdiction of the court

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—3

DuBois, Swartz, Westrick,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, earlier this afternoon I asked that House Bill 1652 be passed over temporarily. I now withdraw that request and call up the bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1652, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 13 of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 493) entitled as amended "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof" by permitting the use of certain concrete pipe as sewer pipe under certain conditions

Section 1 Section 13 of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 493) entitled as amended "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing ceretain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof" as amended by the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 168) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 13 Where the ground is of sufficient solidity for a proper foundation cylindrical terra-cotta pipe of the best quality free from flaws splits or cracks perfectly burned and well glazed over the entire inner and outer surfaces or concrete pipe meeting the specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials C-14-41 for concrete sewer pipe may be used if laid on a smooth bottom with a special groove cut in the bottom of the trench for each hub in order to give the pipe a solid bearing on its entire length and the soil well rammed on each side of the pipe. The spigot and hub ends shall be connected. The space between the hub and the pipe must be thoroughly filled with cement mortar made of equal parts of the best American natural cement and bar sand thoroughly mixed dry and enough water afterwards added to give the proper consistency. The mortar must be mixed in small quantities and used as soon as made. The joints must be carefully wiped out and pointed and all mortar that may be left inside removed and the pipe left clean and smooth throughout for which purpose a swab may be used. It must not be laid closer than five feet to any exterior wall of a building or less than three and one-half feet below the surface of the ground or when the sewer passes near a well nor will it be allowed in bad or made ground or inside a building with or without a cellar

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, this bill 1652 seeks to legalize the use of concrete pipe in connection with the building of lines from a house to the main sewer. It has been proven definitely in the past, and I have been assured by chemists that concrete pipe is still not acid resistant. There is no guarantee when concrete pipe is sold that it is acid resistant. I am assured that the residual and cumulative effect of concrete pipe would tend to deteriorate, and there would be no element of security to the property owners or the builders as to how long this pipe might last.

Vitrified clay pipe, as every one knows, is impervious and is a life-time proposition. That is my first point in opposition to this bill.

My second point in opposition to the bill is the fact that the concrete pipe to be authorized under this bill is made outside the state of Pennsylvania. It is made in West Virginia and Ohio by non-union labor. The present industry within this state is mostly unionized and contributes to a lot of communities and areas in this state and to the industrial prosperity of this state.

It seems to me that as Members of the House we are being asked to buy a pig in a poke—in fact a non-union pig in a poke and it will affect one of the industries within the state which is typically Pennsylvanian. Therefore, I think at this time it would not be the right thing to do to pass this bill, in order to permit out of state manufacturers who are employing non-union labor to affect a unionized industry within the state.

Furthermore, the cement industry within the state would benefit not at all from the use of cement in the making of this pipe because out of state industry furnishes the cement in the production of it.

Furthermore, the history of this bill is that it was introduced on August 6, just a week before we recessed for a month. It was brought up in committee and reported out last Thursday. That does not give any public health officials or the Health Department in the state of Pennsylvania a chance to study the consequences which this bill would present.

Therefore, I think it is a little hasty at this late date. If such a bill was contemplated and introduced, it should have been introduced last January, February, March, April, May or even June in order to give the public and the public health officials of the state a chance to study and to determine the effect of it.

That is all, Mr. Speaker, and I ask the Members to vote against this bill in their best interests and the best interests of the industry within the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. KRATZ. Mr. Speaker, truly this has been a weird session. Factual data, or so-called factual data, has been spread all over the place. I want to take this opportunity to refute the statements of the last speaker by factual data, not hearsay.

The statement was made that most of the concrete pipe is made outside of the state of Pennsylvania and that it did not benefit the cement industry in any manner. Regarding the location of the plants that make the major portion of concrete pipe used throughout the United States, we have three plants in Pittsburgh; we have one plant in Altoona; we have one plant in Harrisburg; we have one plant in Pottstown; one plant in Norristown; one plant in Williamsport; one plant in Stroudsburg; one plant in Bristol; one plant in Pottsville; one plant in New Holland; and one plant in Erie, a total of thirteen plants in the state of Pennsylvania, employing 9,000 people. To the best of my knowledge, the people employed in those plants are union men.

Now as to the cement used in these pipes. We produced in Pennsylvania 2,000,000 tons of cement in the year 1950, and we used 34 carloads of cement per day in the plants which I have named, and that cement was made in Pennsylvania and was not brought in from West Virginia. West Virginia hardly makes enough cement to make the cement pipe made in Pennsylvania. It takes 100 pounds of coal to make a barrel of cement. I think all the coal miners in Pennsylvania are union men and are benefitting very much by this cement industry.

Let us consider whether or not this cement pipe is a proper material to use. A great many of the trunk line sewers and the collecting sewers in our cities today are made of cement pipe. Some of them have been there 25 and 30 years, which is more satisfactory life than we have with some other kinds of pipe. Cement is an acid-resisting material up to certain concentrations of acid, which however, are not obtained in taking sewage from any private house, and which are not obtained even in manufacturing plants for general usage because the dilution is so high that you do not get that percentage. When you do get high concentrations of acid, you will not use vitrified clay pipe, you will not use cement; you will use some of the acid resisting irons. They, however, are specialties, and we are not considering them because they are used all over Pennsylvania in their proper place.

I simply make that statement as a guidance to the men here in the House who are not particularly learned in the mechanical arts, or the engineering arts and the use of sewage pipe.

I wanted to present some maps showing the location of the cement plants—apparently I have mislaid that. But I would say this cement plants are uniformly located all over the state of Pennsylvania. We have one in Montgomery County; up in Northampton County we have plants galore; we have them in the western end of the state in the northern end and along the Maryland border we have cement plants. Therefore, the moneys that are made by the use of this pipe are not confined to any one section of Pennsylvania, such as we have heard so much about for another type of pipe. The one type of pipe that seems to be so lauded, I believe there are two or three plants in the western end of the state, and we have one in Montgomery County, believe it or not; and they drag all the clay into the plant from out in West Virginia.

I would say this in closing, that we had a discussion on another type sometime ago. It seems to me that we are acting very small when we as a legislative body try to deny to the people of Pennsylvania the choice of materials most suitable to the job they have,

I hope the data I have given you will find response in a vote for this bill.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that Pennsylvania did not have any concrete plants or concrete pipe making plants. Of course, we have; it is a big industry.

I merely told the Members of this House what the Vice President of the State Federation of Labor told me. Fred Hughes, Vice President of the State Federation of Labor, told me that the pipe which was coming into the state for this purpose must have been drainage pipe. Other kind of concrete pipes—they are all right, they are fine in their place. But this bill authorizes small pipe from the main channels into the building. And furthermore, there is no guarantee against acid resistance with the concrete pipe.

The point about this is that a new process has been developed to make concrete pipe. According to a representative of the cement industry in this state, that pipe was first made in a way that it can undersell vitrified pipe. And that is the story behind it.

There are all sorts of technical reasons why we should do this about that and why we should do the other thing about some other thing; but the time is not now for this House, at this late date, not to give the people and the public health officials of the state a chance to determine for themselves whether they want to legalize the use of concrete pipe in these small connections.

We can do here what will influence small property owners ten years from now. In other words, there is no argument that the vitrified clay pipe coming into the house is O. K. It has lasted for years and years on end, but there is an argument that if concrete pipe were installed, how long would it last? Who would have to pay the bill if it did not last? The small property owner—and I think the small property owner has burdens enough. I think it is time for this House not to take such hasty action as is being asked of them at this late time.

Furthermore I would appreciate each Member saying how he stands on this bill—yes or no, because I would like to hear up in my seat in the corner.

Mr. KRATZ. Mr. Speaker, I want to make one or two observations. It is common knowledge in the engineering profession that when you dig down into a ditch and dig up a clay pipe that has laid there for 10 to 15 years, you generally find it all cracked. It is then making what is known as a French drain—they are very good in their place; but you cannot dig them up and replace them.

There is another observation that I feel I must make which is of a political nature. The last speaker has told us that concrete pipe will reduce the cost; it is sold cheaper. Well, in God's name, we certainly need something to reduce the cost, and it has never been the prerogative of the Republican party to subsidize anyone to keep up the most of things and make our people pay higher for them. That seems to be the common practice today—if you do not have the money to buy, the government will give it to you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. BANKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Huntington Mr. Banker vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. BANKER. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 836.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

BILL CALLED UP

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 9 of today's calendar, Bills on Final Passage, Senate Bill No. 230.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 230, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one thousand one hundred sixty-six and one thousand one hundred sixty-nine of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by further providing for sabbatical leaves of absence

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Sections one thousand one hundred sixty-six and one thousand one hundred sixty-nine of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1166 Persons Entitled (a) Any person employed in the public school system of this Commonwealth who has completed ten (10) years of satisfactory service as a [teacher or in first class school districts as a member of the instructional staff or department of instruction as now defined by the local board of education] professional employee or member of the supervisory instructional or administrative staff or in first class school districts as a member of the instructional staff as defined by the local board of education shall be entitled to a leave of absence for restoration of health study or travel or at the discretion of the board of school directors for other purposes At least five consecutive years of such service shall have been in the school district from which leave of absence is sought unless the board of school directors shall in its discretion allow a shorter time Such leave of absence shall be for a half or full school year or for two half school years during a period of two years at the option of such person Thereafter one leave of absence shall be allowed after each seven years of service

A sabbatical leave granted to a regular employee shall also operate as a leave of absence without pay from all other school activities

Section 1169 Salary While on Leave The person on leave of absence shall receive [the difference between] one-half of his or her regular salary [and the salary paid to any substitute employee temporarily engaged because of such leave] Provided That the employee who is absent on sabbatical leave shall not receive more than [one thousand six hundred dollars ($1600)] two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) nor less than one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800) if the employee's absence on sabbatical leave is for a full school year and not more than [eight hundred dollars ($800)] one thousand two hundred fifty dollars ($1250) nor less than nine hundred dollars ($900) if the employee's absence on sabbatical leave is for a half school year as defined in this act [The salary paid to such substitute shall be the salary for substitute service according to the salary schedule established by the local board]

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading, be reconsidered.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger, vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1169), page 3, lines 15 and 16, by striking out the words and figures "nor less than one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1,800)."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1169), page 3, line 19, by striking out the words and figures "nor less than nine hundred dollars ($900)."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, while I have a copy of the amendments, I would like to have an expert's statement as to the effect of them. What do the amendments accomplish and why?

I say, I have a copy of the amendments here but I would not know just what motive inspired the amendments and what they do, and all that sort of thing.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I regret to say that the gentleman will not have expert advice on this, but I will try to explain the amendments.

The bill reads, one-half of the salary and that takes care of the amendment. Then further on in the bill it states that there is a maximum of $2,500 for the year in the leave of absence and a minimum of $1,800. Now the minimum of $1,800 has been deleted and the one-half salary that is given underscored before in the bill takes care of that. This was at the request of those who disagreed with the amount of $1,800 for the minimum amount for leave of absence.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES

The SPEAKER. The Chair will announce that immediately upon the call of a recess there will be a brief caucus of the Republican Members in the new House Caucus Room and a caucus of the Democratic Members in the old House Caucus Room. The Chair will request the Members to go promptly to their respective caucus rooms.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess for one-half hour. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address House.

Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as it is the opinion of the majority of the Members on the minority side that this Legislature has had enough time to deliberate on various measures before it, and that it will have ample to conclude its work for this session by next Friday, I would like to offer a concurrent resolution.

RESOLUTION

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

Mr. READINGER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent that it be read for the consideration of the House.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 27, 1951.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that this Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die on October 5, 1951.

The SPEAKER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, September 27, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns next week it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951 at 3:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard Time and when the House of Representatives adjourns next week it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at 4:30 o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1102

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I call up the Report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill 1102.

The report was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 1102, entitled: "An act to provide for liens for the cost of hospital care and treatment of persons wilfully or negligently injured, the liens to exist on rights of action and on counterclaims and on verdicts and judgments recovered as the result of such injuries and on moneys paid in settlement of such actions and counterclaims and providing rights of action to recover such liens if not paid."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

GEORGE W. WADE,
SAMUEL G. NEFF,
CHARLES R. MALLERY,

(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

ROBERT F. KENT,
EDWIN W. TOMPKINS,
THEODORE H. SCHMIDT, (Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act to provide for liens for the cost of hospital care and treatment of persons wilfully or negligently injured the liens to exist on rights of action and on counterclaims and on verdicts and judgments recovered as the result of such injuries and on moneys paid in settlement of such actions and counterclaims and providing rights of action to recover such liens if not paid

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The Commonwealth any political subdivision of the Commonwealth and any corporation or association maintaining a hospital in this State in which medical and surgical services are rendered to the public shall have a lien upon any and all rights of action and counterclaims which any person admitted to any such hospital for care and treatment of personal injuries wilfully or negligently inflicted shall have against any other person firm or corporation on account of such injuries provided that such lien shall be effective against only that portion of funds recovered or paid on settlement remaining after the payment of reasonable attorneys fees and court costs incurred in the prosecution of the said rights of action and counterclaims The extent of such lien shall be the amount of the reasonable charges of such hospital for the care and treatment of such injured person but the per diem rate for room and board included in such charges shall not exceed the rate for room and board in the public ward of such hospital

Such lien shall exist only if a notice in writing as herein provided is filed on behalf of the hospital in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which an action or counterclaim was commenced or filed by such injured person or in case of his death by his personal representative prior to the payment over by the defendant in the action of any moneys as compensation for such injuries Such notice shall be filed to the number and term of such action and shall set forth (a) the name and location of the hospital (b) the name and address of the injured person (c) the date of the injury and (d) an itemized statement of the charge of the hospital for the care and treatment of the injured person It shall be the duty of the authority filing any such notice in the office of the prothonotary to mail postage prepaid a copy of such notice to the defendant alleged to be liable to make compensation for the injuries sustained if his address is known or to his attorney of record and if known to any insurance carrier which has insured him against such liability

Section 2 After notice has been filed as provided in section one of this act the lien of the Commonwealth the political subdivision the corporation or association for the amount of the reasonable charge of the hospital for the care and treatment of any injured person as provided in section one of this act shall also attach to any verdict or judgment rendered or entered in any action or on any counterclaim brought in the county by such injured person or by the personal representative of the estate of such injured person in case of the death of the injured person against any defendant for the recovery of damages on account of injuries received as well as to any moneys paid or payable by such defendant in settlement of any action or counterclaim to the injured person or his personal representative

Section 3 After a lien attaches to a verdict judgment or moneys payable in settlement of any action or counterclaim as provided in section two of this act no satisfaction of such judgment shall be entered on the record of such action and no moneys shall be paid over by the defendant in settlement of the claim of the injured person or his personal representative bringing such action or counterclaim until the lien of the hospital has first been paid in full not however exceeding the amount of the full and true consideration payable by the defendant. Unless the lien of the hospital is so paid the defendant shall remain liable to the Commonwealth the political subdivision or the corporation or association operating the hospital in which the care and treatment was provided to such injured person and a right of action shall exist to enforce said lien against the defendant for a period of one year from the time of the satisfaction of the judgment or the payment over of the moneys in settlement of such action or counterclaim

Section 4 Any notice filed under and in accordance with this act shall be noted on the docket record of the cause of action to which it relates as a hospital lien noting the amount of the lien

Section 5 The authorities of any hospital to which a lien has been duly paid as provided in this act shall file in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which notice of a lien was filed a duly acknowledged certificate to the effect that the lien filed by such hospital for care and treatment has been duly paid or released and authorizing the prothonotary to discharge the same Thereupon the prothonotary shall note upon the docket record of the action as to which notice of a lien was filed a memorandum of the discharge or release of said hospital lien

On the question,

Will the House adopt the Report of the Committee of Conference?

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM D. McLEAN, Pastor of St. Peters Episcopal Church, Butler, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Oh Almighty God, the Fountain of all wisdom, whose statutes are good and gracious and Whose law is truth, we humbly beseech Thee for the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and especially for their Senate now assembled, that Thou would'st be pleased to direct and prosper all their consultations to the advancement of Thy glory, and the safety, honor and welfare of Thy people; that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavors, upon the best and surest foundations, that peace and happiness, truth and justice, may be established among us for the years to come. And grant that having the eyes of the mind opened to behold things invisible and unseen, we may in heart be inspired by Thy wisdom, and in work be upheld by Thy strength. We ask this in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The House met at 4:30 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend John Yates, guest Chaplain and Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Our gracious God assist with Thy grace in all the work which the members of this House may undertake this day. Direct them by Thy wisdom and support them by Thy power, so that, doing their duty diligently, they may bring their work to a good and profitable end for the citizens of this Commonwealth and the glory of Thy name. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Thursday, September 27, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, immediately upon adjournment of the House today, I would greatly appreciate it if the majority Members would come to the majority New House Caucus room for a very brief caucus.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. SMITH, Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, October 2 at 3:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please withdraw his motion temporarily?

Mr. SMITH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I understand quite unofficially that it is in the mind of the majority leadership to reach some sort of an agreement with the Senate and with the administration concerning the date on which the General Assembly shall recess.

Our position is that so far as the House is concerned it should maintain itself in a ready to serve position, holding token sessions until such time as the other chamber may be disposed to resume the orderly procedure to which it should presumaly dedicate its efforts.

Our position at present is that there is no financial crisis now confronting the Commonwealth. The General Assembly will be in session January 1, 1953. With six months in the biennium to go, and with the Legislature on hand to make adequate appropriations for the needs of the Commonwealth as they may appear at that time, it is therefore the duty of the House and the Senate speedily to conclude this session, making provision for the financial needs of the Commonwealth up to January 1, 1953. Then let those who are returned to office on the basis of the issues that will be presented to the people of the Commonwealth at that time take up the burden and finance the last six months of the present biennium.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I believe we have said on the floor of this House many times that we feel the duties of the House are completed as of this very moment. We believe we have accepted our responsibilities and our duties, and I am certain that I can assure the gentleman on the minority side that if this House does adopt a resolution setting an adjournment date or a recess date, it will have in it a provision that the House can be called into session at the call of the Speaker and the Senate at the call of the President of the Senate.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, October 2, 1951, at 3:00 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:21 p. m.) the House adjourned.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

In the Senate, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs) That this Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die, December 22, 1951, at 5:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

COMMUNICATION

The CHAIR cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk:

PENNSYLVANIA PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Secretary, the Senate, Harrisburg, Pa., October 1, 1951.

Dear Sir:

At a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Public Health Association (the organization which represents the Public Health Workers in Pennsylvania) a resolution was passed commending the Governor, the Commissioner of Health and the General Assembly, in the positive results of the efforts to place Pennsylvania on an equal footing with many of our other states in the Union in Public Health Legislation.

It gives me pleasure to enclose a copy of this resolution and to thank the Senate for its influence in this matter.

Cordially yours,

J. CLARENCE FUNK.

A Resolution

Whereas, In 1947 the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania recommended to the Governor a survey of Public Health facilities in the Commonwealth.

And Whereas, in 1948 the Governor commissioned the Secretary of Health to make such a survey.

And Whereas, said survey was completed in 1949 by the American Public Health Association.

And Whereas, the recommendations of this survey were supported by the Pennsylvania Public Health Association at its annual sessions in 1950.

And Whereas, in the 1951 session of the General Assembly, the Secretary of Health introduced legislation designed to correct deficiencies revealed by the survey, established local public health units and an equitable system of hiring full-time personnel for the State Department of Health.

And Whereas, this legislation was passed by both houses of the state legislature and signed by the Governor on August 24, 1951.

Therefore be it Resolved: that the President and the Pennsylvania Public Health Association commend the Governor, the Secretary of Health and the 1951 General Assembly for their enlightened public health policy and express its confirmed interest in their efforts to improve the health of the people of this Commonwealth.

P. F. LUCCHESI, M. D.,
Chairman, Resolutions Committee
ELI EICHELBERGER, M. D. President

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The President pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 681, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 971) entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries and compensation of certain county officers of counties of the eighth class" by increasing the salaries of certain county officers.

House Bill No. 1247, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 720) entitled "City State Highway Law," by changing or deleting certain routes and adding certain new routes.

House Bill No. 1248, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven, entitled "An act establishing certain public roads as State Highways, and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth," by changing certain routes.

House Bill No. 1249, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 809) entitled "An act removing certain roads or sections of road from the State highway system and providing for their future maintenance and construction" by removing additional roads from State highway system.

House Bill No. 1250, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 1172) entitled "Borough Rural State Highway Law," by changing or deleting certain routes and adding certain new routes.

House Bill No. 1251, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," by changing or deleting certain routes and adding certain new routes.

House Bill No. 1252, entitled:

An Act to establish certain roads or sections of road as State Highways.

House Bill No. 1253, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 191) entitled "An act establishing certain public roads as State highways; and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth" by changing certain routes.

Whereupon,

The President pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, Dec. 10, 1951, at 3 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 8:07 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, December 10, 1951, at 3 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, October 2, 1951

The House met at 3:00 o'clock p. m.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend John Yates, guest Chaplain and pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we humbly beseech Thee to grant Thy blessing to the Members of this Assembly. Save them from all error. Direct and guide them in the work they have yet to do that it may be brought to a successful conclusion. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, October 1, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the introduction of a bill at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what is the intent and purpose of the bill the gentleman proposes to introduce?

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Speaker, the bill that I am about to introduce is a Congressional Reapportionment Bill.

The intent back of the introduction of this bill is so that the Members of the House may have, during the recess, a chance to study the bill and if they so desire after the recess to come back with any changes; they will at least have had something during the recess to work on.

I may add that at the present time I have with the Printer a set up of this bill in colors as it is forecast on a map showing the old districts and the proposed new districts. That, together with a copy of the official figures released from Washington as to population together with a letter of explanation, will be forwarded to every Member of the House as soon as the colored map has returned from the Printer.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Northumberland.

We agree with the gentleman from Northumberland that this House should be given the opportunity to consider the Congressional Reapportionment Bill.

We note that the gentleman takes it for granted that there is to be a recess during which we can study the bill. That point has not yet been determined.

We would presume that bad as the gentleman's bill may be—and we have not seen it,—it is at least better than no bill.

It is quite likely that the gentleman from Northumberland might not be familiar with all of the devious schemes in mind in other quarters concerning congressional reapportionment and may even be more inclined to deal justly with the liberties of the people in the matters of reapportionment than some others who have so far been concerned with this problem, and we therefore have no objections to the introduction of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

MR. HALL IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, and especially those who were absent yesterday, I presume you read the papers this morning. The papers this morning indicated that I and two other Members of this House had threatened the majority party with polling the House if they attempted to do any business.

That is absolutely an untruth. No such thing occurred, and no such threat was made by either of the three mentioned in the papers. In fact, if it were possible without losing any time. I would request that the minutes of yesterday's session be read and the entire Membership would find out that only two Members of this House were recognized: the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader.

I am for a free press. I always have been for a free press, and I hope nothing ever happens to make it otherwise, but I insist that the papers, when they make a statement about somebody tell the truth, because the statement as it appears in this morning's paper is absolutely an untruth.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, September 29, 1951.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 634, Printer's No. 571, "An Act to amend the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 701) entitled 'An act regulating the payment of persons in the employ of the Commonwealth' by providing for pay-days every two weeks."

This bill seeks to amend the Act approved June 1, 1915, P. L. 701 concerning the payment of remuneration of persons in the employ of the Commonwealth. The present law provides that each person in the employ of the Commonwealth receiving an annual salary shall be paid semi-monthly on the first and fifteenth of the month. If such days fall upon Sunday the payment shall be made on the following day. The amendment provides that each person shall be paid every other Friday. If any such Friday is a holiday the payment shall be made on the Thursday before such Friday. The bill further provides that each person employed on an hourly or per diem basis shall be paid on the basis of a two week pay period as determined by the head of the respective department, board or agency.

I have given this legislation my most careful consideration. Inasmuch as I believe that it contains a large element of merit, at the same time when the objections to the legislation are weighed against its attractive features I have reluctantly decided that the bill must be vetoed.

Practically every state employee is a member of the Retirement System. The Retirement System was organized in 1923 and Pennsylvania was one of the leaders in establishing retirement for state employees. Among other things, the law guarantees 4% interest to each employee on his accumulated deductions. As this return cannot be made by investments in the open market the legislature must every biennium appropriate a large amount of money to make up the difference. The Retirement System is set up on a bimonthly pay period and any change would entail a complete readjustment of the administration of the act such as the printing and preparation of new ledger cards, the recomputation of all deductions and the addition of much new equipment and new personnel. The cost would be excessive.

In the Department of the State Treasury it would mean the preparation of new name plates for over fifty thousand employees, in addition to the recomputation of salary checks based on twenty-six pay periods instead of twenty-four and, likewise, the recomputation of the federal withholding tax for each employee.

The Department of the Auditor General has advised that approximately 10% of the man hours now expended on work performed by this department in connection with its pre-audit of Commonwealth payrolls, will have to be added to the present over-all man hour requirements in the event the bill will become law.

Inasmuch as the enactment of this bill would not result in any more income to the employee, it is my belief that a general salary increase would be much more preferable to the average state employee than a change in the present system of payment.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 745

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, September 29, 1951.
To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 745, Printer's No. 851, entitled "An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled 'An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined' by creating the Pennsylvania Library Council prescribing its powers and duties providing for a State librarian and for certification of libraries and librarians and for minimum standards for public library service."

This bill would amend Sections 202 and 1305 and add Section 408.1 by creating the Pennsylvania Library Council and prescribing its powers and duties relative to public library service, certification of libraries and librarians.

The Administrative Codes of 1923, P. L. 498, June 7, and of 1929, P. L. 177, April 9, were enacted to accomplish the purposes therein stated, and abolished the following departments and offices relating to libraries: the State Library, State Librarian, Deputy State Librarian, General Library, Law Library and Library Extension and placed them under the Department of Public Instruction.

This bill is not needed because, under the provisions of the present law, adequate provision is made with regard to those offices and libraries and the obligation assumed under The Administrative Code has been properly and fully discharged.

Moreover, this bill would be a departure from the policy inaugurated by The Administrative Code.

The purpose and intentment of having libraries is purely educational, and jurisdiction thereof should remain and be vested in the head of our schools, which at the present time is the Superintendent of Public Instruction. There is no doubt in my mind that what is desired to be accomplished by this bill may be achieved by administrative cooperation.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 815

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, September 29, 1951.
To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 815, Printer's No. 1008, entitled "An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds' by providing that the Department of Revenue shall furnish one registration plate for every registered vehicle."

This bill would amend The Vehicle Code, Act of May 1, 1929, P. L. 905, by requiring the Department of Revenue to issue one registration plate for each registered vehicle, which would be displayed on the rear thereof.

While the bill would reduce the purchase of basic metals for this purpose fifty per cent, and, thus, effectuate economy, it is the opinion of the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania State Police that the use of only one registration plate should not be continued longer than the current shortage of basic metals necessitates.

Section 3 of Act No. 336, approved August 24, 1951, permits the flexibility which the administrative and enforcement agencies feel is desirable by authorizing the Department of Revenue to determine whether one or two registration plates is the more feasible, in light of the situation existing when they must be manufactured. This bill would not permit that flexibility.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire, with the permission of the House, to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the gentleman will proceed.

Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are regular payment of school subsidies due to the various school districts, or at least same of them, during the month of October?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, they are.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Blair tell us whether financial arrangements have been made to pay the districts their regular usual school subsidies upon the due date?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Cambria, the answer is somewhat an anticipated answer.

I understand on unofficial authority that there is enough money available for the payments in the month of October which will be to the fourth class districts, and they are the ones that receive the appropriations from the state in that month.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would it be possible for the gentleman from Blair to obtain the information that will enable him to tell the House whether the October payments certainly will be made?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I presume that in a few minutes we will be able to answer.

Through my colleagues—not assistants, but colleagues—we have been partially assured.

You know with this gentleman from Cambria you have to be careful what you say; even though you know it you had better not say it. But we are pretty certain that the October payments will be made and the money will be available and is available for those payments, and the Budget Director has so stated that the money is here.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the reason I raised the question is because in a number of fourth class districts teachers have not been paid since July. Of course, there are districts that have not been paid for a longer term than that, but I know in my particular district where they have not been paid since July and they have served notice that if they are not paid by October 15th they are going to walk out, they are going to walk off the job.

I simply want to point out that it is rather bad policy for this House and this General Assembly to walk off the job if there is even the remotest possibility that as a result of our walking off the job, in a considerable number of districts, teachers will feel compelled to do the same thing.

I have recently been informed, wholly unofficially, to quote the gentleman from Blair, wholly unofficially, that doubt has been expressed among some of the Department of Public Instruction Executive personnel that there was a possibility that the October payments might not be met on the due date, and supervising principals in some of the districts had been so informed.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, we have been assured by the Budget Director that the October payments will be made. That is the first thought I think Mr. Andrews is interested in.

Secondly, July 1st through October 31st, in those districts, are the four months for the collection of taxes which will help solve that problem.

Then, possibly the most important of the three is—and I think this should be said here on the floor of the House—if the other Legislative body of this General Assembly had acted upon the appropriation bills that were sent from this House to it, there would be money and plenty of money for all the school districts to operate for the first semester of the 1951-1952 school term.

Again, I reiterate, we have been assured by the Budget Director that the October payments will be made; that is, in the fourth class districts.

Number two, we are right in the heart of the collection of taxes for this coming year.

Number three, the House has done its work relative to school appropriations and others, and those bills lie in the Senate today waiting to be operated upon. When they are, then there will be plenty of money to go ahead with in all the districts within the state, and the revenue bills, of course, are the ones that they must consider. We have done our work relative to the schools and the institutions at large.

THE SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall, for presiding.

RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. HELM offered a report from the Committee on Rules which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, October 2, 1951.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it re-convene on Monday, November 12, 1951, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., E.S.T., unless sooner re-convened at the call of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and when the Senate adjourns this week, it re-convene on Monday, November 12, 1951, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., E.S.T., unless sooner re-convened by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Signed by the House Committee on Rules.

Charles C. Smith, Chairman
Adam T. Bower
Wilson L. Yeakel
W. Stuart Helm
Albert W. Johnson
Herbert P. Sorg

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is the resolution in its present form subject to debate or would it, in order to justify debate, be necessary to offer an amendment?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order to debate the merits of the resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not rise particularly for the purpose of debating the resolution, but I do want to make some remarks concerning it.

I am in hopes that the Majority Leader will join with us in making certain that the vote on this resolution is emphatically a party vote, and to that end the majority party membership in the event they all favor this resolution—and it is a party measure—all Members of the majority be recorded in its favor, and all the members of the minority be recorded against it. We do not believe that this is in line with sound policy. We do not believe that it is a move that will enhance our reputation over the state.

Such contact as we have had with the public leads me to believe that the general public does not understand our situation. You and I know, Mr. Speaker, and all of the Members know that perhaps no great gain would be accomplished if this House actually met week after week in token sessions or with a majority of the Members present, and having no business, adjourn until the following week. Such procedure would center attention upon the facts of our parliamentary situation.

I find that the facts are not understood. I find that back home not only the Members on the majority side of this House are blamed for legislative inaction here in Harrisburg, but that on the minority side we are blamed.

I am asked on the streets at home why I am not down at Harrisburg on the business of the Commonwealth; why I am not down at Harrisburg trying to do something about it; why I am not down there in the trenches. The public will not understand our situation if we gladly and meekly and, I believe blindly surrender to what some may term necessities of the situation, and in an effort to meet the Senate half way, adjourn until November 12th. Meet your Senate half way when it is not going anywhere! How can we meet anybody half-way that is stationary?

How can we buy public sentiment—that is the only weapon that we can use—so arouse public sentiment, and get what should be our objective? A sine die resolution, offer it today or offer it next Monday—six days—and we will make our battle on that basis. I say that instead of dilly-dallying this issue should be defined.

I want to say further, Mr. Speaker, that undoubtedly if this were not an election year the present situation in which we find ourselves would never have occurred. Quite likely this desire to play politics is not confined in any one particular circle. The curse of politics is upon us. It always has been and always will be. Nothing is gained, however, by evasion. The way to overcome opposition is to face it. Here in this case, we lament the fact that we do not today have a calendar; we do have a bicameral Assembly, and we surrender our parliamentary traditions, our ideas of public service because our brothers-in-arms at the other end of the Capitol are not perhaps following a statesmanlike course. We say it is not statesman-like, we lament the fact that a situation exists and then we join it—we become a part of it. We seal the period of inaction with the stamp of approval, instead of standing where we should have stood right from the beginning. Here we are, ready to serve, and we say “all right, we will knuckle in, we will join you.”

So I hope that the Rules of the House will make it possible for all Members of the minority to be recorded against this resolution.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make just a very brief statement. I cannot say that I disagree with the Minority Leader to too great an extent, but I think if he has read our press release that was given to the press yesterday, the first two items will probably have told him the story of the position in which we are placed.

Number one, in the press release was this. Our preference would be to continue meeting until the work of the General Assembly is completed.

Number two, the reason for not meeting is because of the Senate's request for a recess and its program of meeting with merely skeleton forces.

If such a program is not agreed to, the amount of work the House could perform would be negligible, all action being subject to Senate concurrence. It just does not make good sense, Mr. Speaker, to keep coming here with a complete House or with a skeleton force when we have completed our work. We have accepted our responsibilities. If the Senate has not seen fit to accept theirs, that does place us in a very awkward position. Meeting in token sessions is not going to solve that problem. Coming down here with all of your Members and meeting every day is not going to solve that problem.

I hope this will be interpreted the way I mean it. We have accepted our responsibility. The problem now is not ours. The problem belongs on the other side of this House, and that is the Senate. They will have to soon enough, and I hope very soon, recognize that they have a responsibility to provide money and to provide the many things that the people of this state are asking for.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I want to place my okeh upon the remarks of the Minority Leader and on the Majority Leader's statement. But there are 247 Members of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania being shoved around here for the last nine months. Ten Members of the Senate are telling 247 Members of the General Assembly what they can do and what they cannot do.

Both parties—when election comes around—urge the people to vote, to register and participate in the political affairs of our state. Is this not an excuse for the people who are now voting, to discontinue their activities, when the General Assembly will permit ten men—ten Members of the General Assembly—to drag their feet for nine months?

To me this is a joke and I am satisfied that the people of Pennsylvania, as the Minority Leader says, apparently to some extent do not understand. I think the newspapers of Pennsylvania owe the people of Pennsylvania something in this matter and they ought to publish it right on the front page so that the people of Pennsylvania know what is going on in Harrisburg.

I do not think the recess is going to mean any more now than it meant in the past. We have had four recesses as far as I know, and maybe more, and every time we came back we found ourselves in the same position we were in when we left on the recess. The same thing is going to happen this time.

We will come back here on November 12th, provided this resolution prevails, and we will find ourselves just exactly as we are this minute.

There is one point I want to make now and that is I was under the impression that the majority party in the House was going to do what it possibly could do to bring about an adjournment sine die this week, or if we cannot do it this week, we would do it next week.

Without solicitation, I have had Republican Members of this House tell me that they feel just the same as we feel on this side; they are sick and tired of recesses. Whether you have been able to change their minds or not, I do not know, but if you have not changed their minds this resolution I do not think it is going to carry, and that would be the answer to the question before us.

Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, for the record, for the benefit of the Members, I would like to inquire of the Majority Leader, does he have any reason to believe that the Senate is going to go along with this amended resolution?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I have no assurance whatsoever whether they will go along with this resolution or not.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. That is further evidence that we are just sitting here like a bump on a log. That is all we are. We were called some names by a Senator last week—I wonder how wrong he is if we are going to sit around here and stand for that.

While I am still on my feet I want to make a correction. In making a statement before the House last week I referred to the Senate as "those guys." That was an unintentional mistake, Mr. Speaker. I should have said "those Senators." I also used the term "dough." I really meant they were financially okeh to stay as long as they wanted to.

I will vote against this resolution.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman be kind enough to tell me, in the drafting of this resolution by the Rules Committee as I understand, whether or not the Rules Committee of the Senate was taken into consideration in the drafting of this resolution?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we have found that the only way to get action in any way whatsoever is to forget that we have a Senate and force action upon them. They were not taken into consideration.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, sometime ago when the new tax program was formed in this House, I asked practically the same question; whether that tax program had been considered jointly by the House and Senate.

I am sorry that I cannot find it in myself to condemn the Senate of Pennsylvania to the extent that some of my colleagues do. Maybe there are things that I do not know, but they have been successful in defeating the flat income tax in Pennsylvania. To me that is a victory.

We face today another resolution for a recess which the minority has continually opposed. We have been willing to stay here until the work is done. We now have another resolution to recess until November 12th.

The Senate sent us the resolution to recess until December 10th. Now, personally, I would say to the Majority that there is little difference between the dates of November 12th and December 10th. Where are we going? How are you going to get to a stage where we are going to be able to agree on some date? I can just imagine that the Senate, when they receive our resolution, will come out with another date. They will possibly say, "We will pigeon-hole this resolution and we will send another back to the House to recess until November 25th." There is not any logic to this; there is no sense to it.

I realize that the two Houses are two separate bodies, but for heaven's sakes, on matters of policy have we come to the stage of the game where the House says to the Senate, "You will either take what we give you, or you'll take nothing." And the Senate in turn, says to the House, "You either do what we want or there will be nothing done."

Is there any sense? Is there any logic back of all this? Let us be fair. Let us get together. I am sure that if my party were in control in this House and in the Senate, I certainly would insist that we sit down together and thrash out our difficulties.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the gentleman in answer; "Let us be fair."

He knows the position we are in. He knows that this is a bicameral House; nobody can work without the other side of the Assembly. He knows that the Senate cannot do anything without us. He knows that we cannot do anything without the Senate. That is a part of democracy. When it becomes a dictatorship they will tell us what to do or we will tell them. So let us be fair.

We have reached an impasse to a degree. We do not want to do this anymore than he wants us to do it, but at least we have something, and we are offering something. We want to stay here and work and see that they work even though we have no more work to do, but we are offering something in the way of a compromise and we sincerely hope they will accept it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The Speaker, the Majority Floor Leader has just stated that we cannot do anything without the Senate and the Senate cannot do anything without us. If we adjourned, the Senate could not do anything. Well I do not know whether it makes much difference, the Senate is not doing anything anyway.

I think the real thing to do, instead of accepting this resolution and passing over, to take us past the election in November, we should adjourn at the end of this week and go home.

We are not going to do anything in November any more than we are doing right now. The setup is that they want this House to adjourn so that this tax measure will not pass until after the November election, then they will be able to select the delegates to the Republican Convention, which Mr. Fine says the state is not in the position to do at the present time, and would not be in the position to do if we adjourned at this time. I say we should adjourn at the end of this week sine die, and defeat this resolution.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Kolankiewicz and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

Mr. HELM offered a report from the Committee on Rules which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, October 2, 1951.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That this 139th Regular Session of the General Assembly Adjourn Sine-Die on Friday, the thirtieth day of November, 1951, at 6:00 o'clock P. M.

Signed by the Committee on Rules

Adam T. Bower,

Wilson L. Yeakel,
W. Stuart Helm,
Albert M. Johnson,
Herbert P. Sorg.

On the question,
Willt he House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. BOWER.

HOUSE BILL No. 1741.

An Act to apportion the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into Congressional Districts.

Referred to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1577

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, September 29, 1951.
To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1577, Printer's No. 812, entitled "An Act fixing the salary of the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau."

The salary of this position was already increased during this session of the General Assembly. The proper salary adjustment should have been made at that time. A bad precedent would be established to increase this salary for the second time at this session.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Approval of House Bill Nos. 28, 111, 228, 253, 274, 548, 589, 590, 596, 713, 726, 757, 878, 907, 955, 976, 1027, 1068, 1118, 1123 1171, 1185, 1205, 1269, 1270, 1283, 1286, 1309, 1318, 1326, 1335, 1347, 1348, 1351, 1366, 1379, 1431, 1432, 1440, 1445, 1470; 1476, 1480, 1504, 1507, 1513, 1535, 1552, 1554, 1574, 1590, 1599, 1647, 1678, 1720 and 1721.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 188, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 and the fourth paragraph of section 2 of the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 711) entitled

"An act establishing a court for the county of Philadelphia prescribing its jurisdiction and powers providing for the service of its writs process or warrants by the proper officers of the county or city of Philadelphia regulating the procedure therein and appeals therefrom and providing for the expenses thereof" by increasing the number of judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will pass over Senate Bill No. 188, Printer's No. 619.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, in connection with Senate Bill No. 188, Printer's No. 619, on page 5, five legislative days ago I submitted amendments to this bill and the Speaker requested that the amendments be withheld because it was the desire of the House to pass the bill over.

Last week I waited four days for that bill to come up so that I could offer the amendments. Unfortunately I had to leave on Thursday at 4:30 p. m. due to the illness of my wife, and a half hour later the bill was called up and amendments were not offered.

I would like to have unanimous consent of the House to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. Has the gentleman conferred with the Majority leader?

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I submitted the proposition to the Minority leader and he told me that he was taking it up with the Majority leader.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, this bill will be passed over.

RESOLUTION

AMENDED SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION—
TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. SMITH from the Committee on Rules offered an amended Senate Concurrent Resolution which was read as follows:

"In the Senate, September 27, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns next week, it reconvenes on Monday, December 10, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns next week, it reconvene on Monday, December 19, 1951, at four thirty o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time," so as to read as follows:

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, unless sooner reconvened by the president pro tempore of the Senate; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at four thirty o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, unless sooner reconvened by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amended Senate resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to read at some length from the archives. Sometimes voices from the past are pertinent. This is what this particular voice says; and it comes down to us from the session of 1913.

When this House convened in midwinter we gave to the people our very best effort in carrying out the legislation that the people had so forcefully expressed their desire for. Our efforts to have that legislation enacted into law was met by the persistent refusal of the Senate of this Commonwealth. That refusal, while it is of a different temperament, while it is of a different phase, is still the same refusal today and we are now as a Legislature, restless under the long time that we have been here, anxious to go home, but still facing the fact that our duty has not yet been completed and it has not yet been completed because we are being stopped by the Senate. For us now, Mr. Speaker, to have such a report from our Rules Committee go through this House to the Senate for concurrence, merely means that we aid the Senate in its action of delay. It merely means that we are aiding the Senate in bottling legislation that we have spent all these months trying to get through. Why, Mr. Speaker, if we would now carry this resolution to a successful ending, it would merely mean that the good race that we have run now is to end in stretch and that we are to fall down to defeat. Let us continue this race until we have reached our goal. Then let us continue until we carry out our pledges to the people * * * I know that many of you are anxious to get back to your business and to get back to your families and this has certainly been a great, long, tiresome session to you; but Mr. Speaker, to give up the battle is, to my mind, giving ourselves over to those whom we have been opposing. Let us stand out a few more weeks. It is impossible for the Senate to persist in this position they are in now, and carry on their course successfully.

Now, Mr. Speaker, when I say that we should be opposed to this resolution I do not mean that we should go beyond the 26th day of June with this session. I do not believe that this House will be in session as long as that, but the way for us to get an early adjournment is to stick here in this House and complete our work and the important bills that come before us when they come back from the Senate with amendments in, to either concur or non-concur in.

Then it goes to tell about the defiance of the Senate, how it has been insolent, how it has been defiant, how it has been time-delaying.

"Do not let us aid them in their work by fixing a day of adjournment * * * Let us see whether there is real truth in that Senate, that is controlled by the Republican party. Let us stand here on the firing line in this House for a few more days.

The speaker was John R. D. Scott.

The motion for adjournment sine die was offered by George Alter of Pittsburgh.

I commend the voice of the past to your attention and ask you to note that history certainly repeats itself.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly hesitate to stand here and keep reiterating our position. The only reason

I am doing this is to be sure that everyone within the sound of my voice, and I sincerely hope everyone in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, realizes the position of this House.

We have been here for a nine month period. As I have said before, I honestly feel that the Members of this House can go back home and look at the people who have put their trust in them, and the people can say to them that they have done their job well. They have had courage. God knows they have had more courage than a lot of other people. They have passed two complete tax programs. We in this House do not have any pride of authorship in any type, or any kind of program, but we do know that we want the money so that we can meet our obligations.

We do not want to accept this recess, I can assure the gentleman, and I would like to assure the people of this Commonwealth that we do not want to accept this recess, but our hands are tied. We know they are tied. We have done everything in our power, everything humanly possible—even prayer, to get the Senate to complete their work. Why they have not done it I do not know. Some say it is a group of wilful men who are holding them back. I do not care who is holding them back, but I do know they have a job to do and they had better get down to doing it soon.

We have given them the opportunity. It is silly for us to come here as Members of the House. It costs the taxpayers money for us to come here week in and week out, with a job done and nothing left for us to do, nothing for us to work on, and then have the Senate sit over there with a calendar of 56 or 58 pages and not pass ing a bill, either appropriations or tax legislation. How long can we keep this up?

The Speaker made a very good statement today and I think it conveys to the people just how we feel: "You can lead a horse to water, but I want to see the man who can make him drink." We have done that with the Senate. We tried to lead them; we have plead with them; we have led them on and we are still trying to do our best for the people of this Commonwealth to meet our obligations so that we can go home and rest and be sure we have done a decent job. But we are still tied by an impasse created not by us, but by some group or some individuals—I do not know who, but it is an impasse that has been created by the Senate and not the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of prolonging the controversy, but I must note the Majority Leader's statement regarding the other Chamber, that they had better get busy; they have a job to do and they had better get busy and do it.

I respectfully call his attention to the fact that they cannot possibly get busy and do it if you let them go home. The only way you can bring pressure to bear to make them get busy and do it, is to keep them on the job. But if you send them home, I submit to you, Mr. Majority Leader, you cannot tell them at the same time to get busy and do it.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I must confess ignorance in how we are going to keep them here. We have tried to keep them here and they threaten to sit with what they call "a three man desk." A three man desk will not operate and pass bills, nor can they accept any communications from us. We have tried in every possible way to keep them here. We are willing to stay here and work, but unfortunately again, our hands are tied.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON RULES

Mr. HELM from the Committee on Rules reported as committed a resolution from the Senate as follows:

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

In the Senate, September 26, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs) that this regular session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die, December 22, 1951, at 5:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, the resolution States that this House will adjourn on the 22nd day of December.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. We are still Americans ain't we? Those with any experience of the House know that we never, as far as I know, adjourned at the time set. We put a man up there and he turns the clock back and we will be in here on Christmas.

This is the most ridiculous thing I have ever seen confronting a group of men directed by the people to do the business of the state of Pennsylvania.

I am abosolutely opposed to anything like it. This is crazy stuff. Count me against it.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Louis Leonard and Mr. Moran and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

REMOVING PER DIEM EMPLOYES

Mr. BOWER offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, October 2, 1951.

Resolved, That all employes of the House of Representatives, elected by the House of Representatives and now serving, who are paid a per diem compensation, are hereby removed as of the 3rd day of October, 1951.

Adam T. Bower,

Chairman of the Slate Committee.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Members, the business of the day has been completed. Before adjourning, however, it is necessary to receive communications from the Senate.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess for forty-five minutes. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz: That the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Resolution.

Amend Senate Concurrent Resolution, which reads as follows:

In the Senate, September 27, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns next week, it reconvenes on Monday, December 10, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns next week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at four thirty o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard Time," so as to read as follows:

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, unless sooner reconvened by the president pro tempore of the Senate; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, December 10, 1951, at four thirty o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, unless sooner reconvened by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SENATE RECEDES FROM AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY HOUSE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate recedes from its nonconcurrence and concurs in amendments made and insisted upon by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 681 entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 971) entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries and compensation of certain county officers of counties of the eighth class' by increasing the salaries of certain county officers

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 681.

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 971) entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries and compensation of certain county officers of counties of the eighth class' by increasing the salaries of certain county officers

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, In the presence of the House signed the same.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, December 10, 1951 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 8:50 p. m.) the House adjourned.
